In the past each Eastern Washington Homecoming has been aimed to be more outstanding than the year before. This is undoubtedly true, for Eastern has been continually progressing to greater heights. Every day our college is gaining more and more recognition in the educational field. The year 1949 looks very promising for Eastern, with the largest enrollment in the history of our school, the start of our new building construction program, and an administration and student body spirit that is necessary to promote a more extensive social and educational schedule. With these unlimited possibilities, there seems to be no goal too high for us to attain. We, the Homecoming Committee, welcome you Alumni back to Savageville for the “49ers” Homecoming with the hope of matching this progress of our college with an equally outstanding Homecoming program.

Homecoming is one of the high spots of the college year. It makes a definitely valuable contribution to the growth of Eastern. The extensive planning and careful work in carrying out these plans are a valuable part of the experiences gained by students at Eastern. These various projects call forth many times talents which have not been uncovered and might not be uncovered by other phases of the year's program.

The spirit of returning alumni and former students and the recognition that there is continuity to Eastern both add to the campus atmosphere.

We hope that Homecoming will be similarly valuable to the alumni, that you will catch something of the spirit of this year's campus and student body, that you will be thrilled with the growth of Eastern and with our accomplishments, that you will be a better Easterner because of your having participated in Homecoming.

The Committee has selected a good theme for this Homecoming. Forty-niners of a century ago wrote their names in the history of America. Let us hope that the spirit of today's Forty-niners as it is exemplified throughout the Homecoming program will make an equally valuable contribution to this nation in the days that are ahead.

I am sure that I speak for the entire campus when I extend this cordial welcome to you on your return.

Friends Mourn
George E. Craig Death

Faculty, alumni and friends throughout the state were saddened by the passing of George E. Craig, 80, veteran educator and former placement director at EWC who died July 7 in the Deaconess hospital, Spokane, following a week's critical illness.

"In Institutions may be found the lengthening shadows of many men." This is the way in which I would like to re-phrase Emerson's statement for the immediate purpose of this column. The shadows of some men are clearly visible. The shadows of others provide only minor parts in the pattern of shadows cast by an institution. In some institutions the shadows of a single person dominate the institutional pattern years after his visible person has disappeared from the picture.

The death of one of Eastern's great sons and leaders has brought the above into the focus of my conscious thinking during the past several days. George Craig's shadow has been prominent in the institutional shadow that Eastern has cast in this state and in the development of professional education of the nation. That shadow will not dim with his passing. It will continue to occupy a notable place in the future of Eastern.

Our tribute to George Craig will be most appropriate if it embodies a determination to incorporate his distinctive qualities into our own living and into the personality of the youth who continue to pass through Eastern on the way to better living and better serving.

—Walter W. Isle.

A Greeting from Your Alumni President

Welcome to the twenty-third annual Homecoming celebration at Eastern. As the years slip by, the re-association of old and new friends that we make on the campus each Homecoming assures us of the continued success and important steps of advancements made by our Alma Mater.

All of the activities of Homecoming have been geared to the biggest and best weekend that you have ever experienced.

Be sure to keep this red letter date in mind. We will be seeing you in Cheney, October 28th.

Sincerely,
Leonard M. West
Alumni President

Welcome Alumni

Welcome Alumni! We are happy to have you with us Homecoming. Your presence and interest means much. With the support of the Alumni, Eastern Washington College of Education will continue to advance in education and service.

Arthur C. Woodward
Of much concern to all Easterners was the recent passing of Mr. George Craig, long time faculty member of Eastern and one of the most popular figures in Alumni circles. He will ever be remembered for his many contributions and services to his Alma Mater. A clipping received from Menlo Park, California, informed the Alumni Office of the passing of Mr. Lowry Howard, class of '13. At the time of his passing, Mr. Howard was president emeritus of Menlo Junior College, Another loyal Easterner, Harold Rude, succumbed to illness this summer. Harold had been Junior High principal at Highline and was slated to move up to the High School principal's job this fall.

Had the pleasure of spending a day with two of Eastern's most enthusiastic Alum when Darrell and Catherine Peterson came to the Inland Empire for a vacation. Darrell is still with Scott, Foresman Publishing Company (no advertising) in San Francisco. They reside in Berkeley. Catherine has just spent a session on the Alumni Executive Board, and the entire association is grateful for her time and effort.

In recent correspondence from Mrs. R. W. Tompkins, who referred to the Alumni Secretary as Miss Windy West, we learned that Bev Tompkins, '44 was married April 3 last to Bob Gregg of Spokane. Margaret Twining, '43, was Bev's maid of honor.

