GREETINGS TO ALL NEW AND RETURNING STUDENTS!

As we enter a new academic year, both the opportunities and challenges to each of us seem greater than ever before. For those of you beginning your college education, it will be in a time of change and almost limitless opportunities for the future. Vocational goals and indeed one’s total life plan may still be inadequately housed, in general, we feel we have good space to be used wisely for our total program. Reduction of money for support staff and for new equipment and even supplies will undoubtedly create new inconveniences and reduce the potential for service. We must learn to live gracefully in new conditions, knowing that they are temporary and that we will move ahead more effectively even as we learn efficiency in the use of what we have.

I wish each of you the greatest success of which you are capable. Much will depend upon your own sense of commitment and self-discipline in educating yourself. Others can help, but no one can do it for you.

Emerson Shuck, President

WELCOME FROM A.S. PRESIDENT

Welcome, all you new students. Welcome back, all you old ones (no slant intended).

As President of the Associated Students it is my duty to inform you of your rights. You can pick up a copy in the Student Government Offices, 3rd Floor, PUB. Student government here is financed out of the tuition you pay to the college. You have to pay it. $7 per student per quarter for the next three quarters will be spent by the Student government to finance a lot of projects. They include such things as the Magic Bus and this Eastern.

Student government officers, like myself, spend out of class time spearheading innovative programs and providing entertainment for the average student. We get paid. NOT MUCH, but we are paid. We try to make our work meaningful to the students. Last year Student government started the Magic Bus service (cheap), started a nursery (small child-type), and made efforts to improve relations between faculty and students outside the classroom (not the kind you’re thinking).

This year Student Executives are looking at several of what we consider to be “problem areas.” You can’t drink in your dorm room here even if you’ve spent the last 18 months in Viet Nam and are 21 years old, or older. With your help we feel we can change this policy. We’re the only 4 year state college with this rule on the books.

Some people complain about the food service in the PUB. We’re looking into that.

We’re currently working with the bookstores to help lower the cost of books in the bookstore.

Students have been effective in helping to reduce the required number of hours for graduation (195 to 180).

If you’d like to help out, or if you think the students should be barking up a different tree, come to the 3rd Floor, PUB, and say so. We’ll be glad to sit down and tell you how you can help your fellow students.

Enjoy college.

Spokane became available through the stop at the corner of Riverside and Howard and at the third floor of the Spokane Transit Company at a cost of 25 cents per ride per student. In Cheney, the buses stop in from of the Pence Union Building and in Spokane they will stop at the corner of Riverside and Howard and at the Coliseum parking lot. Riders may park free in the lot and soon bike racks will be provided.

Schedules are available at both the information desk on the first floor and the Al's office on the third floor of the PUB.

"Sympathy for the Devil (1+1)"

"A movie experience of major importance... beautifully and carefully composed, a kind of testament to Godard's very original, creative impulse, which is unattainable by the world he would annihilate."

"A song of revolution unlike any that's ever been sung... Godard's use of a Rolling Stones recording session as a grand metaphor for growth. He devotes half the movie's running time to this. Scenes of the Stones rehearsing alternate with sequences of pop-political cartoons... the informing idea is sheer genius."

Ken Dolan, Financial Aids Director, announced that the prospects for receiving financial assistance from the college are still "good." Eastern provides aid or access to financial help through the Financial Aids Office, located in Showalter.

Several types of financial assistance are available, including scholarships, grants, loans, and work-study programs. Presently, only two types of aid are still available—National Defense Student Loans and work-study positions.

To qualify for National Defense Loans, a student must be carrying at least eight credit hours and be classified as "needy." A student whose income or whose parents' income is considered inadequate to meet college expenses is termed "needy." Pamphlets detailing the program and further information may be gotten from the Financial Aids Office.

The work-study program allows a student to work a maximum of 15 hours a week during the time he is enrolled. Jobs are assigned from various types of work offered by the college including jobs in Tawanka Commons, the library, the PUB and their campus facilities and departments.

In addition, the Financial Aids Office can help students receive Federally Guaranteed Bank Loans from area banks.

Dolan said that there is still ample opportunity for students to apply for and receive one of the three types of aid mentioned. Students interested may inquire at the Financial Aids Office.

