Board Meets To Reconsider Building Plans

Never underestimate the power of student protest. This is what students are saying after the Board of Trustees met Friday afternoon.

The board which met later that day for its members was a complete opposite to the meeting that met last month. Sitting in on the meeting was R.R. Johnson, Harry Buchanan, Elizabeth Cameron, Last Schmall, John Smith, and Paul Vothmeier made the decision to move forward with the plans for the new building.

But last month’s progress towards the eventual completion of winter quarters by next February came to a screeching halt. If the women’s group isn’t propositioned, it’s going to start again.

This is what people are saying after the Board of Trustees met Friday afternoon.

The play which cut off the college’s financial aid to the women’s group was presented to the board this past Friday, April 2. The new project saved the college $1,000,000.

Then Mrs. Myrtle Johnson, head of the student body, got up and said that she had to see the building cut off. This started things rolling and the women on the board carried it further.

“I hate to see us Penny Wise and Dollar Foolish,” one student commented. “I’d hate to have future boards see what we’ve done.”

It was found that $100,000 could be saved by dropping one dining room. Interest on this amount could also be saved.

At this point, a resolution was made and unanimously adopted to submit the alternate plan for the dining hall for the new building.

In other business, the board approved a letter of absence for Dr. Raymond L. Schultz to a request in Tacoma for a position in the police force. It was approved by the EWSC’s board as well as the EWSC’s executive committee. It was approved by the EWSC’s executive committee.

A substantially lower proposal was received by the EWSC from a competing institution.

The motion was made by Mrs. Swenson, seconded by Mrs. Davis, and unanimously adopted to submit the alternate plan for the dining hall for the new building.

General Elections Draw Good Percentage

A total of 58.9 percent of the Associated Students voted in Thursday’s general election.

On campus students voted 94.2 percent of their members to the polls while the commuter crowd produced a meager 28.1 percent. On-campus men were topped by on-campus women with the gap producing 94.6 percent to the men’s 74.5 percent.

Statue Stolen From Auditorium

A 100-pound statue of Venus was stolen from the second floor of Whitworth Hall and later found broken on a block of from Whitworth College.

The statue, one of which stand just outside the auditorium, was discovered missing Thursday afternoon by one of the Eastman’s staff. A call was made in to the police, who had the statue recovered however, before any real damage was done.

Little Wins Prexy

Thursday night’s election results put five candidates into next year’s A.S. offices. Little Little as president; Sharon Perkins E. V. P.; Sue Heimsch, Activities V. P.; Chuck Sordorf, Treasurer and John Buchanan, Secretary.

General election results showed a great improvement on the part of Eastman’s student body: 314 students competed with the 81 total for the primaries, came out to cast their ballots.

There was no question over the validity of the nine constitutional amendments. An average 40% student vote each one into effect.

Balloting for A.S. officers took a slightly different trend but candidates who came out on top in the primaries came through in equally fine style for the general.

The widest margin came in the Executive Vice President race where Sharon Perkins with a 779 total exceeded her opponent Tom Padlock by 478 votes.

The presidential contest showed a slight landslide with Larry Little winning over Les Beirchko by 478 votes. Little took a total of 766 Ballots.

Activities Vice President also left no question of the students’ choice. Sue Heimsch led Larry Usa in the final tabulation by 255 votes.

Janet Gleason won the Secretary contest in a close race where Sharon Perkins took the lead. Sordorf carried the Chronicle at the time of polling, but candidates who came out on top in the primaries failed to carry the final count. Sordorf lost 564 over Jameson’s 450.

Students interested in the election results gathered in the terrace rooms of the Student Union to watch the final counts as they came in and were posted.

A short discussion on the program of students studying abroad ended the meeting.

The EASTERNER

EASTERN WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

THE EASTERNER has recently received some severe criticism by various campus personalities. It is felt by some that our subsections, especially the financial aid, need some immediate help.

Since you students pay for and read the EASTERNER it was felt that you could best determine what the necessary changes are. It is included in this issue an evaluation sheet which is to be filled out and placed in a designated box in the Student Union lobby.

Please answer the list objectively. The results of this poll will largely determine what if any changes should be made.

A Personal View

By Don Dressel

The magic moment finally has arrived. Just as I thought my wedding would be held in a snowstorm, my subscription had been written upon shifting sands, the Associated Student Council came through to my rescue.

As you perhaps know, by rumor in the new "rival" paper, I was invited to witness an Associated Student Council meeting—in ACTION. My first reaction was to run and hide, in regard to the official invitation, but after the first few frustrations I became used to it. I feel that it was a matter of time that the right "big move" was to be made at all. Several national chapters have expressed their interest in organization, the main thing is organization among those persons who are willing, interested and in favor of a Greek movement.