To show that the Review really gets around, a letter dropped into the Alumni office from Columbus, Ohio. It was from Mary Mills Wegner, '36, and she informs us that her husband is attending Ohio State, working for his Ph. D. in Chemical Engineering. Mary keeps busy running their grocery store and looking after the two daughters, Miss Viola Cassidy, now Dr. Cassidy, former Education instructor at Eastern, recently joined the Ohio State staff.

This column's Orchid of the year goes to one of our new Executive Board members, Mrs. Ella Poffenroth of Omak. In addition to her teaching duties, Ella is a member of the Curriculum Committee of the Omak schools, State Necrology Chairman of Delta Kappa Gamma, member of the Planning Committee of the Omak school forum, Chairman of the Board of Awards for the Omak Campfire Girls, Chairman of the committee on mapping and renaming streets in Omak, and Chairman of the 1949 March of Dimes Campaign. For these many and varied duties Ella was named Omak's "Woman of Achievement" for 1948-49. A case of another Easterner's taking her place as an Outstanding Community Leader. Congratulations, Ella.

Scenes about the campus during summer school—Dickson Taylor, '47, down from Alaska, shaved and married. He is anxious to hear from any Easterners. His address is Petersburg.—Bill Pond, former coach and P. E. instructor at Cheney High School, who paid Savageville a visit in conjunction with an appearance on the Parent Teacher Program. Bill is currently residing in Renton, where he is doing a bang-up job in Community Recreation.—When Cece West joined the Savage coaching staff, it reunited two of Red Reese's outstanding football players and two great team mates.

Cece and Abe Poffenroth wrote turf history on Woodward Field from 1936 through 1940.—Harris Taylor, former Savage grid great and recent coach at Cashmere High, was back at summer school working on his Master's. He liked it so well he accepted a fellowship and will remain for the balance of the year. The charming Mrs. Taylor (Fran Boyer) was a student this summer, but has retired to housewife chores now.—One of the outstanding groups on Eastern's campus, "The Jolly Boys," were much in evidence all summer. Composed of present and former Scarlet Arrow members, the group pledged an annual athletic scholarship. . .

Adrian Beamer, '47, coaching now at Central Kitsap High in Silverdale, former Scarlet Arrow Award winner, reports an active group of loyal Savage supporters in that area.

Saw a good deal of Bob Farnsworth, former Savage grid great of some years back, while spending a few days in Great Falls, Montana. Bob is superintendent of schools in the Montana town and is anxious to coax some Easterners over that way. Joining his staff this year was Nadine Whitefield, '49. During this same stay had the pleasure of watching the Annual Montana East-West Shrine Football Game, composed of last year's seniors. The East coached by Savage mentors Abe Poffenroth and Cece West, were victorious 12 to 6.

Carl Busch and Wilbur Neutzman, co-chairmen of the Seattle Alumni Chapter, are currently planning another fine get-together in the Coast Town. Dr. Isle will again address the group and Mrs. Louise Anderson will be an honored guest.

More Orchids for more Easterners: To Mrs. Hazel Laughbon, for her appointment to the College Board of Regents. The Association can justly be proud.—To Earnest Fox, '40, elected to the superintendency at Okanogan High School. Ernie is moving along very rapidly. A vote of thanks from all Alumni to Mr. James McGovern, Spokane, and Mrs. Leslie Barber, Colfax for the fine cooperation they gave us during their term on the Board of Regents.

Scoreboard Flag Is Dedicated At Game

Eastern's newly installed scoreboard was dedicated at the Montana State-Eastern football game last September 24. The board was given to the student body by the ASB council.

Summer and Fall Marriages

Betty Jean Brandon to Arthur Bruce Capps in Grand Coulee, Wash.
Lois Jane Getz to Delbert F. Muse in Spokane. Mr. and Mrs. Muse are attending E.W.C.
Ruth Elaine Rozell to Vance Clark Frazier in Cheney.
Mary Bech to Charles Hahn, Jr. in Spokane.
Gaya Sapp to James A. MacDonald in Spokane. Both former E.W.C. students.
Marjorie Ann Mewes to Eugene M. Hansen in Spokane. Mr. Hansen is attending E.W.C.
Norma Lindh to Kenneth P. Burnett, Jr. in Spokane. Mr. Burnett is a former E.W.C. student.
Kathryn Jane Carroll to Harold Conley in Colfax, Wash. Both are now attending E.W.C.
Robert Jean Reed to Gerald Jones in Spokane, Washington.
Patti Pennell to Vernon Risley in Chelan, Wash. Both attended E.W.C.
Rose Marie Hunt to Donald H. Allgaier in Spokane. Mr. and Mrs. Allgaier are attending E.W.C.
Nadine Richter to Arnold P. Johnson in Davenport.
Myrleen Finstad to Ernest McKinnon in Yakima.
Jean Manke to Cornell Mullin in Missoula, Montana. Bride is a graduate of E.W.C.
Lucille Tollefson to Theodore Knutsen, October 8 in Cheney. They reside in Seattle. Both former E.W.C. students.
Theodore T. Bethard to Rowena Lee Brown in Cheney.
Jean Crawford to James J. Odell in Cheney. The Odells are teaching in Pateros.