Permits Needed

Eastern students must have student parking permits on their cars by 7:00 a.m. September 23, if they want to park on campus and avoid the head of the Campus security Police. Permits will be on sale September 21 during fieldhouse registration. After that, they may be purchased at the cashier's office in Showalter.

The permits cost five dollars a quarter or fifteen dollars for four quarters.

Cars that do not have the permit stickers on their windows will be subject to a citation or impoundment at the owner's cost he added.

FOUR DOORS EAST SHOE SHOP
Various Aspects Of Dorms

So here you are on campus, going to school at Eastern, and most likely this will be your first time at living away from home. More specifically, this will be your first try at living in a dormitory.

There are several things that you should know about these dorms before you try to begin your stay. By now you have most likely already been assigned to a dorm, so you don't have too much choice about which one you will choose, but let me tell you a little bit about each of the dorms.

There will be seven dorms open this fall; four of them are co-ed, two of them are all female, and one of them is all male. Most likely you will be assigned to either Pearce or Dressler Hall, since they are the largest of the seven. Beginning this fall, the two dorms will be co-ed for the first time, so those of you assigned to Pearce or Dressler will be first to live in them under that condition.

You will be living in one of the two towering structures and will no doubt soon discover that they are built rather addly. To be specific, they are almost round. That in itself is strange, but just wait until you discover that your room is shaped like a blunt-nosed piece of pie!

Most people don't seem to have too much trouble working this factor, and soon, when all the posters and/or flowered headboards are moved in, you'll hardly even notice the room's dimensions. It will be all you can do just to keep the dirty clothes from filling your room so that you can't tell which pair of jeans is under which book or vice-versa!

Some of the others of you will be living in either Morrison or Streeter Hall. These are the two "original" co-ed dorms, and are considered by some people to be the plumpest dorms on campus. If you are lucky enough to be assigned to either of these dorms, immediately run to your nearest sporting goods store and buy one set of knee pads and one set of elbow pads.

You see, Morrison and Streeter have walls made out of brick, which are quite attractive. BUT, when you are sleeping, and suddenly roll against the wall, you will discover the wonderful sandpaper qualities of the brick walls, as you scrape your knee. elbow, or if you are extremely adept, your nose. After a few runs-ins like these you will probably learn to roll the other way when you roll. That will of course land you on the floor, but most people seem to prefer that to reducing their appendages to scraped and bleeding disaster areas!

Morrison and Streeter have their share of good features too. There are nicely furnished lounges (five to be exact) on each floor, which you will either learn to love or hate, depending on whether you are a ten-o'clock-to-bedder or two-o'clock-to-bedder, or the lounges are often the sight of all night card parties or charade games.

If you weren't lucky enough or chose not to live in a co-ed dorm, don't feel bad, you've got thrills in store for you just the same. Perhaps instead of the co-ed dorms you have been assigned to Louise Anderson. A.A., as it is called, is a large shaped dorm, which houses none other than the L.A. ladies. These girls seem to be more than active in their various activities, such as midnite raids, various dunkings in the showers, or even if just to borrow a wad of curlers.

The other all-girl dorm that will be in operation this fall is Dryden Hall. It sits high up on the hill, across the street from Morrison and Streeter and houses three floors of females, as does L.A. As a Drydenite you will be able to experience the thrill of T.P.'ing (Toilet Papering) a friends room, deciding to have a pop corn feed at three in the morning, or just relaxing in the spacious lounge.

With these six dorms mentioned, we are left only one, the only male dorm on campus, Sutton Hall. For those who choose to live there it is reputed to be enjoyable living as a "Sutton Animal." However, one puts up with an artistic array of pipes running through your room, loud people at all hours as well as many unscheduled surprises. Its location is quite active in their various activities, across the street from Showalter, and enjoys a very centralized location on campus.

Well, that tells you a bit about each of the dorms here on campus. But unfortunately, that's just about ALL it tells you. It doesn't tell you anything about how to get along in one of them.

That is quite another problem, for it involves a number of factors. Life in a dorm can be and is quite enjoyable for some people. There are certain rules that you have to observe, with SEVEN DORMS WILL be open on the Eastern campus this fall. Four of the dorms, Morrison, Streeter, Pearce, and Dressler will be co-ed. Of the other three, Dryden and Louise Anderson are women's residences and Sutton is a men's hall. Of the dorms not shown Dressler is a "sister" dorm to Pearce, and Streeter is constructed like Morrison.

