THE HISTORY OF EASTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

In 1882, the Benjamin P. Cheney Academy opened its doors to more than 200 enrolling students. A generous contribution of $10,000 from the wealthy transportation industrialist had at last fulfilled the dreams of Cheney citizens long desiring an institute for higher learning in their community.

The academy became the State Normal School at Cheney in 1889, the same year in which Washington was given its statehood. The school was proudly designated as an institution "for the purpose of instruction of persons, both male and female, in the art of teaching the various branches that pertain to a good common school."

By the time it became Eastern Washington College of Education in 1937, Eastern was already a fully accredited four-year degree-granting institution, offering majors in numerous subjects.

The campus grew rapidly in size and program offerings in the decades following World War II. In 1961, the name was again changed, this time to Eastern Washington State College. It was increasingly evident that the region needed professionals in many fields; in response, a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs were added. Finally, in 1977, the name was changed to Eastern Washington University by the state legislature.

As a regional university, Eastern is charged with the special responsibility of meeting the undergraduate and graduate educational needs of the region's people.

To that end, program areas have grown and been redefined as the needs of the Inland Northwest have grown and changed. Master's programs have been added to meet the need for graduate-level education, and individual programs and schools have increasingly been granted accreditation by their respective oversight organizations as those programs and schools have grown and matured.

Today's Eastern students represent nearly every state in the union and more than 40 foreign countries. More than 100 different academic majors are available, offering students a wide variety of career-path options.

Nearly 600 full-time and adjunct faculty teach on the Cheney campus and at the Spokane Center. Three quarters of Eastern's full-time faculty members hold doctorate degrees. With a student/faculty ratio at approximately 18:1, Eastern continues to stress small classes, personalized instruction and individual attention.

Perhaps even more significant than Eastern's steady advancement during the past 113 years is the university's expanded regional role and its evolving goals, objectives and vision of its future.

In the past decade Eastern Washington University has become a major force in the state and the Pacific Northwest, not only in the education of nearly 9,000 students a year, but in the civic, cultural, scientific and economic development of the state and region.

Vivian Winston

Anyone who has lived in Spokane long enough to be aware of or involved in one or more of our region's charitable, educational or service organizations has likely come across the name of Vivian Winston.

Now in her 80s, Winston has worked as an unpaid volunteer in Spokane for nearly 50 years, shunning the limelight, reaching out to disenfranchised members of society and never letting go of her dreams for a better world for children.

Born in Spokane but raised in Seattle, she returned to Spokane in the '40s, after she and her husband, attorney Patrick Henry Winston, decided it was the best place to raise their two daughters, Karen and Robin. Karen now works as social worker in Spokane and Robin works as a nurse in Port Angeles.

But Winston wasn't content to stay at home; she became involved in the community around her - working to fund uniforms for Girl Scouts from low-income families; becoming a charter member of the League of Women Voters; serving as an early member and president of United Way.

The variety of her involvement over the years has been diverse - from library boards to juvenile justice committees; from poverty coalitions to higher education boards; from the YWCA to the Spokane Intercollegiate Research and Technology Institute (SIRTI).

Perhaps Winston's most notable service, at least from the standpoint of the publicity it received, was her leadership of Planned Parenthood from 1972-76, a time in which the advocating of birth control advice was so controversial that her scheduled appearance before the Spokane School Board was canceled for fear of that controversy.

Today, Winston continues her involvement in a variety of social and charitable organizations such as Women Helping Women. She is also a mentor to a whole new generation of civic and charitable volunteers and administrators, offering advice, solving problems and serving in the role of what many call the "institutional memory" of social and charitable work in Spokane over the past half century.

SENIOR ALUMNA

Cecelia Kelly

Each year, Eastern Washington University seeks to honor one of the institution's most senior alumni. This year, we are honored to recognize Cecelia (Ludwig) Kelly, who turned 105 last February.

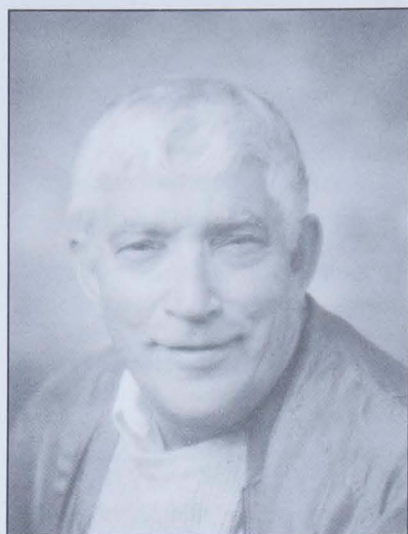

Kelly was born in 1891 to Matthew and Josephine Ludwig, a pioneer Cheney family. She moved as a child to a home on Depot Springs Road in 1894.

A 1921 graduate of Cheney Normal School (the forerunner to EWU), she taught a few years in Washington, then married John Kelly and moved to Montana in the late 1920s. After her husband's death in 1929, she returned to the family home and land near Cheney where she lived until 1992, moving to Spokane at that time.

Kelly has one daughter, Josephine Kelly Shaw, who attended EWU in the 1940s and later received her degree in 1982. She is retired from the accounting division of Lincoln County. Her son, Ron, attended Washington State University and her grandson, Wayne (Cecelia's great-grandson), graduated from Eastern in 1980.

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Darrell Bachman

Darrell Bachman

Dr. Darrell "Bill" Bachman, associate professor of applied psychology, came to Eastern's Department of Psychology in 1965 from a position as a school psychologist. He received his bachelor's degree in psychology from Central Washington University. He earned his master's degree in school psychology in 1964 from the University of Oregon and his doctorate in special education from the same university in 1970. In 1972 he joined Eastern's new Applied Psychology Department.

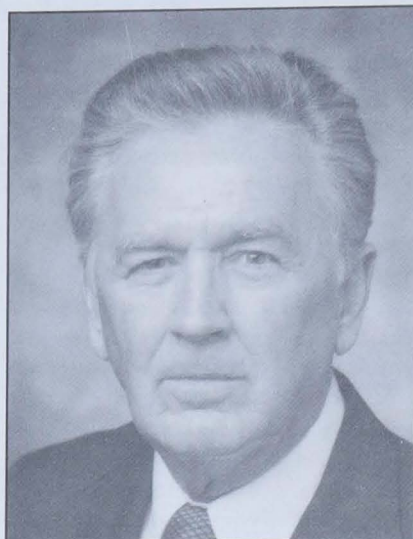

Bachman's major areas of interest for undergraduate teaching have been educational psychology, life span development and individual differences. In all of these areas he stressed individuality and uniqueness. His interest in education and learning led him in recent years to explore computers as part of education delivery structures. His part-time grant for computer-assisted instruction has resulted in several mini courses which he incorporated into his classes and made him a department consultant on computer matters. Further, this interest led him to serve many years on the Academic Computing Council as a strong supporter of increasing the role of technology in teaching.