Don Williams, ASB presy, gave the presentation speech and the scoreboard was dedicated by Dr. Walter W. Isle.

Following the scoreboard dedication, James Ryan, commander of the Cheney American Legion post, presented a new American flag to the student body. He gave the flag in honor of all the graduates of Eastern who lost their lives in World War II.
Radioactivity

By FLOYD L. CLARK
(Member Radio Workshop)

From Juneau, Alaska, to San Francisco, California, have gone members of the EWC Radio Workshop during the past year, telling people about the fabulous educational plant of EWCE. (Modestly, they claim this is one of the many reasons enrollment of '49-'50 has surpassed the previous record and soared to new and glorious heights.)

But Radio Workshop students, as enrollments indicate, as we go to press, are doing more than just travel around the country talking about EWC. KEWC (Radio Workshop) members when at home are also scheduling "prescribed coffee hours" and "script teas" regularly each month at Senior hall.

All this is being done, of course, under the banner of that "radioactive" honorary society, "Scribes of the Fifth Estate."

Motivated by interest in the future of both EWC and radio, these "scribes" are working together to promote opportunities for using radio in both classroom, as well as over commercial stations.

A big step in that direction will be taken sometime next year when a radio studio and control room will begin operation on the campus. The services of a former workshop student, Don Buckner, will be of great technical and operating assistance.

As planned, the studio will eventually be connected by speakers with all dormitory lounges, dining halls, the infirmary, social room, auditorium, Hargreaves library, Music Annex and the new music building.

Beginning its third year this fall, the EWC Workshop has branched out to tackle still another field in radio.

Members of the radio announcing class are handling the public address system at all football games, as arranged for by Dr. Graham W. Dresser. Spotters are being used by the class to give experience in both aspects of football announcing.

Special emphasis will be laid upon the Homecoming game this year by announcers, with the addition of a new course by the college foreign language department. It is designed to train announcers in the use of words of foreign origin.

Another new radio course, the use of radio in the classroom, is slated for its debut spring term.

Workshop Highlights

It was over KNEW on December 16, 1947, that the newly formed Radio Workshop broadcast its first program. Continuity, written by Daryl Maxwell, featured the EWC Male Quartette and allowed spot announcements of campus activities.

The radio audience response was terrific! Hooper couldn’t roll his hoop fast enough to keep up.

KNEW, under Director Paul Crain and Continuity Chief Budd Bankson, promptly arranged for a college broadcast of one half hour each alternate week.

"Twilight Hour," as the program was called, was written by Radio Workshop students and featured faculty and student guest artists. Faculty guests that year included Robert Trotter, Melvin Baddin, and Mrs. Jean Stevens.

T. Stewart Smith wrote the theme song arrangement for the program, and Radio Chorus, under the direction of Miss Opal Walker, was born to go on the air its first breath.

KSEM, the Moses Lake radio station, fell under the spell of the Workshop and 20 scripts were furnished, featuring Mrs. Ann Breerton, Pianist, in her special program "Moods for Melody." This was in the spring of 1948.

The next spring Don Bennet, KSEM manager, sent an invitation to several of the Workshop boys to announce the county high school basketball tournament, which they accepted. Everyone seemed pleased with their performance. Bob Lotzenhiser, Jack Stimpson and Dick White went.

Last year's Homecoming picture script was written by the Workshop members and announced at convocation by Gregg Miller, Joan Kelly, and Stan Witter.

And the Workshop educational program, written by Daryl Maxwell and directed by Don Buckner, featured the EWC Radio Chorus, under the direction of Miss Opal Walker, in another well-received convocation.

Representing EWC and the Radio Workshop at the Western Radio conference in San Francisco last spring were James Seelig, Don Buckner and Ernie Afaganis, Workshop members.