Dorm Life And How To Survive

the worst of those being "hours." This is a term used to describe when men can visit women and when the women can visit men, but more importantly when they can't!

Hours vary slightly from dorm to dorm, so it would be wise for you to check to find out your particular hours when you move in. After you get used to the hours, you will find that you are pretty much on your own. You won't have a mother or father to decide that for yourself. After a month or two you will find your own routine of when you have to do what in order to get by, so don't let the confusion of the first few weeks shake you up.

There are washers and dryers in all the dorms, and if you can manage to wash all your clothes between two and five in the morning, you will have no problem in finding a free machine. However, if you try to wash at anywhere near "normal" hours, you will usually have to wait a while. So just throw your bundle into the laundry room and with any luck, in a week or two you'll be able to get it done.

You'll also find a variety of recreational activities in the dorms, but if your imagination takes you, you can always resort to pool or ping pong, as most of the dorms have these facilities.

In addition to these facilities, you'll find kitchens on each floor, or if you are in one of the "underprivileged" dorms, you may have to go to another floor, but it should be there some where.

When you've tired of exploring the campus and your dorm you'll find that before long you'll start to play the age old game called "Decorate Your Room." This fun game may be played by one person, two people, or it's a game the whole family can play.

There are a number of ways to decorate your room, but after looking at many rooms in the dorms, it seems that your room on campus tends to usually look somewhat like your room at home. If you had a messy room at home, expect the same here.
If you are a tidy type, you should be able to continue in your ways. But most people agree that whether you are messy or not, it helps a room greatly to decorate it.

Whether you put up posters or wall hangings of your favorite fabrics, you can do quite a bit to make your room feel like home.
Posters vary, from psychedelic marvels to peaceful nature pictures, and they can make your room look like anything from the Cheney Filmore to a Wild Game Preserve.

Add to the posters any number of little odds and ends you might have, like beer bottles or a few hundred stuffed animals, and all your other personal touches, and you'll end up with a room that you'll be able to live with for a while.

Although almost all the rooms in the dorms are pretty much identical, after two weeks you'll ever know it. I have yet to see two identical rooms after people get them "decorated.

Individuality is what counts in making a great place to live, so let yourself go and make the most of it.

Dorms can be a really fantastic place to live if you just get involved, meet the people on your floor, and live a little.
There's great potential in each room and it's up to you to find it.

Floor parties and various other activities all help in getting to know the rest of the people on your floor, who will be your cohorts in crime for the quarter.
The important thing is to discipline yourself so that you get your studies done as well as your running around, for without good grades you won't get a chance for a second quarter.

So take a few weeks to figure out a fairly regular routine for yourself, find out when you have to study, when you have to eat, when you have to go to classes, and when you have time to relax. After you get a grip on things and figure out which way you're headed, you'll find that you can really have a blast in the dorms. The freedom and individuality that you will experience will more than make up for any disadvantages that you might find in your new home.

It will be a new way of life,
but one that you should enjoy,
so give it your all, and best of luck!

There are a number of activities off-campus in addition to those found here around our alma mater. These range all the way from wildlife refuges to swinging night spots, with various activities hitting on just about everything else in the middle.

This article is written assuming that you are not from the Spokane area, because we figure that if you are then you should know most of these places already. So Spokaneites, you may ignore all this if you wish.

For those of you who are not from around this area, and who haven't got the slightest idea where to go when you find some free time, read on.

Although Spokane rates as a cultural wasteland, there are quite a few things that you can do for entertainment. You won't find museums, opera, or ballets of any standing, and the Spokane Civic Theatre's dramatic presentations are hardly award winners, but with luck you'll find enough to keep yourself amused.

