Economy deep in recession, jobs scarce and hard to get, college costs rising—and student activity reaches lowest in recent years.

Looking back over the year now closing, the most notable feature seems to be the lack of any one notable feature.

Previous years could usually be categorized as years of protest, years of campus calm, years of excitement. This year, if it can be categorized, most probably deserves the title the year of uncertainty.

During a time when college campuses have struck fear in the hearts of their legislators, with riots and bombings the excuse for introduction of repressive legislation, the biggest crowd drawing enterprise this year has been the Magic Bus Service between Spokane and Cheney.

While students in recent years have been crying for relevancy on the campus and in the classroom, students returned this year to the traditional image of a college student—kissing contests, beer-keg rolling contests and dance marathons.

Few students became concerned even when they found out their student president was no longer a student—or, at best, a quasi-student. His excuse for dropping his classes and disappearing from his office for some time was apparently plausible enough to placate students.

Mounting personal problems and too much pressure was given as the reason for withdrawing from classes and slowing down an already snail-paced government. Students, who seemed to have their share of problems with rising expenses and diminishing prospects of replenishment of funds, found logic in his reasoning for hanging on to the presidency which as a matter of course is to be expected to provide pressures.

Letters to the Editor

J. C. Defended

Editor,

We feel the time has come to reveal the real truth about Jesus. For we Christians, "are not ashamed of the Good News of Christ; for it is the Power of God unto salvation. For the fool has said in his heart, 'There is no God.' ... Who shall stand against the one whom the Lord has chosen?" (Romans 1:16 & 17).

In The Easterner, he is theiah, the King, the Savior, or else he was a fraud and deserved to be crucified. "The message of the cross is nonsense to those who are being lost, but to us who are being saved it is the Power of God." (Romans 1:18).

"For Jesus said, 'I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man comes to the Father but by me.'" (John 14:6).

The Bible says: "If you tell others with your own mouth that Jesus Christ is your Lord, and believe in your own heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. For it is by believing in his name that one is saved; and with his mouth he confesses his faith, confirming his salvation." (Romans 10:9-10).

Correction

Concerning the letter to the editor, "Last year we let the staff of The Easterner do all the work to try such tactics. During the past budget proceedings, they demonstrated that the power of the press is only as strong as the religion is: through faith with your own mouth that Jesus saving power of the press is only as strong as your own mouth that Jesus saving power is only as strong as the one who believes in your own heart that God has risen Him from the dead, you will be saved. For it is by believing in his name that one is saved; and with his mouth he confesses his faith, confirming his salvation." (Romans 10:9-10)." (John 14:6).

Requirements Modified

College requirements for fall quarter have been revised by the Academic Senate and the Undergraduate Affairs Council recently, said Henry-York Theatre assistant director of undergraduate affairs.

The new requirements will be as follows: 20 credits in social sciences, 20 credits in humanities, and 15 credits in natural sciences and math.

None of the courses taken to fulfill requirements can be applied to the major field. However, they can overlap in the minor, said Steiner.

Another significant difference is the fact that all physical education requirements have been dropped as of Monday, Aug. 31. This includes HPE 115, swimming clearance, and all activities, he said.

The student will not be allowed to select more than 10 of the required 15 or 20 credits in any area from one department.

"This is to keep his background spread out more," said Steiner. The advisor and the student will decide just which courses in each area will be desireable to the student.

Top 10 of ’71 Chosen

Traditionally, the Associated Students have selected the top 10 seniors during the spring quarter.

This year, however, there will not be a selection because, said John Allen, student president-elect, there is not enough time left to make the selection.

Not wanting to see an old tradition die needlessly, The Easterner has made its own selection.

The list originally began as the top 10 seniors. Not able to find 10 seniors worthy of such note, we expanded it to the top 10 students.

Not able to find 10 students worthy of such note, we took anybody—faculty, staff, and students—we felt deserved the honor of appearing on these pages, deemed the Most Notable People of 1971.

Our choices:

Clint Hill—Hill has done much this year to earn the distinction. He was the first A.S. president to drop out of school and still retain the presidency. He is the president to do the least with the office. He expanded the horizon of the job by opening a branch office in a Spokane shoe shop, where he worked as a salesman.

But his most notable achievement is his almost unbelievable ability to run a government. It is minimum of guest appearances, for which we award Hill the Adam Clayton Powell Extended Junket award for successfully getting away with running the government in exile and avoiding prosecution.

Mark Lobdell—Like his mentor and political advisor Hill, A.S. Treasurer Lobdell has many outstanding qualities and accomplishments to his credit. It was Lobdell who successfully persuaded the cross-country team not to attend the national meet at Kansas City in November, and it was Lobdell who travelled (at student expense) to Philadelphia for an activities promotion conference (which had absolutely nothing to do with his job).

But it was the combination of the two that won for Lobdell the Most Quotable Quote Award—Lobdell’s comment on his trip to Philadelphia three months after the aborted trip to Kansas City: “Students forget.”