Taking along a tape recorder and tapes, the boys received considerable attention at the convention because they were the only delegates prepared to record the highlights of the conference to take them back for other students to hear.

A great debt is owed to these Spokane radio station officials who gave their time and effort to talk to Workshop classes:

KXLY, Bryan Woolston, George McGowan, John Funk, Martie Koschmann, Warren Durham; KNEW, Budd Bankson, Fred Stanton; KFIO, Rex King; KHQ, Clarence Talbot.

When Lowell Thomas, world famous newscaster, visited the KXLY studio in March 1949, the Workshop received a special invitation to meet him.

Among the ranks of EWC Workshop celebrities are the following students who have held paid jobs with commercial stations:

Marjorie Rannard, CJOE, Lethbridge, Canada; Keith Tranter, KFIO; Bob Dwinell, KFIO; Tal Tripp, KHQ. John Young, newly enrolled, has been member of Bob Hope show the past summer in California.

Tal Tripp of the KHQ staff taught a news writing course in the Workshop last spring while attending other classes at EWC.

“All in all,” to quote Miss Daphne Dodds, instructor in Radio Workshop development—“KEWC is off to a good start.”
Dear Fellow Alumnus:

Just another note to let you know that your local chapters of the Alumni Association throughout the state are organized and “Windy” West, our Alumni Secretary, will be calling on all who are district chairmen to find out how he can be of the greatest help to them and to all of you. If you have some good ideas which you would like us to follow up, will you tell “Windy” when he comes to your town? Or tell the chairman of your area and ask him to pass the word along to the chieftain of our Savageville Alumni.

Remember, too, all loyal Alumni, that we are still very willing to accept your annual dues, and if you wish to become a Life Member of our Association, we shall be happy to welcome you to the inner circle of our powwow. Your membership can do us both much good.

Remember that we will be expecting to see all of you at Homecoming this fall.

Tommy Hawk.

Fall Fair Highlights

Opening College Elementary School

—CAROL ZAFFORNI—

The opening of the College Elementary School for the year of 1949 was highlighted by the Fall Fair, held in the College Elementary School, Wednesday, September 14th. The affair was an all-school project at which individual summer activity projects were displayed.

Early last spring, plans were laid through informative letters to parents explaining the 14 or 15 possible areas in which children might enjoy working individually during the summer months. Parents were asked to indicate the child’s preference if he desired to participate. The activities gave opportunities for activity in the summer and close work between the home and school. Approximately 425 exhibits filled the gymnasium. The animal and pet division offered a wide variety of exhibits including rabbits, hamsters, turkeys, ducks and many species of dogs and cats.

Nearly 32 feet of table space was devoted to collection exhibits such as match folders, napkins, rocks, and collections from foreign countries. The cooking and canning area was both colorful and appetizing! Displays of home canning and samples of cake, cookies, and candy were numerous. Also colorful was the display of home grown vegetables including potatoes, squash, cucumbers, tomatoes, etc. Home grown flowers were also attractively displayed. Nearby was another home-project display—that of sewing, handiwork, or dish towels and doll clothes was most evident.

The 190 parents who attended displayed keen interest and enthusiasm. Some of the exhibits were taken by the children up to a table at the Southwest Spokane County Fair held in Cheney, September 16 and 17. Plans are progressing to make this fine community-school affair an annual event.

Top Enrollment

By CAROL MONTAGNO

This fall’s registration of upper classmen was like the calm before the storm. Sectioneers clung to remaining hours of vacation, as they knit, drank cokes, twiddled thumbs, and signed a few cards. Thursday morning the attack began, as hordes of bewildered freshmen queued up and serpentined across the social room. Making the charge of the Light Brigade look pale, the faculty gathered forces and smoothly effected the freshman retreat.

Present registration data reveal Eastern’s record enrollment, 1487 students. The 1500 mark will be reached as soon as conscience catches up with those who have not yet paid their fees. Another record was set last summer when 1048 people registered for summer school.

Are You a Tawanka?

Please reserve (_______) place for me at the annual Tawanka-I. K. buffet luncheon. It is to be held in the old social room between 11:30 and 1:00 p.m. Please return not later than October 22.

"The first unit of the new music building has been a valuable addition to our music facilities and we hope that construction of the second unit may be started within the next year or two," said William Lloyd Rowles, head of the division of music.

Since its opening in December, 1948, the first unit has been used mainly for band and orchestra activities and instruction on wind and string instruments. The one-story building, of the most advanced scientific design and construction, houses a large band room, uniform cabinets, instrument locker rooms, library, office, three studios, two ensemble and class rooms, and twelve practice rooms, all on the ground floor.