At the graduate level, Bachman's teaching focus was applied learning theory. Also, he was very supportive of the school psychology and developmental psychology programs.

Among his retirement plans are finishing a novel he began writing a few years ago, and fishing along the Oregon coast.

Donald R. Bell

Dr. Donald R. Bell, professor of applied psychology, began his distinguished career at Eastern in 1964 in the Psychology Department after receiving his doctorate from the University of Oregon. He also received his bachelor's and master's degrees at the U. of Oregon. He helped form and joined the new Applied Psychology Department in 1972.

Bell originated a variety of courses in educational psychology and child development. He founded and was for many years the director of the university's Child Development Center, which served as a clinic, interdisciplinary research institute and recipient of many grants. As director, he lectured and conducted numerous workshops around the region and state on child observation and child rearing.

His textbook on observing and recording children's behavior is used in many courses around the country and a second edition is currently in preparation. A training manual on child study prepared for the state of Washington Department of Social and Health Services some years ago is still in use. He is most proud, however, of his many former students who occupy positions of responsibility in the fields of education, child development and human services throughout the state and region.

Bell was also well known for his work in program development and evaluation. He started his own management consulting firm in 1975 and remains active as a consultant for major corporations on personnel selection and program development.

David M. Daugharty

Dr. David M. Daugharty, professor of mathematics, began teaching at Fort Greeley Territorial School, Big Delta, Alaska, in 1955. His first assignments were a sixth and seventh grade combination room as well as teaching high school geometry. He left Alaska for Idaho in 1956 to teach mathematics in junior and senior high schools until 1965 when he came to Cheney. During the 1965-66 school year, he taught mathematics part time at both Cheney High School and Eastern Washington State College.

David M. Daugharty

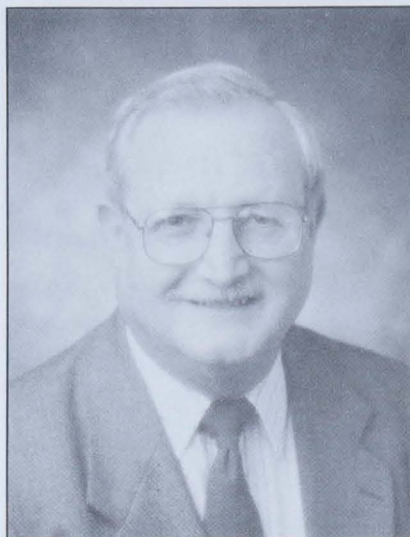

In 1966, Daugharty was hired full time at Eastern as an instructor. He gained the rank of assistant professor in 1969, associate professor in 1972 and full professor in 1983. During his tenure at Eastern, he taught a wide range of courses, depending upon the needs of the Mathematics Department and his interests. This teaching has twice included team teaching a course on Lewis Carroll in the honors program. Finally, he was the first director of the Basic Skills in Mathematics Program at Eastern.

Daugharty has three degrees from the University of Idaho: bachelor of arts in education, a master of natural science in mathematics and a doctorate in mathematics education. He has been active in mathematics education, presenting many papers and workshops. He has been on professional leave three times to pursue his interests in the areas of mathematics education and the life and work of mathematician and philosopher Bertrand Russell. He was the second professor from Eastern to be an exchange professor to Kalinin (now Tver) State University in the former Soviet Union. He also was invited in 1987 to provide the mathematics in-service for teachers at Colegio Franklin Delano Roosevelt in Lima, Peru.

Besides his teaching and professional activities, he has been active in faculty organization activities, serving as a member of the Faculty Senate, chair of the Faculty Affairs Council and chair of the General University Requirements Committee.

At the state level, Daugharty has been a member of the Mathematics Placement Committee, Governor Lowry's Task Force on Higher Education and several OSPI Mathematics Committees.

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Dr. Boyd Devin, professor of theatre, was born in Oregon and completed his elementary and secondary education there. After a four-year enlistment in the Air Force, he spent two years majoring in speech/theatre at Eastern Oregon College in LaGrande, Oregon. In 1957, he enrolled as a speech/theatre major at the University of Oregon, receiving his bachelor of science degree in 1958.

Devin taught freshman English and junior and senior speech and drama at Myrtle Creek High School. He received a graduate assistantship at the University of Oregon and enrolled in the master's program there in the summer of 1959, graduating with a master of science degree in 1960.

He began his college teaching at Everett Junior College, and from 1967-68 he received an educational fellowship at Washington State University.

In 1969 he began as assistant professor/director of productions at Eastern and in 1971 he completed his doctor of education degree at WSU. By this time he had become chairman of the drama department at Eastern. In the fall of 1971 he led a USO/ Department of Defense tour to the Pacific Command for ten weeks. Other tours followed in 1974, 1982 and 1984. During this time, he was appointed a member of the USO Shows Committee and served with such notables as Bob Hope, Cary Grant, Pearl Bailey, Phyllis George and Roy Clarke. Two of these tours resulted in Eastern receiving the "Certificate of Esteem" from the Department of Defense, identifying these shows as the best in an overseas command for that particular year.

While at Eastern, Devin helped determine design and equipment requirements of the University Theatre. Through nearly 28 years of tenure at Eastern, he served on many committees as a member and as chair. He has chaired

Walter M. Hartman

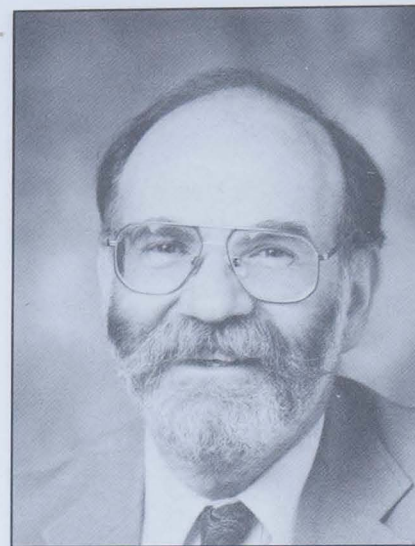

Walter M. Hartman

Dr. Walter M. Hartman, professor of Management Information Systems, began teaching courses in business education and decision science at Eastern Washington State College in 1965. He also has been an active participant in numerous university and College of Business and Public Administration committees during his 31 years at Eastern.

