The ASESU Student Council gave preliminary approval to a new budgeting policy Tuesday that would affect all campus organizations and clubs and sent it off to the By-Laws Committee for review.

by Kenny Lynn

The new policy, introduced by Jim Shields, AS Council member running for Finance Vice President, would "eliminate the inequities in the present funding policy," said Shields.

Shields said that under the present budgeting policy "those organizations that have friends in high places at the AS were treated unfairly" in budget allocations.

Under the new policy, campus organizations and clubs would be funded by multiplying their assigned budget index, a decimal percentage, by the total amount of funds available in that organization's category.

Of the total funds available to the AS, 56 percent is allocated to ASESU services and activities, 5 percent is designated for athletic programs and 15 percent is dedicated to departmental related programs.

Say for example, that one wanted to find out what the budget for The Easterner would be.

The Easterner is under the ASESU services and activities category, so to figure out its budget, one would multiply The Easterner's budget index, a decimal percentage, by 56 percent of the total funds available to the AS after deducting payments for Dorm Bond Fees, principle and interest payments and other such obligations.

Shields said he determined each organization's budget index according to the percentage of reserve funds that organization received in 1979.

He said that under the new policy each organization's budget would grow or shrink in proportion to all AS budget grows or shrinks.

Under the present AS funding policy, there is $50,000 allocated to a reserve fund to insure against a revenue shortfall. Shields' new policy would increase the reserve fund to $200,000.

If a program ran short of money under the new policy, Shields said they could petition the AS for more funds by specifying the use for the additional funds and giving a justification for such a request.

"Any funds not allocated, would be used for program development, such as new clubs, and any emergencies that may arise," said Shields.

"This new budgeting policy would allow Shilds to stabilize year-to-year budgets so an organization could plan ahead," said Marc Appel, co-chairman of the By-Laws Committee for the AS vice presidential candidates.

Other business conducted at Tuesday's AS meeting included a proposal by Terry Ross, AS Vice President, for a one-time, non-budget, special election, to raise the tuition waiver from 4 percent of the student population to 6 percent.

Rich Shields

Rich Shields has been involved in Eastern's student government virtually since the day he enrolled. After transferring from a junior college, he spent a partial season with the EWU football team before becoming a member of the AS Council. The accounting major quickly gained enough respect to become chosen Speaker Pro Tem. When asked what he enjoyed most about his two quarters spent as an executive assistant, Shields replied, "The challenge of taking a student's problem and getting results." Results seem to be the key to Shields' thinking. He single-handedly took the Tawanka locker project from start to finish. The lockers, which are now being installed, were the largest single accomplishment of this year's student government. Arranging for the students to keep the revenue from the locks is typical of the professional attitude that makes Shields popular with EWU's administration and students.

Later, Shields was faced with an inquiry of what needs to be done at Eastern. "I see three major categories of students at EWU: dorm students, commuter students, and students living off campus in Cheney," Shields says. "There are some problems that face each of these groups. For example, the tuition increases have recently been complicated by a state senator changing from Democrat to Republican. Another problem facing all students is the terrible procedure of academic advising and the lack of emergency loans. For commuter students there is a need to expand the Magic Bus system and I have been working to create an AS child care center. Problems for dorm students include the Morton Hall parking lot needing to be paved, the problem with fire alarm and the PUB expansion."

Off campus Cheney students face still other problems, Shields.

Mateo Arteaga

Do you want your vote to count? Then I hope you will vote for the individual with the most experience in student government.

My experience includes one year on the ASWU council, in which two quarters I was elected Speaker Pro Tem. I was member of the Finance and Budget Board and the Review & Proposal Task Force.

I started up the Tuition Task Force which is working to keep the increase in tuition to an amount we (students) can afford. My involvement in student government began in 1978 as the Student Body President at Yakima Valley College and I'm confident I can do a good job as the ASWU President.

My personal accomplishments as President include the AS News section in the FOCUS, the President's Report on EWU FM 89, AS bi-monthly visits to the dorms, with faculty representatives, and with clubs and organizations presidents which I chair.

