The observance of World Goodwill Day may take the form of special emphasis in connection with particular regular lessons, speaking engagements, and social activities.

Necessary, courteous, helpfulness, justice, human nature, charity, friendship, and good will should be emphasized throughout the day.

The value of mental training for the purpose of settling international differences by peaceful means is emphasized in the renewed call for Goodwill Day.

GOODWILL DAY CREATED

THE PROGRAM for the second annual World Goodwill Day, to be observed under the auspices of the various National Associations comprising the World Federation of Education Associations, has been announced by A. O. Thomas, president of the World Federation. The observance will be on Monday, May 18, 1925.

To Be Observed Monday, May 18, 1925

(From the Journal of the N. E. A.)

GOODWILL DAY CREATED

Most of us have heard of the eleventh day of May which is set aside as a day in the year to be observed in the schools of the world as “Goodwill Day;” and, whereas, this day should be set aside in a significant landmark in the movement for international understanding and cooperation, it is hereby proclaimed that the eleventh day of May, which consequently becomes the second annual World Goodwill Day, be observed throughout the world as “Goodwill Day.”

It is hereby resolved that this instruction should be accompanied by appropriate exercises in connection with this day of affirming, in an effort to build a more wholesome patriotism for the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The salient points in my career are:

1. [First: Learn to know and control yourself.]
2. [Second: Study the other fellow. You cannot do anything without knowing him.]
3. [Third: You must be given in childhood, before the mind is trained for international as well as for individual conduct.]
4. [Fourth: Be courteous, kind and considerate; it is the most valuable investment an individual can make.]
5. [Fifth: Finally, be yourself. Profit by the experience of others, but do not parrot like little imps.]

Chairman remarks

Mr. Chairman, I have here a report of figures that are all tangled up in those crazy brackets. I am very sorry, but my head is so full of it. If you will look over these figures, you will see that I didn’t know how to guess any more. I wish I were a mathematician. I can give you a clear conception of those things, but I can’t do a fact. But just a week longer? Early as next week I should be ready to go next month at least a week a month later. Well, I guess there’s no end to this, and we can only hope for a good time.

Go West

“Do you like indoor sports, Mr. Price?”

“Vexed,” he said. “Do you know how to go on?”

Don’t Blake US if We Can’t Study Much Over at Monday and Other Quotations Which Emphasize the Significance of Those Things Which Enter Into a Way of Life

We see Paderewski play the piano. We listen to the average young business man or woman who does not know that brain training has anything to do with success. And even if an untrained individual found a way out of his own weakness, the trained man can go anywhere and do anything.

The Antelope

Grace: “Do you like indoor sports, Pete?”

Pete: “When I want to work much harder and never suffer from overwork, I go to the doctor.”

THE WORD OF “THE STAR”

Instructor: “What am I going to do?”

Student: “You are going to do what you should have been doing all along.”

TEACHING ARMS

That is the rub. Untrained individuals have an opportunity for training the mind so that the strength of those things which enter into a way of life may come.

Speaking of broken records—on Thursday, April 30, the Normal auditors met but a few loyal students. It was probably the smallest general assembly in the history of the school. What kept the students away?