Hartman earned both his bachelor's and master's in education degrees from Eastern. He received his Ph.D. in business education from the University of Northern Colorado in 1970.

Hartman co-authored the textbook, Statistics for Business: An Applications Approach, published in 1981 and 1984. He also co-authored the Workbook/Study Guide, published in 1991 and 1994, for the textbook Understanding Business Statistics by John E. Hanke and Arthur G. Reitsch, both Eastern faculty members.

the Department of Theatre four times. He has directed and designed more than 150 productions in his 38 years of teaching. Since 1978, he has led many study tours to Europe and England. He received a Presidential Commendation in 1988 in "recognition of (his) dedication to the development and furtherance of theatre at Eastern and (his) tireless efforts in carrying the Department of Theatre into the international arena." Devin leaves Eastern for relaxation and work in the travel industry.

William Katz

William Katz

(Dean Emeritus)

Dr. William Katz earned his bachelor of science degree at College of the City of New York, then went on to receive a master of science degree in elementary education from State University of New York, Buffalo. This was followed by a doctorate of education degree from the University of Texas.

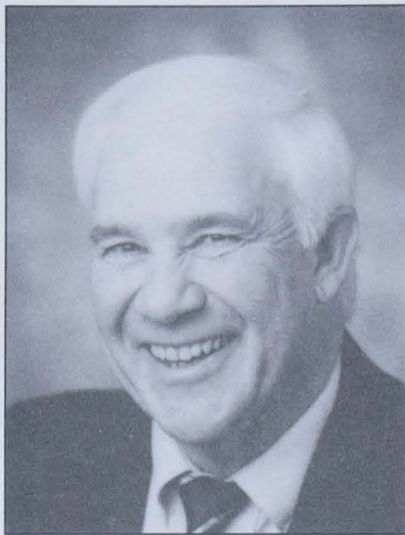

Before coming to Eastern in 1981 as dean of the College of Education and Human Development, Katz served as dean at Governors State University, as president of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Consortium of Colleges and Universities and as professor of education at West Virginia University.

Katz was an active participant in professional education throughout his career; as an elementary and junior high school teacher, director of a Head Start Training Project and consultant for the National Council for the Education of Disadvantaged Youth.

Katz holds membership in the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Phi Delta Kappa and the Teacher Education Council of State Colleges and Universities. Among the many responsibilities accepted, offices held and services provided during his tenure at Eastern, he was president of the Executive Committee of the Washington Council of Deans and Directors of Education and conveyor of the Western States Deans and Directors of Education.

Throughout his 15 years at Eastern, Bill Katz was recognized for his sense of humor, sincerity, forthrightness, caring and advocacy as he dealt with the innumerable challenges and responsibilities of his position here.

Jerry Martin

Jerry Martin

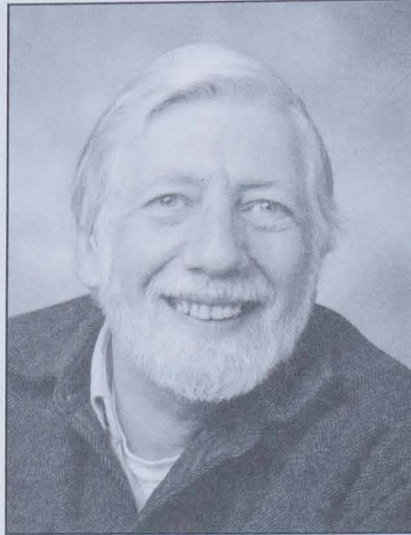

Jerry Martin, men's track and field coach, joined the faculty of Eastern's Physical Education, Health, Recreation and Athletic Department in 1970. Before arriving, he had taught and coached in Washington high schools for eight years and in colleges for six years. At Eastern, he served as an assistant football coach for six years, head track coach for 19 years and as a crosscountry coach for 13 years.

His cross-country teams finished in the top ten in national competition on eight occasions; the 1982 team won the NCAA II National Championship. His track and field teams won nine district championships and five times finished in the top ten nationally. The highest finish was 4th place in the 1980 NCAA Division II championships. While at Eastern, he developed 23 All-Americans in cross country, and track and field; all were from high schools in Washington state.

His coaching honors include finalist for the "Inland Empire Coach of the Year" on ten occasions, "District Track and Cross Country Coach of the Year" twelve times and "Pacific Coast Regional Coach of the Year" in 1974 and 1982.

During Eastern's NCAA Division II membership, Martin was a member of the Track and Field National Championship Executive Committee for five years and served as secretary of the Coaches Association for three years.

Martin served as Eastern's director of athletics from 1975-78 and was responsible for initiating the university's move to the Big Sky Conference.

Felix E. Mutschler

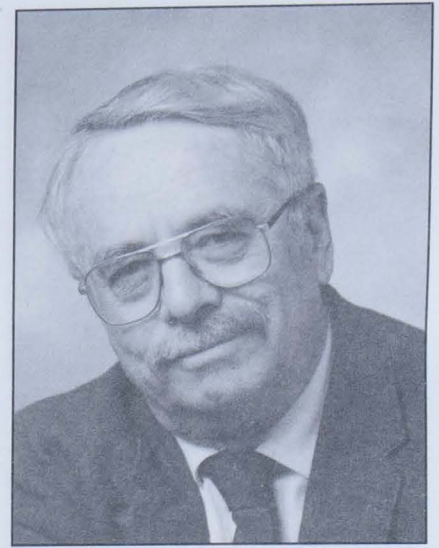

Felix E. Mutschler

Dr. Felix E. Mutschler, professor of geology, came to Eastern in 1969 from positions as geologist for the U.S. Geological Survey and research geologist at the University of Colorado. He received his bachelor's degree, with honors in geology, from Hunter College of the City of New York in 1954, his master's in geology from the University of New Mexico in 1956 and his Ph.D. in geology from the University of Colorado in 1968. Mutschler's major fields of interest, instruction and research have been economic geology, igneous petrology and field mapping.