I am also responsible for the AS survey (to get your input), the AS Awards (to recognize your accomplishments), the scholarship list that has all of the information about the scholarships that you are eligible for, the statewide Student Employment Policy Review Committee, and the PUB expansion committee.

Terry Ross

Who is Terry Ross? My list of experience at EWU includes: AS President, BSU President, Dressler Hall President, AS Legislator, AS Finance Board, AS Budget Committee, Intercollegiate team, ROTC (No. 1 Cadet), Student Alumnus Council, Circle K club, Young Republicans, Trustee, Invervarsity Christian Fellowship, Athletic Policy Board, Alumni Association, WAUS, Foundation Board, Administrative Advisory Group, and the PUB Expansion Committee.

I have been a president of something for three out of the four years that I have attended EWU. My unparalleled experience in the AS realm, and my faith in the Lord, gives me the strength to be the strong leader we need for president. My strong rapport with the faculty, administration, and the Board of Trustees will enable me to be a liaison between the student body and the administration. I do not intend to take all of the credit for the excellent work that has been done by the ASB this year, but I can take credit for organizing it. My administration has worked hard on such issues as LA Hall, the Tawanka locker project, and the tuition increase. We are also currently working on computerization, an off-campus housing guide, and the possibilities of an on campus childcare facility.

Terry is the person you need for AS president. I am the person you need to be chosen Speaker Pro Tern. I was member of the Finance and Budget Board and the Review & Proposal Task Force.

I am also responsible for the AS survey (to get your input), the AS Awards (to recognize your accomplishments), the scholarship list that has all of the information about the scholarships that you are eligible for, the statewide Student Employment Policy Review Committee, and the PUB expansion committee.

Richard Payne

Richard Payne is a 29-year-old communications major. He is married and has one child. He is a past AS president, AS vice president and AS senator from three other colleges.

Mr. Payne was involved in school government in high school and, in fact, founded a political party that survives today.

He is active in the Knights of Columbus and is a past officer as well as chief counselor of its youth group, "The Squire." Mr. Payne has won a major college journalism award for his political editorials. He was very active in the last national election, and served as an advisor to the Young Republicans. He is an active member of Eastern's Foremen Team, and has been on the Dean's Honor roll most of his college career.

Proflammatically, he was a retail sales manager in charge of a budget, and a staff much larger than the ASB's, which should be of great value to him as ASB President. Payne is running because of his dissatisfaction with the current list of candidates.

I believe in a free press so allowing itself to become a soap box for a few select writers with an ego problem. It should also operate within its budget and a staff much larger than the ASB's, which should be of great value to him as ASB President. Payne is running because of his dissatisfaction with the current list of candidates.

I believe in a free press so allowing itself to become a soap box for a few select writers with an ego problem. It should also operate within its budget and maintain some level of respectability. The Easterner needs some help."

Jim Gutierrez

Who is Jim Gutierrez? My involvement in activities having an impact on student life at EWU as an ASWU Executive includes: Tuition Task Force, Commuter Concerns Committee, Activities Programming Board, PUB Expansion Committee, Student Union Board of Control, Centennial Homecoming Committee, Current Issues Board, Student Employment Policy Review Committee, and Mayfest Committee.

As a major in business finance, I am concerned about the expenses of education going up while available monies are becoming more scarce. The difficulty imposed upon students by this state of affairs calls for strength in leadership in the presidency of AS. The president needs to be someone who has as his primary interest the personal and financial concerns of the students. The president needs to be abreast of legislative actions and budgets which affect student life.

The president also needs to be aware of expenditures and budget allocations which impact the cost of education. As president, the student must be involved in providing student inputs into this process by maintaining a healthy communication network with student organizations and their presidents.

I am the type of president.

Our next president must have courage and convictions to act in the face of adversity when the needs, problems and concerns of students are at issue. Our next president must be strong enough to be fair, honest, impartial, and trusting of those with whom he works. Our next president must also be strong enough to act in controversial situations to enhance the harmonious functioning of AS in spite of criticism from detractors.

I would be that type of president.