Plans for the completed building call for a central auditorium and a large wing, similar to the instrumental unit, to include classrooms, voice and piano studios, office, library, practice and listening rooms, and choir rooms.

Eastern's Music Department is keeping pace with the rapid growth of the college. It has spread its influence into the Cheney community and beyond. 28 members of the Spokane Philharmonic are students and faculty of Eastern.

Helen Walker, a new student from Seattle, is the principal bassoonist with the Orchestra.

Cheney Community Concert, a newly organized program, is sponsored by the College and local groups. Allowance has been made for approximately 600 students and 280 other members. Exceptional talent has been procured for the series.

Jim Lord's Point of View

At the time of this writing, Eastern's grid Savages have chalked up impressive wins over Montana State College and Western Washington College. Coach Abe Poffenroth's Raiders took MSC into camp 29 to 6 and edged past a tough WWC eleven 13-6.

Playing on the Coast October 8 against the College of Puget Sound Loggers in what may well decide the final "Little Pacific Coast Conference" standings, the Savages are preparing for their 23rd annual Homecoming game against Central Washington College's Wildcats October 29.

It was the Loggers from CPS who added the crushing blow to a dreary Homecoming day last year by blanking the Savages 22-6, and the Big Reds are in no mood to let this happen again. Twenty-three lettermen from last year's co-championship crew will see action against Shorty Luft's potent Wildcats from Ellensburg. Also this year's homecoming will be the final Prodigal son day for 14 Cheney seniors, who will be going all out to finish their Homecomings in a blaze of glory.

That loss to the Loggers last October 30 was the only encounter Eastern dropped during all of 1948 and their first Homecoming setback since 1942.

The Savages weren't the only ones to have their Homecomings spoiled in '48. In fact, Poffenroth and Company wrecked Central's by belting the Cats 21-6 after having sent huge crowds at Western and Pacific Lutheran home unhappy earlier in the year.

The Wildcats will be out for revenge. No other team but EWC could score more than one touchdown on Central last year, and their 1949 squad boast 19 emblem winners who are ready to renew the battle.

After looking through our Eastern Washington Journals we find these were the scores of every Homecoming game since the first was initiated in 1924.
Homecoming

By Jim

Just how good the 1945 EWC is hard to say, but statistics give a preview that looks promising.

In two games, Poffenroth has racked up well earned victories: Montana State Bobcat 29-6 and Montana eleven 13-6.

Statistically speaking, Eastern College line in the Northwest games EWC’s seven blocks opponents to 64 yards on per game average.

When the Savages whack the Raiders this fall, the Savages’ toughest pigskin schedules. With head mentor Pat Rosbach, along with trainer M. White’s helm should produce a winner. This year’s eleven is expected to be up near the top for the Game.

Former Staff Members Visit

Dr. Russell Roberts, former head of the English Department and now on the staff of the University of Washington, was a campus visitor this summer.

J. O. Oliphant, professor of history at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania was a summer visitor to Eastern Washington College.

Mr. George Barr, who was formerly of the music department at Eastern and in charge of band and instrumental music, was a campus visitor this summer. Mr. Barr is now in charge of music in the schools of Sacramento, California.

Mrs. Walter Powell, former art instructor at Eastern, has driven from her home in Dallas, Texas, for an extended visit in Cheney and the Northwest.

Mrs. Cora Mae Chestnut, instructor in rhythms, visited the Eastern Washington College of Education campus during summer school. Mrs. Chestnut is on two year's leave while studying for her master's degree at Columbia University. She plans to return to EWC in September, 1950, according to school officials.

Dr. Kirk Dahlstrom and wife, (former Vivian Robbie) were campus visitors during the summer. They had with them their two young sons. Dr. Dahlstrom was a member of the department of physical sciences while here.

Estelle Tiffany with her daughter Leslie visited the campus this summer and this fall. Mrs. Tiffany was former secretary to the President and worked in the physiological clinic.

Board Accepts Resignations

“The following resignations were accepted by the Board of Regents when they met on July 8,” Dr. Walter Isle announced today.

Dr. Viola Cassidy, assistant professor of education, has resigned to accept a position at Ohio State University.

Dan Stavely, assistant football and baseball coach, has accepted a position as head freshman coach at Washington State College.

Dr. Howard Payne, assistant professor of history, has been elected to the faculty of Washington State College.

Mrs. Estelle Hunt, instructor in home economics, is leaving to join her husband on the coast.

Miss Goldie Taylor, instructor in secretarial science, is entering the field of business.