Along with students and colleagues, he has published many geologic maps of areas in Colorado and Idaho and papers on economic geology and igneous petrology. Mutschler has acted as consultant to mineral exploration companies in the U.S., Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Norway, the U.K., Iceland, French Polynesia and South America. He has served on several academic and advisory committees while at Eastern and was Geology Department chair in 1988-90 and 1991-93.

Professionally, Mutschler is an elected fellow of the Geological Society of America and a member of two other national professional organizations. He has been the department representative for the cooperative agreement between EWU and the U.S. Geological Survey since its inception in 1991.

Mutschler's retirement plans are to continue his research, including applying for grant funding. He has numerous projects in various stages of completion. He also plans to continue his cooperative work with the U.S. Geological Survey.

Claude W. Nichols

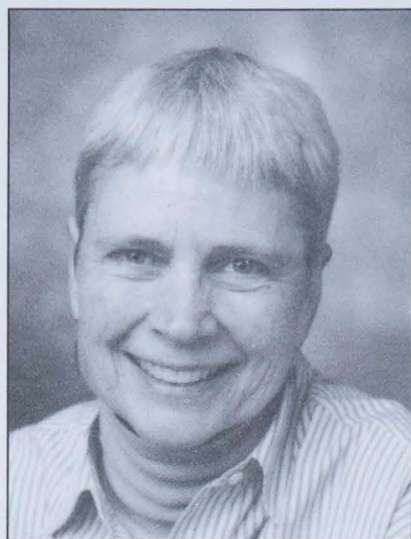

Claude W. Nichols

Dr. Claude Nichols, professor of history, is retiring from his position after serving 35 years in the History Department (1961-1996). The third most senior member of Eastern Washington University's faculty, Nichols has enjoyed a distinguished career teaching American history, particularly the American West and Pacific Northwest. He has long been a favorite lecturer on campus and is well remembered by many history and history-social science education graduates of Eastern. Prior to coming to Eastern, Nichols was assistant professor of history at Dakota State College.

A graduate of the University of Oregon, Claude Nichols received master's and Ph.D. degrees from that institution and earlier a bachelor of arts from the University of Nevada. He is a member of the Western History Association and Washington State History Society and has written for the Western Historical Quarterly and the Journal of the West. He also has contributed to public television programs such as "Rails, Rocks and Rangeland" and "Theodore Roosevelt and the Western Experience."

Nichols also has given outstanding service to the university. He has served on nearly every History Department committee and as its vice chair and graduate adviser. He also has been a driving force in the department's graduate program and was instrumental in establishing both the annual History Department Awards Luncheon and Living History Workshops. In addition, he recently chaired Eastern's Graduate Affairs Council (GAC) and has long served the Athletics Department as scorekeeper, timekeeper and student recruiter.

Joan Niemann

Joan Niemann

Dr. Joan Niemann joined the faculty of the Applied Psychology Department in 1976. She earned her Ph.D., master's and bachelor's degrees in psychology from Washington State University.

Niemann developed and taught department courses in the areas of child development, human learning and educational psychology. Her students describe her as a clear, fair, innovative and stirring teacher and adviser.

An abiding commitment to increasing diversity and gender equity on campus led Niemann to teach many workshops and training sessions on women and leadership. She helped form the Women's Studies Program on campus and was interim director of the Women's Center. Her research on the impact of women in psychology has been integrated into the developmental psychology curriculum. She contributed to many university councils and committees, often providing the representative female voice.

Niemann served as department chair from 1990 until 1996. She has helped to hire six new full-time faculty members, increase the number of students majoring in department programs by several dozen and set in motion ongoing revisions of several department programs.

Colleagues regard Dr. Niemann as an untiring advocate for quality education; an inspiring, effective, democratic leader; an encouraging mentor and an esteemed friend.

V. Louise Saylor

(Librarian Emerita)

During her twenty-year career at Eastern, Saylor served in a number of positions in the library, including catalog librarian, head of cataloging, assistant university librarian for technical services, and interim university librarian. She also headed one of the first library retrospective conversion projects—translation of library catalog information into standard machine-readable form—in the Pacific Northwest. In 1991, she became dean of Libraries, the first individual to hold this title and the first woman to head the Library at EWU and its predecessor institutions since 1924.

Under her direction, the Libraries extended use of information technology, participated in the all-campus Total Quality Initiative, placed new emphasis on user education, established the shared EWU-WSU Cooperative Academic Library Service in Spokane, started a staff newsletter and worked to integrate the Libraries more fully into the curricula and the campus.

Saylor is well known regionally and nationally for her contributions to librarianship. A dedicated proponent of library networking in the Pacific Northwest, she represented the region in the governing councils of OCLC, an international bibliographic system, and served on key national committees charged with defining machine-readable library information. For many years, she maintained a busy schedule of continuing education workshops and presentations about cataloging standards and the practice and use of machine-readable formats for bibliographic data for library personnel throughout the Northwest.

Besides her contributions to refereed and professional journals, Saylor was founding editor of Alki: the Journal of the Washington Library Association and of WLALink, the organization's newsletter. In 1986, citing Alki's high levels of professionalism and excellence, the American Library Association gave Alki its H.W. Wilson Library Periodical Award; in 1987, acknowledging Saylor's roles as the driving force behind the quality professional journal, the Washington Library Association gave her its Merit Award for Outstanding Performance in a Special Area.

Recently, Saylor served as a member of the editorial board of the national refereed journal,

Joseph F. Schuster

Information Technology and Libraries. Saylor served the university and library community of the Pacific Northwest with distinction and is well qualified for recognition as Librarian Emerita.

Joseph F. Schuster

Dr. Joseph F. Schuster, professor of government, was born in Kansas City, Mo., in 1931. He has degrees from St. Benedict's College (A.B., English), St. Louis University (M.A., government) and Penn State University (Ph.D., political science). From 1953 to 1957 he was a navigator for the U.S. Air Force. He has taught at St. Francis College, Pa., St. Mary's University of Texas and at EWU for the past 28 years. His son, Dan, also is also a college teacher.