Marc Appel

Marc Appel, the first finance vice president in Eastern’s history, impressed everyone with his hardworking, people-oriented attitude. The political science major established the office of vice president of finance this fall quarter after transferring from Columbia Basin College where he was student body president. In addition to vice president of Finance, Appel also served as chairman of the AS Finance and Budgeting Board and is currently a Supreme Court Justice, while maintaining a 3.83 G.P.A. As assistant to the EWU’s vice president in charge of planning and budgeting, Appel has acquired valuable insight on University policies and structure.

Dave Rudy

What are the reasons a person has for running for an AS position? Is it for recognition, a sense of being a public figure, for the money or what is it? The phrase Associated Students stands for all the students on the campus as a whole. People who get elected to the AS will be representing about 8,000 students. It is their views and concerns that one should know about.

Some candidates make certain promises that are unattainable, but they sound good to the voters. But after the election they find out that the promise they made was unrealistic. The only promise one should make (which I will) should be as to what is best for the students at Eastern. A person might have some great ideas they would like to implement but they are only one person’s views and not those of the other students.

Being a dorm president has given me the experience of working with a council and planning and running two separate weekly meetings. This is no small job. The experience would be extremely helpful in undertaking the job as Executive Vice-President. Also, by being a member of the AS I have the ability to speak up for the students at Eastern.

In order to have a smooth transition from old officers to the new ones, it is important to have experienced people fill those offices.

In order to be an effective AS officer, one must have the right attitude. My attitude is this: I want to represent the students of Eastern Washington University, and I know I can. I am concerned about their concerns and I WILL WORK FOR THEM! I would like to thank The Easterner for the opportunity to have my picture taken and published, also for the chance to express my ideas.

Jim Weston

Who is Jim Weston? Currently an executive assistant and an economics major, I feel that I am the best qualified to be the next vice-president of the Associated Students of Eastern Washington University.

I am a graduate of Mead High School, an ex-commuter, and after receiving an Army ROTC scholarship last summer, I moved to campus and now live in Pearce Hall. I feel that I have an insight that most people never have— the problems associated with both campus residents and commuters. Election to the vice-presidency would give me the chance to work on the issues that concern these groups.

As an executive assistant this year, I have worked on gathering scholarship information, made significant gains in the faculty student government relations, worked on the AS Awards project, and developed a framework for a comprehensive housing handbook to aid both campus and off-campus students. I have also seen the AS as a whole, make a great effort towards increasing student-government affiliation, making the government work for the student more than ever before.

Resulting from this, I have seen in Tawanka locker project, the Hall House, I.D. cards, Bon Mar.

Dean Haller

Hi, my name is Dean Haller. I am running with Rich Payne. I am seeking the office of vice president because I believe that it is time for a change.

Shields and Appel claim that they are the answer, but do you know what the question is? It is time for a change.

DO YOU WANT MORE OF THE SAME TYPE OF GOVERNMENT?

MENT THAT YOU HAVE HAD?

That is do you want the unstable and unreliable types that have occupied the office this past year?

Do you want an AS president that has beat up reporters? Or would you settle for one who merely supports the guy who did?

Do you want a student who cannot run the newspaper within its budget and prints the National Enquirer wouldn’t touch?

You may also prefer a white knight in shining armour running windmills in Olympia?

Morrison has been promised a paved parking lot and word has it that it has been paid for... So why haven’t they got it?

The one chance they had to show themselves (Anderson Hall), they carried on like a bunch of 1960s radicals.

If you approve of the fighting, a new executive assistant each week, a newspaper that goes $17,000 over budget, then anyone (but Payne/Haller) is the team to vote for. There are those who claim to be the answer and maybe they are—if you want more of the same! I believe it is time for a change.

I was active in the last national election, as president of the Young Republicans. I believe that I made some very good friends that would be good friends for Eastern. I was thinking about the problems on campus, particularly those dealing with the dorms (I LIVE IN THE DORMS), then I started asking the dorm presidents the why's.

Jody Cheever

I believe in us! “Us” being a student government united, strong and therefore progressive. The political science major, I feel that I am an executive assistant and stand for all the students on the campus as a whole. People who get elected to the AS will make a difference.