Miss Lulu Stevenson, instructor of piano in the elementary school, is not returning from her year's leave of absence.

Mrs. Louise Cash, instructor in the elementary school, has resigned to join her husband in Oroville.

Miss Ethel Jack has resigned her post as director of dining halls effective September, 1949.
E.W. Foreign Students Largest In College's History

By NADINE ZORNES (From the Journal)

Eastern has the largest foreign enrollment this year that it has ever had. Doesn't that make you wonder how students from Prague and Bangkok ever found their way to Cheney?

While hunting for answers to that question, I found people so charming that it didn't matter how they got here.

Kari Hidle, an enthusiastic young school teacher from Stavanger, Norway, gave one of the least academic answers to why she came to Eastern. Kari came to America to visit her cousin, former Congressman Knute Hill of Ephrata.

She came to Eastern's summer school to "have fun" and liked it so well she decided to stay. She applied for, and was rewarded with a year's scholarship.

Most of the students came with a definite purpose in mind. Nearly everyone on campus is acquainted with likeable Sai Bhamuratna, who came to Eastern from Bangkok, Siam. Sai, head of a government boys' school in Siam, is studying school administration.

Two Japanese also came for a worthwhile reason. Kakuichi Suzuki and Yoshio Katayama are here under government plan for educating Japanese teachers in United States democracy. Both are former college teachers and are pledged to continue teaching in Japan.

Roy Strize, who came to the United States eight months ago is enthusiastic about Cheney. He finished high school in Yugoslavia and came to America to see his father in St. Louis. Later he decided to visit his uncle in Spokane and chose to come to Cheney. "Like Cheney. It is my town," he says.

From Czechoslovakia comes Josef Mestenhauser who found Cheney through the World Student Service scholarship plan. He formerly attended the University of Prague. In winter quarter Josef plans to teach a skiing class.

Three Chinese, Richard Ng Kwok Sun, Shieh Jui-Chang and Vincent Siow are on campus at present. A fourth, Fung Mung Chung, who will re-enter in January, attended summer quarter. He is now in a Spokane hospital where he is taking treatments to correct a condition of his leg caused by polio. He and the others are transfers from Lingman university in Canton.

Also re-entering this quarter is Arthur Massaquoi of Monrovia, Liberia. Massaquoi attended Cheney fall and summer quarters this last year.

"You Can't Take It With You" Fall All-School Play

Because of the record breaking try-outs of thirty-two eager and talented students, E.W.C.E. has been able to select for its fall vehicle that delightful and celebrated American comedy brimming with wit and homey philosophy, "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. It is to be presented November 15 and 16 (Tuesday and Wednesday) in the Showalter Auditorium. Mrs. T. Stewart Smith is in charge of dramatics this year during the absence of Harold Stevens.

Home Economics Convention

LOUISE ANDERSON

The keynotes of the fortieth annual meeting of the American Home Economics Association held in San Francisco, California June 28th to July 1st, 1949 was: "Advancing the Frontiers of Home Economics."

The most inspiring experience that came my way during my vacation was the privilege of attending this meeting.

The various parts of the program fitted well into the convention's theme: "Advancing the Frontiers of Home Economics."

The association's president, Dr. Marie Dye (Michigan State College, East Lansing) stressed the need for many more trained home economists to meet professional demands for strengthened training, and for contribution to world peace by "promoting better family living in all countries."

Visitors from other lands added interest to the convention. At the International Luncheon, Mrs. Rajammal P. Devadas of India, presented Dr. Dye with a small brass lamp, a Hindu symbol of the home, corresponding to the Betty Lamp, as used by home economists of America.

There were about thirty foreign members present. Anny Van't Veer of Det Vrije Volk in Amsterdam, the Netherlands, came from the farthest distance.

And best of all were eleven EWCE alumnae present who had interpreted our college to other states and other nations.

The Fiesta de Ore, planned by the local committee, found AHEA in a holiday mood at Diablo Country Club. In an outdoor setting, a group of foreigners in their special costumes gave dance and songs while the diners made merry.

Beautifully costumed girls from the State of Washington distributed cherries from their baskets to the guests. This made a wonderful impression on the visitors from many lands.

New Books by Our Faculty

Cecil Dryden's book "Up the Columbia for Furs" was recently published. Miss Dryden is also the author of "Indian Oasis." Her latest book is designed as supplementary reading for Junior High and High School.

Notice of publication of her fourth book has been received by Miss Mary G. Swerer, director of art. The 320 page volume entitled "A Development Program for the Elementary School," is a college text book which can be used in the classroom. It is written for the development of thinking at whatever age the child may be.