Schuster's academic specialty is public law and the judicial process. He served for many years as EWU's pre-law adviser and for 25 years sponsored Law Day observances which brought to campus local and state judges and attorneys. Together with Professor Niel Zimmerman, he designed Eastern's Pre-Law Program. He founded and for seven years was co-coach of EWU's National Mock Trial team. In 1995, Schuster instigated, coordinated and participated in the university's 1995 Summer Seminar on "Religion and the Social Order" which brought four nationally known scholars to Spokane.

Schuster has presented papers on law-related topics to the American Political Science Association and a number of regional assemblies. His book, The First Amendment in the Balance, was published by Austin and Winfield in 1993. He was the first winner, in 1993, of the School of Letters and Social Science's PTI Faculty Achievement Award and of the local chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha's "Outstanding Faculty Support" award.

In his free time, Schuster is a writer of country-western songs and plans to combine that activity with a great deal of camp-hosting and camping in his retirement years.

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Stephen Spacek

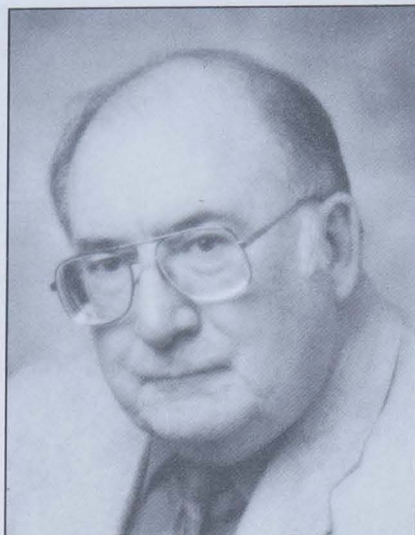

Stephen Spacek

Dr. Stephen Spacek, professor of education, joined the faculty at Eastern in 1958, after several years of teaching in elementary schools in the state of Washington. Following his appointment to Eastern, he taught math and language arts at Robert Reid Laboratory School as a demonstration teacher as well as teaching classes in the education department.

After leaving the laboratory school, Spacek supervised student teachers and served as the education department's director of student teaching. He worked to develop a successful partnership program with public schools, providing opportunities for collaboration between Eastern faculty, students and public school staff.

Spacek has been a member of Phi Delta Kappa for many years. In addition, he is a member of the Association of Teacher Education Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and the Washington Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

He has contributed his time and service to Eastern's athletic program by serving as an official timer for basketball games and volunteering at men's and women's track and field meets. He also has been a member of the Athletic Policy Board and has provided service to the Cheney community through his involvement with the PTA, Cub Scouts and Little League Basketball.

William Syhlman

William Syhlman

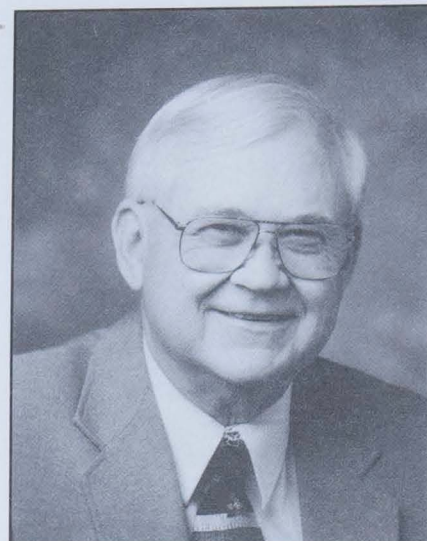

Dr. William D. Syhlman, professor of marketing and distributive education, came to Eastern in 1966. He served as chair of the Department of Business and Distributive Education, director of the Bureau of Business Research and Management Services and director of the Small Business Development Center. He also was advisor to the College DECA (Distribution Education Clubs of America) Chapter.

Syhlman was known throughout the state and region as an authority in the marketing, professional training and development and vocational education fields. He conducted many training seminars for the state of Washington Department of Vocational Education and for numerous groups in private industry. A prolific and successful grant writer, he secured more than $1,400,000 in grant awards to EWU.

Memberships in professional societies include Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, American Vocational Association, American Society for Training and Development, Academy of Management, American Academy of Advertising, Spokane Transportation Club, Council for Distributive Teacher Education and the Washington Vocational Education Association.

Syhlman, who is known for his outstanding rapport with his students, holds a Ph.D. in higher educational administration, vocational education and business administration from Oregon State University.

In his free time, he is an avid boater and fisherman.

Don Wiley

Don Wiley

Dr. Don Wiley, professor of education, came to Eastern in 1970 to teach in the Library Science Media Program in the Department of Education.

Wiley received his Ed. D. in curriculum and instruction and his master of library science from the University of Washington. Previously, he earned his bachelor of arts from Emporia State University in Kansas, where he began his public teaching career. He subsequently moved to Oregon as a school librarian and audiovisual coordinator.

Wiley has long been admired and highly respected by students and fellow professionals for his warm, caring manner and his outstanding teaching abilities. He was never too busy to listen to students and give them help. He also shared his enthusiasm for photography by teaching classes, organizing exhibits and winning national awards.

For many years, Wiley has been an important contributor to the Washington Library Media Association. As a result, an annual scholarship award has been established in his name.

TRUSTEES' MEDAL

The Trustees' Medal honors teaching excellence, significant contributions to scholarship and research and accomplishments in the development of academic programs and curricula. The award consists of a bronze medalion and a $1,500 cash prize from the EWU Foundation.

Dr. Donna El-Din, Distinguished Professor of Physical Therapy, is the 1996 recipient of the Eastern Washington University Trustees' Medal, the highest honor the university can bestow on a faculty member for his or her achievements in teaching, scholarship and contributions to the profession. Accompanying the medal is a cash award of $1,500.

She came to Eastern in 1984 with a bachelor of science in education from the University of Michigan (1955), a certificate in physical therapy from the Mayo Clinic School of Physical Therapy (1958), a master of science in physiology from Wayne State University School of Medicine (1970) and a Ph.D. in health education from the Texas Woman's University (1981).

Prior to arriving at Eastern, El-Din had served as chair of the Department of Physical Therapy at the University of Texas Health Sciences Center since 1971. At EWU her goal was to develop a curriculum leading to a bachelor of science degree in physical therapy. She was the department's first chair, holding that position until 1990; she was appointed distinguished professor in 1991.