As an executive assistant this fall quarter after transferring from Columbia Basin College where he was student body president. Not eating in Tawanka

Editor:
Off campus students demand equal rights. I am referring to meal tickets.
Recently I purchased a ten meal-Breakfast/Lunch ticket for $15. Like any normal, red-blooded student I could do, my lunch ticket went through the washing machine and was destroyed beyond recognition. Knowing how many meals I had left and having the receipt with my lunch ticket number on it, I asked for a replacement. I still had $9 worth of meals left and for a student, that is a fortune. The woman working in the office said, "We have no idea how many meals you've had," and they could not replace it.

said, "Among them is the childish wheel lock procedure" and "inadequate" service at the Student Medical Center.

Shields is involved with the Tuition Increase Task Force, the PUB Expansion Committee, and the Campus Safety and Fire Committee. He feels that committee work is one of the best ways to get students involved. "My only hope is finishing is that all students would vote for the ticket they think they would do the most for them because students deserve more for their money than what they got this year."

needs and concerns of women. I propose an association for women, with an executive position within the council to report and coordinate activities for women.

"I believe I could do a much better job selecting executive assistants. My first requirement would be to fill one of those offices with a communication expert to improve the poor communications network that exists now."

"If elected, the students would get a state-of-the-campus address once per month, each month in a different dorm. I believe in going to the students and asking. And, of course, my office would be open to them (the students) any time."

I'll only make one promise: I'll never approve of any expenditure that would not meet with your approval. I promise that not one cent will be spent that doesn't involve something that all students can get a benefit from.

"I'll never do anything to insult the office of ASB President, or reflect in a negative way on the students I am elected to represent."

"You'll hear about the experience of those who run against me, but ask yourself..."do you want more of the same, or is it time for a change?" It's time for a president that represents all Eastern students. It's time for Richard Payne."

Scuba classes revived

Walking between the library and the Science building you suddenly hear "rat-a-tat-tat, rat-a-tat-tat" and throw yourself to the cold, hard ground. You quickly cover your head, drowning out the sound of rapid machine gun fire. You see your life pass before your eyes and say a final prayer, before you die.

Suddenly there is silence. Slowly you stand, looking to see how many were killed and/or maimed for life.

At this point you realize that not only is the world not coming to an end, but you just made a total fool out of yourself. You ask yourself: what is that strange and frightening sound was.

by Debbie Bohnet

According to Jim Lott, an employee in the Physical Plant, the sound is nothing to worry about. He said the noise is caused by an air pump and a vacuum pump located on the first floor of the Science building.

Lott said, "The noise is made by a compressor taking in outside air or exhausting air from the lab rooms." There are two compressors for each side of the building. When any compressor is used during the course of a day, the pressure is lowered. This automatically turns the pump on to raise its' pressure level. The vacuum pump usually turns itself on when it drops to a level of 12 pounds per square inch (PSI) and stops at 20 PSI. The air compressor in at 46 PSI stopping at 85 PSI, he said.

This explains the constant on and off sound of the garnet machine.

What was that noise?

Krause appointed to rules committee

Dr. Jerry Krause, basketball coach at Eastern Washington University, has been appointed to a three-year term on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee.

Completing his 14th season at Eastern where his teams have a collective record of 222 victories and 151 defeats, Krause will be a Division II regional representative on the committee.

Krause has been active for many years in national basketball coaching activities and he serves currently as a nonvoting member of the rules committee.

The only way to effectively pick the winners was to be aware of which trainers like to fire their horses at the beginning of a meet.

Some of the horses being run at Yakima will be moving to Coeur d'Alene which opens April 4 and then to Spokane's Playfair June 5, bringing the racing scene much closer to home.

Long Acres I would like to ride at Santa Anita, but I would have to be 116 pounds with tack. He has already lost the 30 lbs. he put on during retirement in the last six months to get back to jockey weight. The betters at Yakima found themselves in a much less dynamic situation. They were lucky to leave with their shirts on. Most of the horses had not run since the fall closing of Yakima on Nov. 29.

The only indicators of the horses' conditions was a few clocked workouts and many of the horses showed no work at all in the duty on the rules committee.

