Dear Mother,

I promised to write at every opportunity and I have time now to write but few lines. We arrived here safely last evening and the citizens furnished us with a good supper and a bed to sleep in. We are all well and in good spirits this morning. Where we shall go today I do not know as it is early and we have no news yet.

Dear Mother:

I have promised to write at every opportunity and I have time now to write but few lines.

We arrived here safely last evening and the citizens furnished us with a good supper and a hall to sleep in and we are all well and in good spirits this morning. Where we shall go to-day I do not know as it is early and we have no news yet from headquarters.

I must close for the present. You may hope to hear from me soon but of course we don't know how soon or where. To you all.

Your affectionate son and brother,

Thomas.