Bruce Ellis—No list of political wheelers and dealers would be complete without Vice President Ellis. Not if Ellis can help it, anyway. We awarded him the Big Wheel Time Legislator Award for writing himself a raise into the new condition, almost like the big guys do in Washington, D.C. (Ellis almost lost this award for failing to retain his incumbency, but gets credit for pulling it off for his fellow officeholders.)

We award Lobdell the Perfect mastery of the principles of rhetoric and debate earn a spot on the list for A.S. Legislator Paulson. He gets the Lowest Common Denominator award for his ability to reduce even the knottiest legislative decision to a simple flip of a coin for a party line vote, whichever comes first.

Colleen McConnell—For her masterful and courageous performance in brushing aside precedent, slashing red tape, and ignoring “technicalities” (read egalities) in conducting the business of the Publications Commission, Miss McConnell receives the Political wheathores Award and the One Man Band ribbons.

PanBlackest Council—Eastern’s sorority organization has earned a just position on this list for the righteous fight being wagged against honest reporting of unfavorable news. For their unique view of the world, we grant them the Unruch Award for the deepest buried head.

Brent Wooten—Retired Head Football Coach Wooten receives the George S. Patton Memorial Tactician Award for the most original tactics employed this season leading to a conference record against Eastern Oregon College. Special mention is earned for “starting a new season” after our 40 early season.

Al Shaw—The Great Northern “Empire Builder” award goes to campus Safety Director Shaw. Ruling from a cheap, unorganizd part-time rent-a-cop force of parking ticket writers, Shaw has seen a good first year with his costly, organized and fully equipped full-time police force.

Eastern will celebrate Green Week next fall for all those brave souls who became somewhat nauseous from food at Taps. In a symbolic gesture, those "sickies" will line up in front of the building holding in one outstretched hand brownish "barf bags", then drop them and the contents, if any, by the front door, while their other hands salute with the famous "raspberry." Following these festivities will be Blue Week, for those that died beyond the call of duty from food in the PUB (pronounced as in pubic). In a symbolic gesture, "the brownies" will be carried through the PUB on a stretcher, an infamous "Bowel Burger" the size of a quarter stuffed in his mouth while burnt, soggy six-foot Hostess Twinkies are hung like effigy from the balconies.

Is it true that prison fishermen use jaliballs?

"Nookie-Nookie, Mommy!" Dept: With spring comes short skirts, so the Dirty-Old-Men on the balcony in the PUB wish to change the wooden tables below with clear glass ones. When asked to comment, one said, "It increases window-shopping."

Pubetry ends when your son asks for a $20-a-week allowance, and spends it all at one place.

The Annual Debutante Ball for Society's Upper-Crust Virginal Vassars occurred last week with the usual noisemakers. With the thesis music, "After The Ball Is Over," one blushing deb's outfit was described as, "...a lovely pink brocade slip, with low flowering bodice, fitted with matching breasts, accompanied by a broken shoulder strap, and color-coordinated with beauteous grass stains of green..."

Love-By Numbers Dept: A computer-course is where in order to get input, someone has to put out.

"You Muthuh!" Dept: Middle-aged Brides For Decency (BFD), became outraged at the "phallomobiles" that members of a local car club "tool town" with, enticing their clean-living daughters to "immoral acts of giggling and even kissing!" Spokeswoman Mrs. Prudecilla of Puritan Lane said, "They should be booted in motor oil! In our day we never fooled around and engaged in S-E-X until we were married." Mrs. Prudecilla is 29, been married 16 years, and has 18 children from her four husbands.

Housing Costs Low

While costs of a college education have gone higher in almost every respect, the cost of room and board is among the lowest in the nation and will remain at its present level until 1972.

Jack Quinn, housing director, said in a recent nationwide survey by the Association of College and University Housing Officers, cost of housing at Eastern was ranked 54th out of 56 schools surveyed.

"We are the lowest of all the other Washington state schools by $100 to $150," he said.

Based on double accommodations and an average of 20 meals per week, the figures show that the cost of room and board—$786 for a three-quarter academic year—are far below the highest in the nation, the University of California at Berkeley, where students pay $1,200 for the same period of time.

"Most of the figures are based on 233 days of service," Quinn said. "We're one day more of service between Eastern and the Berkeley university, but $414 difference."

Other Washington schools also ranked low on the survey. The University of Washington, which charges $945 for room and board for a three-quarter academic year, was 28th; Western Washington State College was 45th with $900 for three quarters, and Central Washington State College was 45th with $975.

FIRST PLACE AWARDS went to Janine Wittrock (left) and Joann Wittrock in Eastern's American Issues Debate Tournament May 7 and 8. Their winning debate was "Resolved: That the goals of women's liberation are belittled by society." Joann is an Eastern senior, while her sister Janine is a student at Washington State University.

A.S. Budget Decision Delayed

The decision last week by the Associated Student Legislature to delay action on budgets was questioned by many students, on and off the Legislature.

Many thought that legally the student governing body was to act on the budgets no later than May 31. It was reported not to be a legal question, but only an agreement between the student legislature and the budgeting offices in Shouwalter to finish deliberations so as to allow enough time to complete the budgeting process before the end of the fiscal year.