The only way to effectively pick the winners was to be aware of which trainers like to fire their horses at the beginning of a meet.

Some of the horses being run at Yakima will be moving to Coeur d'Alene which opens April 4 and then to Spokane's Playfair June 5, bringing the racing scene much closer to home.

Matmen finish; region tourney next

After finishing fifth in the Washington State Championships at Central Washington University without heavyweight Dan Thew in the lineup, the Eastern Washington Wrestling team is preparing to challenge for regional honors in California.

Thew, sidelined last week after injuring his last shoulder, is expected to join coach Stan Opp and four teammates in the NCAA Division II Western Regional Championships at Cal State-Bakersfield starting Monday, Feb. 23.

Thew has won 32 consecutive matches and the 225-pound junior from Spokane completed the regular-season portion of his 1980-81 campaign with a perfect 24-0 record, including 16 pins. He injured the shoulder while defending star 390-pounder Dan Morrow at Washington State University Feb. 7, although he did not admit the injury until the middle of last week. He is expected to be ready for the regionals.

Also scheduled to make the trip are Jack Wise, Ted Navarre, Dave Karas and Mike Sullivan. Wise suffered his first defeat of the season while finishing second in the Washington State Championships at 132 pounds. Karas finished second at 143 pounds. Navarre wrestled at 134 pounds.

R-ball teams still strong

The Eastern Washington University men’s track team traveled to Moscow and the Human Race College and returned Tuesday after a strong showing at the Bozeman Invitational, last weekend.

by Phil Smith
Sports writer

Brett Waldron, John Houston, Chuck Epps, and Dennis Sullivan were all outstanding in a strong team effort.

Waldron won the shot put with a 54 foot heave. Houston, a freshman from Moses Lake won the triple jump, leaping 47" and finished second in the 55 meter hurdles.

Epps finished a solid second in both the 800 and 3000 meters, and Sullivan soared an indoor personal best 2342 to win the long jump.

Coach Jerry Martin was somewhat disappointed in the middle and long distance runners but explained, “The long trip physically takes a lot out of the distance runners. If we had been in Bismarck a couple of days earlier, it might have been different.”

“Right now, our conditioning is ahead of previous years,” said Martin. “And, I am really looking forward to the outdoor season.”

Maplestone in hall of fame

Bob Maplestone, former distance-running star at Eastern Washington University, has been selected for induction to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame.

Maplestone starred at Eastern 1971-74 and has continued to excel in a frequently interrupted post-graduate career which has seen him serve as cross country coach and assistant track coach at Highline Community College where he has been instrumental in the development of several outstanding distance runners.

Maplestone will be inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame at the Outdoor Track & Field Hall of Fame Dinner to be held May 30 in conjunction with the NAIA National Outdoor Track & Field Championships at Texas Southern University in Houston.

As an Eastern student, Maplestone, who recently became a naturalized American citizen, twice won the NAIA outdoor mile championship and finished second in his other two seasons of competition. He posted a career best in 3:58.5 while placing second in 1973.

Maplestone set an NAIA record by winning the 1,500 meters in a then-record 3:59.2 to set a record for a British citizen in the 1973 San Diego Indoor Championships and was clocked in a record 4:04.6 while winning the invitational mile at the 1971 Drake Relays. He also won several NAIA District 1 honors.

In three seasons as Highline CC cross country coach, his runners captured two championships and runners he coached at Highline won four mile championships.

Women crush Alaska twice; tough Oregon road trip next

Fighting for survival in the Northwest Women's Basketball League this season, Eastern Washington University will face its busiest week of action since the start of the season.

The Eagles hosted independent Alaska-Anchorage and high-scoring Eva Robinson Monday and Tuesday before traveling to Oregon State and University of Oregon this weekend.

EWU, the defending champion, saw its winning margin drop to 4-3 last Wednesday when the Eagles fell far back at the start and, after failing to catch Washington State University, 64-61. Eastern had brought in four new players to give it first place in Mountain Division standings.