She facilitated the department's transition to a master's level program and was a primary force in the department's achievement of interim accreditation status this past fall. In addition, she received the Burlington Northern Faculty Achievement Award in 1987 and the College of Health, Social and Public Services Excellence in Teaching Award in 1994.

Her dedication to physical therapy education extends well beyond Eastern's environment. As only one example, she has served as an on-site evaluator for the Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy since 1981. She is an active member of the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) and in 1993 received APTA's Lucy Blair Service Award at the national conference.

Just this year she received the Award for Leadership in Education from APTA's Section for Education, the highest award given. Last fall she was guest editor of a special issue of the Journal for Physical Therapy Education on the subject of teaching diagnosis.

El-Din has developed curricula, presented papers at many meetings and conventions and is well regarded in her profession throughout the nation. For these and many other reasons she was nominated for the 1996 EWU Trustees' Medal by the faculty of the Department of Physical Therapy - and selected to receive it by the EWU Medals and Awards Committee.

All who know and work with her agree that there is no finer example of a faculty member dedicated to scholarship, leadership and teaching expertise than Dr. Donna El-Din, distinguished professor of physical therapy at Eastern Washington University.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXEMPT DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

Carl Combs

This Distinguished Service Award recognizes exemplary service by an administrative exempt employee of the university. The award includes $1,000 from the EWU Foundation.

As a computer software (and sometimes hardware) technical support person, Carl Combs, Information Systems Consultant, is called upon for help with everything from recommendations on new purchases to "Help, my computer just crashed!"

He averages 75 jobs a week for individuals in any and all departments and offices at Eastern – plus phone calls. A calming influence during crisis (and most computer problems are a crisis for those having them), the refrain is commonly heard across campus when computer difficulties arise, "call Carl."

He earned a bachelor of arts in management information systems from Eastern in 1987 and came to work at the Client Services Help Desk at the university in 1989. He assumed his present position in 1993.

Embarrassed at being singled out for recognition, he says, "Nobody can do this kind of work all alone. The key to computer support on campus, which is a big job, is a team effort involving computer maintenance people and some key people in Information Resources."

The Distinguished Service Award (Administrative Exempt) includes a plaque and $1,000 award.

CLASSIFIED STAFF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

Doreen Timm

This Distinguished Service Award is given annually to a classified staff member for outstanding contributions to the university. The award includes a $1,000 cash gift from the EWU Foundation.

As Secretary Supervisor in the Office of Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Doreen Timm oversees the operation of all facets of the organizationally complex office responsible for all self-support programs on campus (including Summer Session, the University Press, Continuing Education, International Field Studies and more).

Not only does she coordinate all these pieces to form a smooth operating whole, but she has especially demanding duties with regard to the Summer Session programs and catalog, often taking on tasks beyond the scope of her formal position description. As an example, last year, with the support of the Summer Session Advisory Committee, she rescheduled one school's entire battery of summer courses, requiring her to negotiate directly with several department chairs.

She is described as a consummate professional, accomplishing all she does with "the epitome of politeness and grace," knowing the importance of a friendly customer service approach.

Timm came to the university in 1979 as a secretary in the Career Planning and Placement Office, was secretary in the Department of Government from 1982 to 1992 and assumed her present position in 1992.

The Distinguished Service Award (Classified Staff) includes a plaque and $1,000 award.

ALUMNI ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

The Alumni Achievement Award is given by the EWU Alumni Association in recognition of outstanding achievement in a personal, professional or community endeavor.

Robert W. Mull (M.A. history, '82) has spent the past 15 years as a national award-winning documentary filmmaker, author and historian. His documentary, When Court Adjourned, on the life of the late Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, was honored as one of the top Public Broadcasting System programs of 1982. Mull also wrote and produced Something to Win the War, a documentary on the Hanford Nuclear Reservation which received numerous regional and national awards and has been cablecast nationally. The Northwest best seller, Hanford and the Bomb, was a book Mull based on his documentary. That book is in its second printing.

Mull came to film from a career with cultural organizations throughout the Pacific Northwest. His undergraduate training in history and film production was obtained at the University of Kansas. He graduated from that institution with a bachelor's in history/journalism in 1976. Mull next received his graduate training in history at Eastern Washington University, receiving his M.A. in history in 1982.

While studying for his master's at Eastern, Mull worked briefly at Spokane's Cheney Cowles Museum, then as a curator at the Yakima Valley Museum. It was in the latter position that he began his documentary filmmaking career with a grant from the Washington Commission for the Humanities.

For two years, Mull served as executive director of the 1985 Yakima Centennial and as eastern Washington consultant to the Washington Commission for the Humanities. As consultant, Mull traveled throughout eastern Washington assisting museums, schools and ethnic organizations to develop humanities programs for the public.

In 1985 Mull moved to Seattle to take a position as development officer and newsletter editor at the Pacific Science Center. In 1988 he was awarded a grant from the Washington Centennial Commission to make a film about pioneer photographers Edward and Asahel Curtis. This film went on to be featured in numerous film festivals nationally and in Europe. It is now in distribution on both continents.

In addition to Mull's many professional positions, he was co-founder of the Washington State Folklife Council and served on a planning committee for Washington's 1989 Centennial. He also has performed volunteer work for several nonprofit organizations, produced additional films and videos, written magazine and journal articles and addressed numerous history conferences. In 1991, Mull was given the Cecil L. Dryden Award by Eastern's History Department for outstanding service in the field of history.

In 1993 Mull was diagnosed with systemic lupus, a disease which has interrupted his film work and other activities. He has now turned his attention to conducting research for a greater understanding of this disease with no known cause and no cure.

Looking back over his career, Mull says he was driven "by a love of my field and a desire to share that passion with others. My degree from Eastern helped carve my professional niche. It took a great amount of flexibility, a willingness to move on to new jobs and to seek rewards that often were not defined in monetary terms."

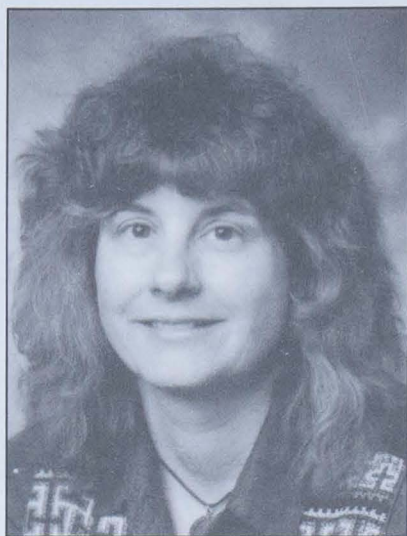

Mull's career and his continued involvement in both professional and educational activities represent the remarkably creative application of education to a life of notable accomplishments. Robert Mull truly embodies the true spirit of education as a lifelong process of learning from and sharing with others.