With Money...Our Own Resort

By Don Dressel

During the month of February we have witnessed a vast variety of activities. The snow storm was replaced by a series of meetings and debates. Among the most welcome was the spring-like arrival of fresh snow, with its sunshine and blue skies. While basking in this balmy atmosphere the young man's fancy was floating about. Among the things of sorts, and was bought from the Federal Government for the price of $1,000. At present there are no buildings or camping facilities established on the land but this will all be changed under the Government's five year budget, if passed by the legislature. The budget allows for $425,000 to be appropriated over a four year period. This would involve major steps.

Building will begin in 1963. The first step of the RAG and the MOP have met. Buildings are to be constructed of concrete with a steel frame. The second step would be the building of the permanent camp.

This would use the remaining land of the school for old buildings, which have been previously used by the science departments. It would be wide open for the building of a new foundation for old buildings. Buildings are to be constructed of concrete with a steel frame. The second step would be the building of the permanent camp.

The magic moment finally has arrived. Just as I thought my wedding would be held in a snowstorm, my subscription had been written upon shifting sands, the Associated Student Council came through to my rescue.

What's Your Verdict?

The recent election campaigns have brought out a great deal of criticism of the Easterner. Since this is your newspaper, I would like to have your views on this subject. Some students advocate drastic changes in the Easterner but before any changes will be made, it is necessary to have a representative opinion of the paper from the students.

I have no way of knowing your feelings unless you express them. Included below is the following questions to which you should answer yes or no. If you feel the answers since they could determine whether or not any changes are made, I would like to give the best paper possible and would appreciate your cooperation.

Question 1: Morally, I am opposed to the Greek system. Would I support it?

Question 2: They (the press) haven't shown any need for the Greek system regardless of statements to the contrary.

Question 1: I'd be a good idea if interest from the students could be created and enough would be willing to work for it.

Question 2: Yes I do. Because it would create better school spirit and more communication between the Associated Student activities through backing of Frats and Sororities.

Question 1: At the present time I don't think the campus is large enough. There are too many commuters.

Question 2: Eastern grows, I think it would benefit the school and the student body.

Question 1: I like it. I think it would bring prestige to the school.

Question 2: Yes, it would bring more people here.

Question 1: As other colleges have found, I think if we worked hard, I would like to see Eastern give them a try.

Question 2: I think it would give the campus more spirit.

Savages Dump Whits

The EWSC savage basketball team traveled to Whitworth last Saturday night and came home with a narrow 76-70 victory over the Pirates. The win was the savages’ “crackerbox” of a game.

Joe Allen led the Savages to victory with 24 points, 11 rebounds and a game-cooperating last second hook shot. Ted Bryan gained a win in the 200 yard freestyle and a 3rd in the 200 yard butterfly.

Benson captured depth by newcomer Ted Bryan Jack Benson and some added State’s formerly unbeaten State’s highly touted Stu Rehnstrom. Benson also captured wins in the still rings and horizontal bar, as the Savages captured nine individual wins in 11 events ,

Savage Netmen Ready For Action

Spring court contestants should see a strong well of opposition from the Savages tennis club this year.

Head tennis-coach Bob Anderson reported that three of last year’s five letterwiners are still eligible for play. They are Richard Sless, Larry Little, and Roger Kruer. Two of last year’s top two remaining spots will not be returning this season. John Gross, last year’s No. 3 man will be driving a school bus and No. 5, Pete McKee, will be student teaching this spring.

Fifty players turn out for the Wednesday night organizational meeting. The first official practice was held on Wednesday.

Dave Adams, an outstanding boys’ player transferred from Whitworth will be practicing with the team all spring but is ineligible for play. Adams should provide a great deal of fire to the team for the first match.

Coach Anderson said that players are still needed. All interested people should contact him in the fieldhouse or attend the first practice.

First scheduled match will be held April 6 and 7. All fans are urged to come out and support the savage netmen.

Savage Tank Men Swamp Idaho

Eastern Washington College’s swimming team coasted to its easiest win of the season as it completed Idaho’s splashers by a resembling 64-30 score last Saturday evening in the Cheney pool.

Jim Sturm captured wins in his specialties, the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events as he displayed his finest form of the season. Willman scored home to win in his favorites, the 200 individual medley and the 440 freestyle. McKee gained a victory in the diving event and England captured his individual win in the 200 yard backstroke. Todd Sterling also gained a win in the 200 yard breaststroke.

Other Eastern, point getters were Ray Yamashita with a pair of seconds in the 200 yard freestyle and the 200 yard individual medley to complete the savage scoring.

"New Forms In Concrete" On View At Sub

A photographic exhibition of concrete works in Oregon, "Presenting Architectural Con-crete," will be on display. The exhibition is sponsored by the use of exposed concrete, opened at the SUB last week. The exhibition will continue through March 12. Two hundred square yards done broad and consistent im- pressions of the terms of employment. Probably the big question which the prospective appli- cantes must be asked: What are the advantages of the big university over the small college?