Coached by Bill Smithmeyer, EWU has a 9-12 season record. The EWU women ripped the University of Alaska-Anchorage twice last week in basketball action with 12 points. The Eagles posted 25 points on the board before their opponents could score and led by half of the score at 41-11.

Teresa Willard led the Eagles scoring attack with 10 points while midfielder Marlene Loos netted 16 while pulling down 13 rebounds. Loos was also instrumental in holding Anchorage's high-scoring Eva Robinson to five points, nearly 20 below her average.

Coach Bill Smithmeyer found plenty of opportunities to give his reserves playing time and they responded admirably. Kim VanDebrake came off the bench to score 11 points while Heidi Vedder added 10.

On Tuesday the story was much the same. Though the score was closer the Eagles outshot their opponents by hitting 40 percent of their field goals in the first half while building up a 10 point lead.

Fay Zarych was the scoring leader Tuesday, hitting 10 of 20 field goals in route to her 21 point total. Teresa Willard added 15 and Maria Loos chipped in 12. DeAnne Nelson dished out eight assists with some clever passing on a back-door play that resulted in several easy buckets.

Eastern visits Oregon State in Corvallis tonight and the Eagles will be at University of Oregon Saturday. Oregon paces the Coast Division of the NWBL after knocking off Oregon State, 86-68, last Wednesday. The Ducks are 7-0 in NWBL play and 18-6 for the season. Oregon State is 5-2 and 15-5.

Menken, a 6-5 senior center from Jefferson, Oregon, transferred to Oregon State as a sophomore and she has become the premier player in the Northwest. After scoring 35 points in the loss to Oregon, she fired in 35 more as the Beavers dumped Stanford, 79-61, last Saturday.

Menken now averages 28.9 points for 20 games with 11.2 rebounds and she is shooting 75.5 percent from the field. Margy Becker and Betty Collings also are OSU offensive standouts.

In EWU's only start last week, Eggart reached a one-season scoring record for Washington State. The junior guard from Walls Walls poured in 26 points for a season total of 470, hitting 20 points after intermission. The Cougars sprang from a 27-23 halftime lead to a 47-32 advantage as Eggart scored 11 straight WSU points.

Eastern battled back to close the score to 54-52 before Eggart's four three throws in the final 26 seconds wrapped up the victory for WSU.

Freshman forward Fay Zarych, effective inside in the second half, led EWU with 19 points and leading scorer Teresa Willard pitched in 17. Center Maria Loos rebounded in double figures for the seventh straight game. She and Willard had 10 apiece and Loos blocked five shots to move in on Menken who now has 121.

Willard, sophomore forward from Richland, continues to pace the Eagles in scoring. She has raised her average to 10.3 points with Loos at 10.3. Loos, the NWBL leader, averages 11.9 rebounds, averaging 2.54 blocked shots.

EWU athletes on Dean's list

Led by basketball standouts Dave Henley and Maria Loos, more than a dozen students involved with Eastern Washington University athletics distinguished themselves academically during the recent fall quarter.

Henley, a starting guard who is leading the basketball regulars in field goal and free throw accuracy, is a candidate for Academic All-America. A junior from Spokane, Henley, who attended Shadle Park High School, Henley posted a perfect 4.0 grade point average during fall quarter and the biology major, who plans to become a medical doctor, has a cumulative GPA of 3.61.

Loos, a junior from Royal City, Wash., has been a three-season star for the women's team. A native of The Netherlands, she leads the Northwest Women's Basketball League with 12 rebounds per game and ranks with the top 15 AIAW Division I rebounders in the country. She also averages more than 16 points.

Others connected with athletics listed in the fall quarter Dean's List include football lettermen Jim Brittain, Casey Mahaney, Cory Bridges and Mike Peterson, volleyball players Helen Balabanis and Jan Zorzib, women's tennis coach Sunya Herold, student broadcaster Dan McNinch and Kim Spacie, senior manager of the men's basketball team.

Brittain, a Columbia Basin College transfer from Tumwater, Wash., shared starting duties at quarterback last fall for an EWU football team which posted a 6-4 record. Mahaney is a senior from Port Angeles, Wash., and he shared starting duty at flanker. Bridges, a Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, senior who transferred from Boise State, was the punter and he will be starting outfelder in baseball.

