Two Easy to Let One's Liver Get Tangled Up With One's Philosophy, Says Speaker

"There is something remarkable about good music in life that produces the belief and movement toward that destiny," said Bishop Cross of Spokane in an interview with the Journal.

"Do not let it be in life without what you cannot live," asked Bishop Cross, "are you not willing to accept your philosophy? Love? Loyalty?" In answering his question, Bishop Cross emphasized the touch of desperation, of weakness.

STUDY OUR CONSTITUTION

IT IS THE DUTY of every student enrolled at the Normal to become familiar with the way in which the Associated Students are governed. Do you know how the officers of our association are elected? Are you familiar with the plan of government provided in the Constitution? If you are not familiar with these things, is your duty to right yourself on the matter at once. Study our Constitution.

DON'T FAIL TO VOTE

DO YOU KNOW that on next Tuesday the officers of the Associated Students are to be elected? Do you know to what extent the officers are elected to handle the affairs of the Associated Students for the quarter? Reflect for a moment and think what sort of an organization we would have if everyone would take the attitude of the "I don't care."

It is the duty of every student in school to help conduct the affairs of the school, and to help make our association the organization that we wish it to be. It will be important for us to say that we are doing our part if we stand back and leave the burden upon the shoulders of the faithful few. Each person is entitled to vote, and to take part in the government if he or she wishes. Each person is entitled to vote, and to take part in the government if he or she wishes.

WHY CHILDREN FAIL

A BOUT 20 PER CENT of the children fail in school because they have to lockstep in order to conform to a prescribed course of study administered by a supervisor with little vision than the 20 per cent who fail to function. I am convinced that the large percentage of blind alley jays are held because the persons holding them have been made to lockstep in school to the orders of one of these shadowy educational frauds. Yet, we call this a democracy. The remedy for deficiencies is not ignorance, but better methods of instruction. I will not hold that all of the future essentials of the training in school must be obeyed, but we can and must learn to control for the principles, instead of letting them lead us over the sidetracks that would lead to the illusion that we are finding ourselves strong. Every child needs a happy home and liberty, and children should reign supreme.—H. O. Dietrich, Superintendent of Schools, Norristown, Pennsylvania.

WHEN INSTRUCTION FAILS TO INTEREST

INDIVIDUAL PUPIL, accounting indicates that the educational value of the school has been too small. It is not the teacher's fault. The classroom instructions fail to interest the pupils. The industries practiced have been too closely correlated with the everyday affairs of life. The lack of reference to the pupils' everyday interests and other educational material in the average school curriculum is to make the study and recitation period superficial, inconsistent, and barren. Unless the teacher has unusual mental equipment and interest in her work, she will resort to mass instruction where every pupil receives the same text, and the pupils of the class will be all expected to progress at the same rate. The pupils of the class will be all expected to progress at the same rate. The pupils of the class will be all expected to progress at the same rate.