PTI/PACIFICCORP FOUNDATION FACULTY ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

This is the fourth year that the PTI/PacificCorp Foundation has underwritten awards of $1,000 each for faculty members who are receiving awards for teaching excellence. Five faculty members are being honored this year.

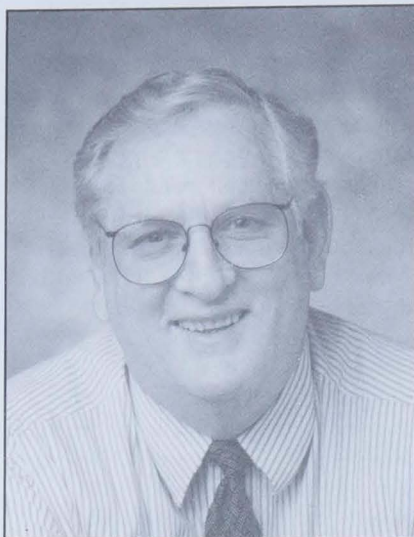

Margaret A. O'Connell
*Associate Professor of Biology
College of Science, Mathematics and Technology*

Dr. Margaret O'Connell joined the faculty at Eastern in 1991 with a bachelor of arts in biology/zoology from Prescott College (1973), a master of science in zoology from Texas Tech University (1975) and a Ph.D. in biology/zoology from Texas Tech University (1981).

She had been an assistant professor in the Department of Natural Resource Sciences at WSU and worked with the Washington State Department of Natural Resources in developing and teaching a Wildlife Training Course to state foresters. Her research focuses on the effect of timber harvest practices on wildlife habitat.

O'Connell is being honored for her focus on and commitment to critical thinking, cooperative problem solving and extensive writing (with multiple drafts that are rigorously critiqued) as centerpieces in her teaching.

She also involves students in real-world projects such as on-going research at the Turnbull National Wildlife Refuge, where she is co-director of the Turnbull Laboratory for Ecological Studies. Each summer her funded research projects employ a field crew of up to 10 Eastern students.

Robert W. Atwood
*Professor of Psychology
College of Letters, Arts and Social Sciences*

Dr. Robert Atwood joined the faculty at Eastern in 1967 with a bachelor of arts in psychology (1959), a master of science in psychology (1963) and a Ph.D. in clinical psychology (1969), all from Brigham Young University.

A licensed psychologist in the state of Washington, he is a medical staff member at Sacred Heart Medical Center and has more than 25 years experience teaching psychology courses, most of which were clinical in nature. He has conducted successful smoking cessation workshops for women and is a member of the medical advisory board of the Lupus Society.

His students consistently remark that while Atwood sets high standards and is a challenging teacher, he creates an environment in which it is a pleasure to meet classroom expectations.

There were more than 30 letters of support from current and former students for his nomination for this award, with many letters speaking of the close relationship Atwood maintains with students — helping them through a divorce or through the death of a parent — even long after they leave the university.

Martin J. Zyskowski
*Professor of Music
College of Letters, Arts and Social Sciences*

Professor Martin Zyskowski joined the faculty at Eastern in 1968 with both bachelor of music (1967) and master of music (1968) degrees from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

He has been director of percussion studies at Eastern since his arrival and also is principal timpanist with the Spokane Symphony Orchestra and the Sandpoint Music Festival Orchestra and the Northwest Bach Festival Orchestra. In fall 1996 he will travel as a USAID grant recipient to teach at the University of Cape Coast in Ghana and to further his knowledge of non-Western music.

Zyskowski is being honored for his exceptional work with students in guiding their growth as musicians. One peer describes as remarkable his ability to work with students whose only experience may have been with garage bands and developing in them the capabilities to perform complex classical music and jazz. His students regularly give him "excellent" evaluations.

He also is widely known for guiding Eastern's instrumental ensembles to award-winning performances. This winter he directed the EWU Percussion Ensemble in performances on public television that were seen by audiences from Wyoming to British Columbia.

*Associate Professor of Applied
Psychology
College of Education and Human Development*

Dr. Joan Niemann joined the faculty at Eastern in 1976 with a bachelor of science in psychology (1972), a master of science in psychology (1975) and a Ph.D. in experimental psychology (1976), all from Washington State University.

She is described by her students as a teacher who truly helps them learn the material, treats them respectfully, adjusts her schedule to be available for advising and makes options available to capitalize on their academic strengths and experiences.

She is valued as a role model for non-traditional students, especially women, who credit her with fostering their commitment to do quality work, persist in the face of obstacles and consider graduate school. A non-traditional student herself, she returned to college after having worked in the medical field and having a family to pursue her degrees in psychology.

Niemann has designed and conducted many workshops about women and leadership in the region and emphasizes cultural diversity and individual differences in her courses and her methods.

*Professor of Taxation and Business Law
College of Business and Public Administration*

Dr. Susan L. Megaard came to Eastern in 1984 with a bachelor of arts in history from the University of the Pacific (1976), a JD (doctor of laws) degree from the University of Washington (1979) and a master of law in taxation from Georgetown Law School (1982).

Students of Megaard frequently comment that she is the best instructor they have ever had, that she knows and understands the material she teaches so thoroughly and that she motivates them to learn by communicating information to them so clearly.

Her reputation for excellence has spread throughout the nation, as evidenced by the many requests she receives to present seminars for accounting and legal organizations, the Internal Revenue Service and other universities. She is widely published, with numerous articles in the Journal of Taxation, and has authored a Bureau of National Affairs tax portfolio series on depreciation recapture.

MARY SHIELDS WILSON AWARD RECIPIENTS

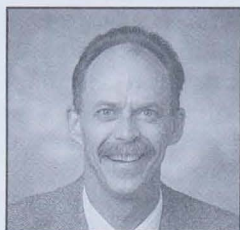

The Mary Shields Wilson Medallion Award was established in 1981 as a tribute to Mrs. Frederick Wilson, Jr. Mrs. Wilson served on the Board of Trustees of Eastern Washington University from 1968 to 1981, and chaired the Board of Trustees on three occasions. Mrs. Wilson exemplifies outstanding conduct as a citizen, as an educational leader and as a tireless advocate of quality in American higher education. The medallion award program recognizes outstanding graduates as it honors a citizen, Mrs. Wilson, who is a leader and friend of higher education.