A half page map of the Inland Empire showing rail, highway and air transportation routes is included in Essentials of Geography, latest college text book of the geography series published by McGraw-Hill, copies of which reached Cheney recently. Authors are Dr. Otis Freeman, head of the EWC department of physical sciences and Dr. H. F. Raup, professor of geography and geology, Kent State University, formerly of Eastern.

Alfred W. Phillips, math. instructor, has had his latest book on soil conservation published. It has been accepted as a text by several colleges, including Berea College and Tuskegee Institute.

Grades Are Assisting

In 1948 the Board of Trustees authorized the setting up of five $800 graduate assistantships and two $400 graduate scholarships. The Graduate Council then outlined the requirements for the assistantships. Essentially, these requirements include a high academic record and at least one year's successful teaching experience. The candidate must present evidence of superior work as a teacher.

This year there are in the College, three graduate assistants. Mrs. Parilla J. Farnam is working in the campus elementary school. She comes from Lewiston, Idaho, and did her graduate and undergraduate work at Eastern Washington College, the University of Idaho, and the North Idaho College of Education, Lewiston. Mrs. Farnam has been a teacher and county superintendent of schools.

Gordon Nelson is working in the Personal Department. He secured his bachelor's degree in 1948 and last year taught in the elementary school at Sequim. Mr. Nelson's major interest is guidance and counseling and he is at present associated with Dr. Elden Bond of the Spokane Guidance and Counseling Center.

Harris Taylor is also an E.W.C.E. graduate. He completed some graduate studies at Texas Tech and Washington State College. For approximately five years he has served as coach and teacher of social studies at Cashmere. Mr. Taylor is working in the Education Department and at the present time is teaching a course in Introduction to Education.

New Service at Eastern

JEAN JONES, Director

September 19 was the opening day of a third year for the E.W.C.E. Child Care Center. Nineteen children attend regularly and are supervised by Mrs. Jean Jones, Mrs. Barbara Eddy and Mrs. Gloria Taylor, who are all wives of veteran students. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Eddy also attend college part time.

The Center opens at 8 a.m. and closes at 4 p.m. five days a week. The children's routine is very light; a rest period of one hour each morning and afternoon, preceded by a glass of juice and a cracker.

Each child has his own locker in which to keep his coat and also cot or crib provided by the Center for his rest periods.

Second to hearing stories the children like best to play on the large screened porch. The Center's tricycle is the favorite individual toy, with the hollow blocks a close second in popularity.

The average adjustment period of a new child is a week, during which time he learns how to share, take turns and to play with many other children.

Letters From Alums

Ritzville, Washington, October 4, 1949

Mrs. Zelma Morrison
Cheney, Washington

Hello! Zelma. How are you anyway?

In reply to the enclosed card, I will give you a brief summary of my wanderings since leaving old Cheney Normal. I graduated from the Elementary Department in 1903, taught at Wenatchee, as principal of the grade school, the old Stevens building in 1903-1904. 1904-1905 principal at Odessa and that fall took over a cattle ranch on Crab Creek, Washington. 1907 left the cattle business and moved to a wheat ranch near Ritzville, Washington. Continued wheat farming until 1919, when I moved to the town of Ritzville and in 1921 was one of the original organizers and charter members of the Ritzville State Bank where I am still Cashier and Vice President.

I have two daughters, Doris Chargois Hahn and Mildred Chargois Tanner, both of whom were students at the old Normal, taught several years in Seattle but are now on farms, Doris being in Ellensburg, Washington and Mildred on the home farm in Ritzville, Washington.

My wife, now deceased, Alice Dorman Chargois, was also a student at Cheney when I attended, and taught in both Lincoln and Adams County.

If this is of any value to you, use it as you see fit. Hope to see you October 29th.

Sincerely yours,

V. A. CHARGOIS

Harrington, Washington, October 4, 1949

Alumni Secretary
Cheney, Washington

You ask what I am doing. I answer: The same thing I've been doing for 68 years, working like a Trojan at printing, writing, soliciting, collecting the wherewithal to keep the wolf from the door and to keep this old machine of flesh and blood in good running order. Will be 80 "snows" the 27th of this month, Providence permitting my existence that much longer. If not snowed under by the demands of those who never order printing until the last sheet is used, and then want the printer to give to them yesterday, I'll be there Saturday the 29th.

Fraternally, but hastily,

H. S. BASSETT

Faculty on Yearly Leaves

Arne Randall is in Washington, D.C. working for the United States Office of Higher Education in the elementary school division. Mrs. Randall accompanied her husband to Washington, D.C.