Instead of acting on the important finance question the body delayed action in hopes of accomplishing other matters leaving today's meeting completely for budget discussions.

A.S. concession contracts were awarded to Scarlet Arrow for Winter and Spring quarter. Scarlet Arrow is the oldest service organization on campus. The club offered to return to the student government sixteen percent of all concessions.

The awarding of the concession contract for Fall quarter was delayed because three organizations submitted identical bids. Alpha Phi Omega, Sponser Corp., and the Intercollegiate Knights offered to return to the student government fifteen percent of the concessions. They have been asked to submit new bids for reconsideration.

Summer Quarter Activities Scheduled

Summer activities around campus sponsored by the Associated Students will include movies, watermelon feasts, and some hikes.

Henry Jones, executive coordinator of activities, said the summer at Eastern is a time when "nothing happens and no one wants to do anything." Consequently, activities diminish from the usual fall schedule that starts this week.

Movies to be shown in the PUB will include old-time classics. The reason for not showing popular movies during the summer is that "the students go home," Jones said.

Eight hikes are being coordinated by Bruce Murray, assistant director of student activities. He was not available for further explanation. All finance committee recommended that the summer be used to make a profit because tickets are sold at a high cost. But other less expensive trips have been substituted.

Jones said he will be working on fall quarter entertainment all summer. He said he should have to work the summer in order to have a good fall program.

He will introduce a new film series to be shown during the week. The first one included "Joe," "Z," "Putney Swope," "Coming Apart," and others. This will include movies such as "Joe," "Z," "Putney Swope," "Coming Apart," and others. Jones said he had yet to schedule any concerts for the fall term, but will be working on these arrangements this summer.

Mexico Study Program On TV

Eastern's "Study in Mexico" program will be featured on KSPS. Spokane's public television station, beginning at 11:30 p.m.

The program will be shown on the 11:30 p.m. show in the Eastern University of Washington's McCullough Library for student viewing.

The Mexican study program is a cooperative effort between the Central Washington State College and Eastern. Both institutions provide faculty members for the Mexican campus as well as students who may study there for regular tuition and fees.

There will be a question and answers session following the program after the telecast.

Law Workshop Slated For June

Improvement of instruction in business law and communications will be the goal of a five-day workshop being offered by Eastern June 14-18.

Dr. Zimmer, chairman of the business administration department, will conduct the workshop under the direction of Dr. Kirby, associate professor of business education. Dr. Flak is the author of a text book used in the course.

The workshop has been developed on a basis relating to Eastern's situation. Dr. Zimmer is chairman of the business administration department at California State College at Los Angeles and is the co-author of a case book on "Business Law and Communications."

Indian Workshop Moves To New Camp Reed Site

The annual workshop for the Indian Education has been moved to Camp Reed at Pine Lake from the Wellpinit Reservation due to a protest by the Spokane Tribe.

John Ross, workshop director, said the tribal council was concerned with both the American Indian and the white American. "We are very happy we have such a satisfactory alternate site. In some respects the facilities at Camp Reed are superior to the Wellpinit."

PUB Gets Cool Air

The target date for air-cooled condenser units to be used in the PUB has been set at June 15, announced Bob DePoe, director of physical plant operations.

Until then, he said, students would have to "endure a little discomfort for a few days."

When the weather warms up, the condenser lines can be used to cool the PUB. This takes four or five days, DePoe said. Following that, the PUB will be able to cool the equipment housed in Rozell plant, he said.

"Little Big Man" Epic Motion Picture

by Rick Wiggin

For over forty years, Americans have been watching Westerns, TV serials in such unforgettable epics as "High Noon," and "How The West Was Won." But, with the exception of "A Man Called Horse," few have ever given the Indian the role of the protagonist.

The story of the life of a white man torn between his loyalty to his race and his love for the Indian woman he adopted as a youth. "Little Big Man," does not by far surpass his "Midnight Cowboy" role. Faye Dunaway, as the minister's wife, has a role that is also quite unforgetable. The highlight of this film is the performance by Chief Dan George as the wise Cheyenne tribal chief, the story of the life of a white man torn between his loyalty to his race and his love for the Indian woman he adopted as a youth.

The spring football turnout at Eastern College was very successful. It was, in fact, the best turnout ever. As everyone knows, the Savages have a lot of potential. The Eastern attack is very enthusiastic about this fall's edition.

With a strong nucleus of returning lettermen and strong incoming transfers, the Savages have a good chance of improving on last year's performances. The Eastern defense is a strong point for the team.

The Eastern offense is a point of interest. The offense has a lot of promising players, and Massengale is very enthusiastic about his team.

The thoughts and realities of forty or more writers, artists, and poets on the EWSC campus
The Spokane Camera Club recently visited the campus to record what they felt were the reflections of Eastern.

On this page are the results of that experience.

To the students, the campus is one thing—usually a place of study, a place of social gathering, a place where one prepares for his future.

To a photographer, the campus can mean many different things. No single theme seems evident in these photos, they are just impressions of a guest on campus. If it is not the campus the students see, it is because it is not seen through the students’ eyes.