The recipients of the award will have established themselves as exceptionally capable individuals in both academic and extracurricular activities of the university community. The faculty and administration of the university acknowledge their great pride in the accomplishments of the students during their college experience, and expect even greater accomplishments in the years which lie ahead.

Criteria:

An award nominee will have demonstrated outstanding academic achievement (3.50 GPA or higher), be a graduating senior and qualify in one or more of the following areas: leadership, service to the university and service to the community.

Students who took at least 12 credits of Freshman Honors, two Honors Seminars and completed an Honors Senior Seminar project qualify to graduate with University Honors

The University Honors Program was created to enrich the lives of Eastern Washington University undergraduates. Since 1979, it has sought to engage young intellectuals in the challenging pursuit of quality education. Between the breadth of interdisciplinary approaches to learning on the lower-division level, and the depth of research in a specific discipline during the senior year, University Honors guides students to a variety of seminars and department courses providing honors experience. The distinction of graduation with University Honors is the highest academic award Eastern confers on its undergraduates.

These students participated in the University Honors Program and completed an Honors Senior Seminar.

MARJORIE BOYD WELLINGTON ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AWARD

Alexis Jaecksch

The Marjorie Boyd Wellington Academic Excellence Award was established by the Black Education Program in honor of the first African-American graduate of Eastern Washington University. This award carries a stipend and a plaque supported by contributions from the Spokane community as an incentive for Black students to excel. It is presented annually to the Black student with the highest grade point average.

A sophomore math major, Alexis Jaecksch is the 1996 recipient of the Marjorie Boyd Wellington Academic Excellence Award for being the African-American student with the highest grade point average. Alexis is no stranger to awards of excellence, having won the Washington State Honors Award, the Renaissance Award and the Washington State Principals Scholar's Program Award during her final year in high school. Alexis is currently a resident assistant in Morrison Hall and serves as a tutor in the Math Department. Alexis hopes to teach math to middle-school-age children after earning her bachelor's and master's degrees.

GRADUATION WITH ACADEMIC HONORS

Students who have demonstrated exceptional academic performance are honored in the commencement program listing.

Summa Cum Laude: Seniors who have a cumulative grade point average of 3.77 or higher at the time of applying for graduation from Eastern Washington University—Gold Honors Cord.

Magna Cum Laude: Seniors who have a grade point average between 3.63 and 3.76—Silver Honors Cord.

Cum Laude: Seniors who have a grade point average between 3.50 and 3.62—Red and White Honors Cord.

University Honors: Seniors who completed special course work requirements through the Honors Programs—Purple Honors Cord.

UNIVERSITY MACE

The tradition of a ceremonial mace for academic institutions goes back to medieval times. Adapted in form from the ancient battle weapon used by knights, the ceremonial mace symbolized the authority of regal personages, city or shire ruling bodies and chief officers of chartered institutions. Originally representing vested authority during all official meetings, it eventually came to be connected mainly with formal ceremonies. In academic institutions, this is usually in conjunction with an academic procession, where the mace is carried at the head of the line of march or just before the platform party.

The form of the ceremonial mace has remained fairly consistent over the centuries. Design often reflects the period of creation, especially in the elaboration of ornamentation. Gold, silver and dark wood are traditional materials.

Eastern's mace, commissioned as a gift during the centennial year to the university by former and present members of the EWU Board of Trustees, was created by artist-craftsman Clifford Gaynard after a regionwide design competition. Its planished silver head in flowing cup-like form carries the university seal. The dark rosewood shaft with upper and medial gold-plated bosses is gently curved into the terminal silver cap at the bottom.

Although the modern design departs from the traditional straight and elaborately ornamented pattern, it retains a full effect of balance, dignity and decorum, while capturing the flowing lines typical of the eastern Washington landscape.

A permanent display case for the Eastern Washington University mace is located in the Office of the President.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The regalia worn for formal academic ceremonies such as commencements are patterned after the gowns and hoods worn regularly in the Middle Ages by scholars for warmth in unheated buildings and as distinguishing dress denoting their place in society. A great variety of designs and colors developed over the years in the costume worn in different universities, but since 1895 in the United States a uniform intercollegiate code of style and colors has been adhered to by most institutions.

In accordance with this code, most academic gowns are black, although some universities permit other solid colors. Occasionally, the robe color may indicate a professional distinction, such as deep purple for law or scarlet for ecclesiastical honors. Adaptations of the academic costume for high schools have sometimes used colors other than black for purely decorative purposes. Sometimes a distinguishing device on the robe or cap indicates an individual honor or a special occasion.

The baccalaureate gown is of simple cut with full, somewhat pointed sleeves. The front is closed and often no hood is worn with this gown. The mortar board head covering originated in ancient Greece, symbolizing the commitment of the scholar to a life of building. It has either a plain black tassel or one of a color indicating the subject area of the degree. The custom of shifting the cap's tassel from right to left at the time of awarding the degree is used in lieu of investing each candidate with the bachelor's hood.

The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's gown, except that the sleeves are fuller, cut square with a half-circle at the bottom and sometimes worn with the arms through a horizontal slit at elbow level.

The doctoral robe is ampler in cut with a full bell-shaped sleeve, velvet panel edging in the front and three velvet stripes on each sleeve. The velvet trim may be black or in the color appropriate to the degree. The mortar board tassel for the doctorate is gold. Some American and many foreign universities use cap forms other than the mortar board, ranging from a soft velvet beret to more elaborate fringed styles, each of which has its own historical tradition.

Hoods worn over the gowns have a velvet edging, usually in a color indicating the specific degree and a lining which is partially turned out to show the colors of the college or university which granted the degree.

Some of the colors used for tassels and velvet panels to designate the degree are:

Apricot	Nursing
Lilac	Dentistry
Blue, dark	Philosophy
Maroon	Home Economics
Blue, light	Education
Orange	Engineering
Blue, peacock	Public Administration
Pink	Music
Brown.....	Fine Arts, Architecture and Urban and Regional Planning