Peterson, from Spokane, played most of the season at split end. Balabanis is a junior transfer from Spokane Community College. Also a member of the EWU gymnastics team, she is the daughter of EWU music professor Arthies Balabanis. Zorzib is a freshman from Tacoma.

Herold, who makes her home in Cheney, has returned to school as an undergraduate to complete her degree. McNinch served as commentator on EWU football broadcasts last fall and the Northport, Wash., radio-tv major currently is public address announcer for home basketball games.

Spacie, from Cheney, has spent three seasons as a program assistant with the men's basketball team and, during the current season, he supervises the program assistants and statistical crew for coach Jerry Krause.

All students on the Dean's List were required to have grade point averages of 3.5 or better for the fall quarter. Along with Henley, Herold (3.92), McNinch (3.71), Spacie (3.69), Peterson (3.65) and Loos (3.67) also have exceptional cumulative grade point averages at EWU.

Zornes inks new contact

Dick Zornes, head football coach at Eastern Washington University for the past four years, has signed a three year contract retroactive to the beginning of the 1980 season.

As Eastern graduate who starred as a defensive back and fullback on the football team, Zornes has directed the Eagles to 13 victories and six defeats in two seasons, including a 6-4 mark for the 1980 schedule which is the most ambition in EWU history.

The contract runs from July 1, 1980 through June 30, 1983, according to men's athletic director Ron Raver, who made the announcement. The contract may be renewed by mutual agreement, according to Raver. No financial terms were announced.

Zornes graduated with a bachelor's degree in biology in 1980 after serving as football captain during his junior and senior seasons. He has coached backs at University of Hawaii, 1966-71, then returned to Easterns to acquire a master's degree in physical education while working as a graduate assistant coach.

Subsequently, he was an assistant coach at Montana Tech and with the B.C. Lions of the Canadian Football League before becoming head coach at Columbia Basin College in 1977. His 1979 team in 14 games was voted the national junior college championship. His two-season record was 17-3.

Zornes returned to EWU for the 1979 season and the Eagles won seven of nine games for their best record in a decade.
Soccer tourney
a big success

A fine showing by EWU’s women’s soccer team and a lot of controversy spiced up the second annual EWU Invitational Indoor Soccer Tournament last weekend at Eastern.

By Dennis Hays
sports editor

The women won four matches and tied one in the five games they played. They were never scored upon as they rolled up victories against Brother Ray’s 2-0, Moreland Ties 2-0, It’s A Kick 1-0, and Missoula 1-0. The women tied with La Chapita 0-0.

Missoula eventually won the trophy for first place in the tournament. A complicated scoring system was used, giving Missoula a total of 23 points on the day, while Eastern had the better record and still finished in third place with 15 points, because they didn’t score as many goals as Missoula.

The bit of controversy occurred when one of the two EWU men’s teams decided to drop out of the tournament.

In the first game of the tourney, EWU #1 lost all four of its matches—to La Chapita 0-0, the SkyHawks 2-2, It’s A Kick 2-2, and Gonzaga 2-0—but soccer coach Mike Holland felt the tournament was an overall success. “I thought the tournament went very well,” he said. “There were a total of 30 games, a lot of fun and the women played very well.”

Games consisted of two 10-minute halves, and the clock never stopped. All games were played on Reece court and there were no boundary lines—the ball could be played off anything. Holland also said that, in order to make things even more exciting, the goals were wider than in a normal soccer match, making for more shots on goal and a more wide-open game.

The coach went on to say that he felt the tournament was good for soccer and that he would like to see more indoor soccer in the future. “If the pavilion can be made available,” he said, “I would like to have more indoor soccer. I think it’s a super thing for the sport.”

“I would also like to thank all the facility managers and people who made the pavilion ready for soccer,” he added. “Everyone who participated said that it was perfect for playing soccer. Everything went like clockwork. Everyone played well, and I think the excellent atmosphere was 90 percent of it.”