THEATRES

Spokane does have quite a number of movie theatres, where you can see everything from Walt Disney to pornies, or from the latest releases to old vampire movies. You'll find a complete listing of these theatres in either the Spokesman Review or the Spokane Daily Chronicle, and the movies are listed there daily. If you do want to see plays, you are limited to the Spokane Civic Theatre or school productions, whether they are on the high school or college level. Civic Theatre puts out a good number of plays a year, and they generally tend to be "big name." You can call their number in Spokane, 325-0081, for more specific information about what is playing when, ticket prices and reservations. One nice thing about Civic is that they have frequently listed student reserved seats for only $1.50 which is a very good price, better than most movies, for a reserved seat at live productions, which are culturally rewarding to see, as well as entertaining.

BARS WITH ENTERTAINMENT

There are also quite a number of places in Spokane which fit into the bar-discotheque category. Most of these places have live music from various local or national bands, and although they tend to be overpriced and require you to be 21 to get in, occasionally they are enjoyable. If this type of place is your thing, just listen to KJRB for a few hours a day and you'll get the full rundown on who's playing where.

For those of you who aren't 21, but are 20 (or have fake ID that says you are), welcome to Idaho! There are a number of places just across the state line or in Coeur D'Alene. The Rock or the Ratkellars are two of the more popular places of this type, and again, you can hear their ads on the radio. And for those of you who are dying to see what the place looks like, the Rock has been having a family night once a week, so you can at least go ease the joint.

CHENESY EATERIES

Again, if you're not 21, you'll just have to pass these places up, but you can do as some of the Cheeny freaks do and gather at the M-n-M Drive In. Their deluxe burgers are only 35 cents, which beats the rest of the places in town by a long shot, and the atmosphere is typical small town drive-in-type thing, which is kind of fun once in a while. You can get the M-n-M to deliver by calling at 235-4403, and they average about 20 to 30 minutes on delivery time, as opposed to 45 to 55 for the Savage House. You should find menus for both of these places when you move into the dorm.

If you're a root beer fan, then you'll have to try the A & W. It's pretty much like any other A & W, but they have some of the best looking and best built amusement in town. For all you hungry guys, we recommend their special, an A & W waitress with nothing on it!

For dates or special occasions you might want to try one of the three restaurants in town. Both the Beehive and the Fireside like American food and boose, but our recommendation goes to the Chinese Gardens. They have a great atmosphere, occasionaly the other two, and pretty good Chinese food for fairly reasonable prices. You can even make a complete fool out of yourself and starve to death in the process, since they also have chopsticks on request.

That does it for eating, drinking or gathering establishments in town. As you can see, the selection is rather limited, but you'll find that they are adequate.

Well, you now have, in a nutshell, a few choices to put into your where-to-go and what-to-do file. Admittedly, the descriptions are vague and advice opinionsated, but in most places you wouldn't even get this much.

I haven't mentioned parks (of which there are several) or a few other cherished activities or places to go. Those you'll have to find out about yourself. Hopefully, though, this information will more or less give you an idea of what you can expect to find around here, and will give you a little head start so you know what to expect in each of the places.

The opinions I've expressed have been my own, and none of the places paid me to say what I said (too bad, I could have used the cash!) and your opinions of the places may be entirely different. The purpose of it all is just to give you some ideas on... what to do when studying gets too boring or you just want a night "out on the town." We're all in this town together, and I wanted to give you enough information so that you at least have a fair chance to discover that Cheney and Spokane aren't QUITE as dead as they may often seem.

THE LEFTOVERS

For those of you who aren't 20, or who don't have the required ID, cheer up, there are still places for you. In Spokane you can always resort to Charlie Brown's. It's good for a one time thing at any rate, just to see what it's like. They recently lowered the age required for entrance from 18 to 16, which no doubt didn't help the already-too-teeny-bopper atmosphere, but if the band is good enough sometimes you can ignore the rest of the surroundings.

The other place to go in Spokane is the Savage House Plza Parlor on N. Monroe. This is the big brother to the Pizza Parlor here in town, and it really has a lot to offer. There's a full variety of games, from pool to soccer, to pachislo, and there's always music playing too. Fairly often there's a local group playing there, but if not there's taped music, or you can take your pick from one of the best stocked jukeboxes in town.

There's no admission or cover charge at the Savage House, which makes it a VERY popular place budget-wise, and their pizza is the best around. In my opinion, the atmosphere there, which is free, is better than most of the places that you have to pay to get into.