Will we, or can we see what a good idea the ACP is? Respect- fully submit, however, that just because a thing is good is no reason to try to make it better. Like, for instance, Marlboro Cigarettes. Marlboros were good from the very beginning, and people continued to smoke them. Why? Probably because they were good. But we have improved the pack. They researched and developed tirelessly, until today Marlboro is about the most desirable cigarette you can put a match to. These are, in fact, some people who find Marlboro as admirable as they can't put a match to them. They just sit with a single Marlboro in hand and admire its fine point. Twelve years on the market, Marlboro is still the all-time favorite. Perhaps the deep love of the subject. Except for Rennie Sigalow, the main writer.

But I digress. The ACP, I say, is good but it can be better. Why should the plan be confided to small colleges? Why should it be confided to all colleges and universities, big and small, wherever they are? Let's start a federation. Let's call it the "Bigger Association of American Public Institutions of Higher Education." The members of this association would be the presidents of all colleges and universities throughout the United States.
What does an angel look like? Dr. Harold K. Stevens and the stage construction class had the problem of constructing an angel at an important prep for the drama department's "Summer and Smoke." The play will be presented at 8 p.m., in Shoemaker auditorium February 28 and March 1 and 2.

...the free world he lives in will be using almost a million gallons of petroleum every minute.
That's about 60% more than it used today—by 1971.
Where will it all come from?
From hundreds of places on earth you might never expect oil to exist.
Right now, for example, Standard's exploration teams are probing the ocean floor many miles out to sea...
...travelling across Arctic deserts, marked "inaccessible" on maps.
Others are climbing over glaciers in Alaska, pushing through the snow into the frozen interior of Canada, slogging through the jungles of Latin America.
In the last ten years, geologists from Standard and its affiliates explored in 47 countries on six continents.
Is the search paying off?
Yes. In the United States alone, we found two new barrels of oil for every barrel we took out of the ground.
The search will continue to help make certain that Jimmy and his generation will have the oil they need for an ever-expanding number of homes, cars, mechanized farms and industries...and provide chemicals from petroleum that will help make possible more exciting new products.

Eastern Washington State College has been named to participate in a government-financed research project through the cooperation of the United States Office of Education.

Dr. Robert S. Snawley, EWSC director of research, said 200 of the college's upperclassmen and graduate students would take part in the "College Characteristics Analysis." The project is scheduled to set standards and evaluate the total college through the students' point of view.

"It is a snapshot or mirror picture of the students' concept of the college," Dr. Snawley said. "It aims to measure to what extent the students are in accord with what the administrative faculty and students are trying to do here and to what extent we have the "right" program for those students."

Used in conjunction with the analysis will be a scale of values which gives an index and measure of student attitudes toward academic pursuits. The scale will be administered by Dr. Glen E. Maier, EWSC director of research, and Dr. Snawley will administer the "College Characteristics Analysis" scales.

Student Swaps Clothes

For Russian Icons

Icons are piousful in Russia. Western clothing is not. Mickey Cannons, an Eastern student appearing with the Ice Capades in Moscow last May, made a trade and came back to school in January with three icons valued at several hundred dollars. The religious pictures were displayed in the art department show case earlier this month.

Mickey, who spent the last year skating with the Ice Capades, made 300 bookings during the nine weeks in Moscow. The college students who traded the icons were most interested in adding to their wardrobes, especially shoes and ivy-cow.

The college students who traded the icons were most interested in adding to their wardrobes, especially shoes and ivy-cow.

The Icons were gems in gold, varied in size, from four to nine inches long, and were made in the shape of the Virgin Mary, Jesus, St. John, St. George, St. Michael, and St. Basil. The Russians often wear them as charms to keep off the evil eye and bad luck.

How About Sociology?
Vocation Hunting?

By Oral Cox

Are you one of those students who are in doubt as to what field of study to major in? There is nothing wrong with being in doubt, but there will come a day when you must make a decision.

When making the decision there are several things that will influence your final goal. Among these will be job security, pay, an interest and liking for your work, and finally and most important of all, job opportunities in your field.

Talking to various persons associated with the Department of Sociology and Social Work at EWSC, it is found that here is a field that is well worth considering. Each of last year's graduates in this field has been able to put his college education to good use. Some are doing graduate work and the remainder have found employment with various social agencies in their field.

As our population expands, the age-old social problems are being brought to the fore. As these social problems are being met, they are producing many new problems that have to be coped with. As these social problems increase, trained personnel in the field of Social Work are urgently needed.

The average salary of a Social Worker in 1961 was $5,210 a year as compared with the average teaching salary in this state which is $3,000. Financially Social Work can be rewarding job in this field is varied. They run the gamut from family service through teaching and research. If graduate work is desired before entering the field as a worker, financial aid is available in grants and scholarships. Some private and public agencies will hire a holder of a B.A. and then help him to complete his graduate work.

The most important consideration in going into Social Work is helping others. If you would like to give someone a helping hand, Social Work might possibly be what you are looking for. If so I would suggest that you contact a member of the Sociology Department and see just what is going on in this interesting field of work.