Eagles win four straight games

Eastern Washington’s men’s basketball team extended their winning streak to four games, as they swept weekend road games against Western and Simon Fraser. They then returned home Tuesday to destroy Lewis Clark State 104-71, in a dazzling offensive show.

by Kirk Findlay
sports writer

Friday at Western, senior captain George Abrams led the way with 18 first-half points, and along with some hot shooting from the field, which powered EWU to a 45-34 advantage at halftime. After WWU closed it to 56-51 with 11 and a half minutes to play, the Eagles scored 10 unanswered points taking a commanding lead, which they would not relinquish.

Eastern played their usual tough defensive game, as evidenced by Western’s 44 percent shooting mark for the contest. Eastern was also in control of the boards, 47-37, which led to many transition baskets.

“Mike Cranston and John Wade both did a good job for us on the boards,” said Coach Jerry Krause. “It was a great overall team effort and victory. I was very happy with our team play and aggressiveness.”

Abrams led all scorers with 22 points, followed by Wayne “Scooter” Petersen and Matt Peppers who each tallied 14 points.

Saturday, against Simon Fraser, EWU turned in another fine team effort, as five players were in double figures, led by junior Don Garves’ 18 points.

Eastern’s team decided that they had had enough. EWU #2 lost all four of its matches—to La Chapita 0-0, the SkyHawks 2-2, It’s A Kick 2-2, and Gonzaga 2-0—but soccer coach Mike Holland felt the tournament was an overall success. “I thought the tournament went very well,” he said. “There were a total of 30 games, a lot of fun and the women played very well.”

Games consisted of two 10-minute halves, and the clock never stopped. All games were played on Reece court and there were no boundary lines—the ball could be played off anything. Holland also said that, in order to make things even more exciting, the goals were wider than in a normal soccer match, making for more shots on goal and a more wide-open game.

The coach went on to say that he felt the tournament was good for soccer and that he would like to see more indoor soccer in the future. “If the pavilion can be made available,” he said, “I would like to have more indoor soccer. I think it’s a super thing for the sport.”

“I would also like to thank all the facility managers and people who made the pavilion ready for soccer,” he added. “Everyone who participated said that it was perfect for playing soccer. Everything went like clockwork. Everyone played well, and I think the excellent atmosphere was 90 percent of it.”

Both teams struggled from the field in the first half, but Eastern held a slim 38-34 lead. It looked as if it might come down to the wire, until with six minutes left and EWU up 70-66, the Eagles went into a four corner offense, which produced nine straight points, all by Garves, which clinched the win.

Krause credited sophomore Tom Demith for playing a super game, in particular a great defense against high scoring forward Jay Triano. Triano, one of the primary players in the North­west, managed to score 29 points, however, shooting a mere 42 percent from the field, 12-28.

Matt Peppers also played a fine game scoring 18 points in just 18 minutes, followed by Dave Henly, who added 14, Abrams with 13 and Demith who chipped in 10.

Tuesday in Reece Court, EWU gave Lewis Clark State a clinic, as the team ran up their second highest point output of the season, and dominated play throughout the game. After Lewis Clark State knotted the score 4-4 two minutes into the game, EWU turned the game into route, running off 23 of the next 25 points, scoring all but 1 in the first half.

Eastern’s way, as they scored countless baskets off the break, and rarely took a shot from outside 15 feet.

“Everything we did went right tonight,” exclaimed Krause. “If someone missed a shot, another player would be there to tip it in or draw the foul. I was very happy with the play of our guards. They were the spark that got us off and running, and they played just a great game,” added Krause.

The big men didn’t fare too badly either, as they swatted 13 shot attempts, to CC’s one. Ben Widman paved the way in that department with four rejections, followed by Peppers and Wade with three each.

Eastern closes out the 1980-81 campaign with games Friday in Spokane against Whitworth, and on Sunday at home with Simon Fraser.

Under rookie coach Jim Larson, Whitworth has improved dramatically during the season. Eastern blitzed the Pirates in the second half for a 68-56 decision on Thursday night.

Saturday senior Jay Triano, the Northwest’s top offensive player, is the key to the Simon Fraser attack. He will reach the 3,500 career point mark before Sunday night.