Bob Rogers is working on a project dealing with atomic science at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. Mrs. Rogers is at home in Knoxville with her husband.

Harold Stevens is taking advanced work at the University of Denver. He and Mrs. Stevens, who is with him, will probably return with a "brand new Stevens" in the Spring.
"We hope to make Eastern the ‘show place’ of the state," said Harold McMiller, supervisor of the grounds department.

The trees on the grounds provide a perfect setting for a beautiful campus. Plans have been laid and work started on the athletic area. Trees have been planted, flower beds are ready to be set, and the walk and steps from the music building to the field house have been completed. A 1300 foot slope in the area will be completely landscaped in the near future.

Work around the new music building has prepared it for seeding and further development.

In growing with the college, the grounds department has recently purchased a hydraulic shovel attachment for their Ford tractor and three Worthington mowers also to be used with the tractor.

"This new equipment," said McMiller, "will save hours of labor."

Campus Loop Completed

The street in front of the new music building was recently widened and paved, thus completing the Eastern campus loop. This drive will aid visitors in securing a better view of our campus.

Playground Work Begun

Mr. McMiller reported that work has begun on the landscaping and grading of a new playground. A four-acre area will be seeded later to add to the improvement.

The new area will provide for separate playgrounds for large and small children. Separate ballfields and equipment are outstanding features, along with the small garden section for nature study.

Next spring the new playground will be opened.

County Workshop at Eastern

Presenting a challenging address to some 400 teachers, J. Murray Lee opened the first annual all county workshop held at the College Elementary School, August 29th and 30th. Sponsored jointly by Washington State College, Eastern Washington College of Education, and the County Superintendent’s Office the workshop was completely voluntary and on an experimental basis. Among the group attending, nearly three-fourths were grads of EWCE. All of the County teachers were approached by mail and asked to indicate a choice of two areas in which they wished to work for the two days. Several of the Staff members acted as consultants to the group. Among them were:

- Miss Jane Patterson, creative rhythms
- Miss Eveus Newland, social studies
- Mr. Joe Zafforoni, science
- Miss Mabel Pearson, arithmetic
- Mr. Joe Zafforoni, science
- Mrs. Celia Allen, remedial reading
- Mr. Clark Frasier, evaluation and coordination
- Miss Cullen, instructional aids

In addition to the sectional meetings, there were many new audio visual materials on display. During the concluding meeting, at which J. Murray Lee again presided, a high professional spirit was exhibited by those attending; and all were in agreement that the workshop had been most worthwhile. Already some were planning and indicating fields of interest for another successful workshop next year.

Staff Changes at College Elementary School

The staff of the College Elementary School regrets that Miss Florrie Wilson was forced to take a leave of absence for the school year 1949-50, due to illness in her family. In her place the staff welcomes Mrs. Leah Macchia as Fifth Grade Supervisor. Mrs. Macchia received her M.A. from the University of Idaho, and has done graduate work at Stanford, at the University of Utah, and at the University of California.

Songs of Eastern

Savages

Savages, Savages, brawny men of steel,
Fight on for our fame.
Savages, Savages, with undaunted zeal,
Glorify our name, Rah, Rah, Rah!
Savages, Savages, brawny men of might
Conquer for Red and White;
Go forth to win for Eastern Washington
With a lusty fight, team, fight.
(Yell) Savages----Savages----fight, team, fight. (Repeat)
Whistle---Boom.

Our Alma Mater

With hearts warm and glowing we pledge
our loyalty;
With sincere devotions we bring our love
to thee.
Thy sons and daughters pay homage to
thy fair name;
All glory, honor, praise to thee
Our Alma Mater Eastern Washington

With Spirit unceasing we come a joyful throng;
With hope ever springing we raise our voice in song.
Thy sons and daughters pay homage to
thy fair name;
All glory, honor, praise to thee

Hail, Eastern Washington

Hail, Eastern Washington,
Long may you stand;
High on your hilltop
Looking o' er the land.
Hail, Alma Mater,
Loyal and grand,
To thee forever
We pledge both heart and hand

Hail to those colors
Waving on high;
With voice triumphant
Shout the vict'ry cry.
Cheer for her cohorts
As they go by;
Cheney will conquer,
Her spirit can not die.

Push On for Eastern Washington

Push on for Eastern Washington, to victory
While every loyal heart is praising thee
Fight for Eastern Washington, uphold her name
Charge down the field, boys, we'll win this game.