That pretty well takes care of the swinging things to do in Spokane at night, and besides most of you won't have time to tool around in yet, so we will now turn our attention towards Cheney and the things it has to offer. First of all, you must realize that this is a very small town and you can't expect much. With that thought in mind you can usually find enough to do.

There's the Savage House here in town, which is the predecessor to the one in Spokane. Although this one isn't as big, they still have great pizza and poorboys. You can call them up and they'll deliver the food to you at the dorm or wherever you are in town. The number is 235-4003, but half the fun at the Savage House is going down there and watching them make it. They also serve beer (which, unfortunately, they don't deliver) so you can spend most of the night down there drowning your sorrows if you wish.

TAVERNS

There are three taverns in town, all of which enjoy a fair amount of business. They tend to attract different types of people, so you should choose them accordingly. Goofy's is the hang-out for most of the college crowds, and they have decorated accordingly. Shag carpets, pool tables, and a few semi-dark corners prove to be more popular than the atmosphere at Bill's or Kelly's Taverns. All three should be looked into, though, if a little alcohol suits your fancy. Each has a little to say about the way of life in and around Cheney.
Good things are supposed to be coming in small packages, but that's not necessarily the case this fall. We have lined up some of the smallest AND largest packages of entertainment Eastern has ever seen. So grab your heads and watch out. The first gift of the year is prints. We'll leave that for awhile. Some of the things I'd like to whip on you are new and some are old, but I think you'll notice changes for the better all around. So let's take a quick look at what's to happen this fall.

COFFEE HOUSE SERIES

The coffee house is local and regional entertainment in a coffee house atmosphere. This fall we are moving to better facilities in the old harbor. (Old S.U.B.) When completed we should have a good system of staging sound and light. We will also be havin' Saturday dances in the harbor).

COFFEEHouses will be twice monthly on Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays beginning at 8:00 p.m. Admission for E.W.S.C. students and faculty is free. 50 cents is the charge to public. We will be opening the new series the first full week of school with one of the area finest folk-rock groups "Border Song."

MOVIES

One of the last year's best received programs was the movie series on Sunday nights. We hope to make some improvements on a good thing. For some of you who sat through some pretty poor showings last year in that "fantastic new multi-purpose room" we have a surprise. By the time you get this paper we should (and I emphasize that) be ready to install the new projectors the new black-out drapes and the new CineScope screen! That should be an improvement. We've had hundreds of hold-ups but we don't expect more. However, things do take time (so they tell me).

Well, enough technical stuff, on to the programs.

We will be showing the following films on both Saturday and Sunday at 8:00 p.m. Admission 25 cents - E.W.S.C. students and faculty. 75 cents public. Sept. 25 & 26, The Bad Seed; Oct. 2 & 3, Joe; Oct. 9 & 10, The Sterile Cuckoo; Oct. 16 & 17, Paint Your Wagon; Oct. 23 & 24, Myra Breckinridge; Nov. 6 & 7 (Double feature), Hell in the Pacific and Kelly's Heroes; Nov. 13 & 14, The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie; Nov. 20 & 21, Blow Out-Blow Cold; and on Dec. 4 & 5, Waterhole No. 3. I should also mention that we did (as was advertised) have a confirmation on Mshh but the producer once again retracted the prints. We'll try again winter quarter.

Movies Part II

One of our surprise packages this fall is much more than just a grab bag. It is a second and new movie series entitled "Something Different". It will consist of some of the greatest underground films of our generation. It hits a bit on just about every modern film-making technique. Admission will be restricted to only those persons holding college I.D. Cost will be 25 cents E.W.S.C. students - 75 cents other college movie fans.

Showings will be every Wednesday, at 9:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. Again in the multi-purpose room of the P.U.B.

Our Something Different films are: Sept. 29, Teach, Oct. 6, Alexander; Oct. 20, Z; Oct. 27, More; Nov. 1 & 2,hippocracy; (special) Nov. 10, Fireman's Ball; Nov. 17, Gimme Shelter; and on Dec. 1, Peewy Jacobs. A bit different alright, but something to experience.

CONCERTS

In keeping with our policies of spreading the activities money as far as possible we still can expect the "lower priced" entertainment. But we still believe in going for quality rather than that "big-name" cost syndrome. This shows up (as last year) in less expensive but excellent concerts.

Friday the 24th (of Sept.) we have an 8:00 p.m. Concert with a Rock-Theatre. They call themselves "Earthlite Theatre". Their dramas are an east-coast favorite and their music is written by some of the old "Country Joe and the Fish" people. Looks good.

We have two other large concerts lined up for fall. Two male vocalists who fit into two very, separate styles. I think their names speak for themselves; O.C. Smith & Johnny Rivers. Yep, we've done pretty good with our money.

SPECIAL EVENTS

There are several notable specials to watch for this fall only one which I will mention now. It has the merit.

The gentleman's name is Professor McArthur and he holds much of the world's records in hot air ballooning. He is coming here for 6 days of speaking, teaching, ballonflying and flying at least one of his eight-story hot air balloons. He will be instructing a limited number of Eastern students in design, construction and navigation of the archaic aircraft. Classes will actually build a 20' high model, fly in the larger craft (elements permitting) and prepare for the N.A.A. license in free ballooning. And as the elderly gentleman put it, "have an opportunity to escape the tragedies of 20th century citizenship".
It is said that a picture tells a thousand words. In agreement with that line of reasoning, we present a pictorial essay on sports at Eastern.

EWSC has a full program of athletics, from varsity competition in the Evergreen Conference to intramurals. Shown on this page are pictures of various sports which may be engaged in at Eastern, including football, basketball, wrestling, track, golf, and gymnastics. In addition to these one will find swimming, tennis, water polo, riflery, and other intramural sports.

Home football games and track meets are held at Woodward Field, behind Pearce and Dressler Halls, and the majority of home competition in the other sports are held in the field house.

In addition to the present facilities, new physical education facilities are now under construction. The multi-phased project will greatly improve the amount and quality of activities available to students here at Eastern.
The Pence Union Building, in addition to being the new student union building, contains many facilities available for student use; the PUB, as it is called, has three floors and is centrally located on campus.

Food service and eating areas

On the first floor of the PUB are a number of the most widely used facilities. The food service area is located on the first floor, where students may purchase various types of food, from snacks to complete meals. Across from the food service area is a small eating area which adjoins the Multipurpose Room.

The Multipurpose Room is used by the majority of students during the day as eating and relaxing area. At night or for special occasions, the tables are moved away and the chairs are set up to face either a stage or a large movie screen.

The PUB Information Desk is located on the main floor also, and in addition to giving information and cashing checks, sells cigarettes and candy. This is also the location to pick up tickets and sign up for various activities.

Low lights and a casual, relaxed atmosphere may be found in the Den, next to the Information Desk. This two-leveled room is a favorite gathering place for many students and boasts an intimate and fundamentally designed feeling. The Den is often the sight of concerts and coffee house presentations.

Art shown

The Gallery is used to present one-man shows of art or other student art presentations. Announcements of art which will be displayed are usually printed in either the Easterner or the Focus.

In addition to the food service area and the Information Desk, food may be obtained via the vending machines on the main floor. Soft drinks, candy, sandwiches, coffee, and various other snacks are available in this area.

The bulletin boards on the main floor and the second floor are available for student use to post announcements or for sale items.

The second floor contains a variety of rooms, with lounges and meeting rooms being predominant. The main lounge on the second floor is well furnished and is a nice place to relax, study, or even sleep in the mid-day hours. Another interesting lounge is located above the main entrance to the PUB. At this location one finds a window overlooking the PUB, which provides a bird's eye view of people coming and going.

In addition to the many meeting rooms is the Television Room. A television is due to arrive soon, and when it does the room will provide another change of pace for busy students.

Postal facilities

There are numerous meeting rooms, as on the second floor, as well as a lounge and several balconies with good views of the rest of the PUB's main street.

In short, the PUB houses many of the vital activities of the campus as well as some of the more pleasurable facilities available for use by students and their guests. The striking, monolithic style of the building provides a sharp contrast to the rest of the campus buildings and is generally recognized as the most popular student gathering place on campus.

A.S. Offices

The third floor of the PUB houses the Associated Students offices. In addition to the offices of the executives of the A.S., one finds the Focus office and the Tenant's Union.

The council chamber on the third floor is a large conference room where the Board of Trustees and other high level groups meet frequently.
