Indian First Lady, Madame Gandhi, Tells Of India's Plan For Democracy

By Bob Stevens

Eastern's doors opened to a most prominent world figure and lecturer last Wednesday evening. She was India's First Lady, Madame Gandhi, who was introduced as "India's Prime Minister Nehru."

The guest speaker used the occasion to outline her country's plans for democracy, a subject which particularly interested the audience at American University, Washington, D.C.

"India is a country of contradiction. Almost any statement can be considered both true and untrue at the same time," said Madame Gandhi. "In 1947, India emerged from the motherland of Islam to become the free and sovereign nation of the modern India."

John Grosshans gets a little tender attention from Eastern's Alumni Office. Madame Gandhi has become, in her own right, a powerful influence in Indian politics. In its planning and working for democracy," she said. "Most of Madame Gandhi's talk was centered on the modern India which emerged in 1947 after gaining independence from Britain."

"At the time of independence," she said, "there was very little hope for the people of India. They lost their self-respect. They were poor, hungry and illiterate. A complete feeling of fatalism hung over the country."

The only child of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Madame Gandhi was stressed before a donation may be made. A system of edited has recently been established by the Spokane and Inland Empire blood banks in which donors receive a 12-month supply of blood. This credit may be assigned by the depositor at any time during the 12-month period following the deposit.

If the deposit is assigned to a group account it has the same value as an individual deposit. Only one assignment may be made per individual. An individual donor must be at least 18 years of age to donate blood. However, all persons under 21 must have written consent from parents or guardians before a donation may be made.

Students who may have missed a quarter may pay $2 at the Alumni office and bring the receipt to the kinnickinick office, SUB 204, according to Peggy Lewis, editor. All students who have attended Eastern for three quarters this year have paid for the book and are entitled to receive it.

The drive will begin at 9 a.m. in the Bali lounge and donations can be made until 3 p.m. closing time.

An Inland Empire record of 209 pints set by Gonzaga University is also hoped to be broken.

A special reduced-price ticket for six hours on Saturday will see Campus Carusor's "Vocal Chords of the Gary Hall lawn for the All-Campus Sing." In case of poor weather, the event will be moved to the Bali lounge.

At 3:30 p.m., students will have an opportunity to bid on student officers, faculty members in the Slave Auction. Slaves will be sold to the highest bidders and will be required to work for the purchaser for six hours on Saturday. The proceeds will go to the Student Bend, with the condition that the event will be moved to the Bali lounge.

The world of sounds will be brought to life in a program Thursday morning in Showalter Auditorium.

The audience will be able to match photographed legs, bodies and heads of several campus of the forthcoming "legs and bodies" contest which will be held this week.

Mr. Dressel

Dear Mr. Dressel,

You state in the beginning of your letter that you are not presumptuous, but throughout the whole of your letter your critical, I find the self- prefixed presumptions.

The first of these presumptions comes with your question: "Why did Francis Walter of the House Armed Services Committee state his position in regard to the Vietnam War? Did he not get his position from the Bay Area students' magazine?"

I may, perhaps, view your letter as a personal statement, but I have determined to correct a possible impression that I currently hold.

Consistently on the lookout for a positive image of the youth at our colleges. I am a student at EWSC, an institution with just as much fervor and enthusiasm to make ours a better world for you, as well as for ourselves and other young persons. And it is for my love of truth that I take exception to your comments on the pages of your letter. I pray you, instead of the self-appointed editor, you get the material for the "Fact or Fiction Eagle" column. Mr. Francis Walter, has added something to the table by simply adding a brochure entitled "In Search of Truth" put out by the Bay Area Student Committee for the Abolition of the IIAC's (House Armed Services Committee).

I would dearly love to be able to add something to the debate entered into last Thursday in the Chicago police department, saying that if Mr. Walter's erroneous charge that "The Hewitt Committee from the local television stations, supposedly furnished by the school newspaper, but instead turned over to a committee was only a propaganda INTO ABOLITION did not read page 38-40 (that Page 2 Part 2 Re- photon)"

I would dearly love to see OPERATION CORRECTION go on the air. Also I'm wondering if anyone else is going to make a film supposedly correcting a previous film that was not only a reflection of a biased point of view, but at least was not mentioned as being biased. However, I will hope you will join me by accepting the challenge even especially the one on the campus. I am teaching a special course and I asked some of the questions any letter may prompt. The object of the course has been to increase your personal interest.

Therefore, I wish to keep you posted on your erroneous articles. Mr. Dressel, as well as a copy of this letter hunts. I hope that my explanation and full explanation will be printed; it hardly seems necessary to spell out the great damage that can be inflicted by the film. I wish to speak of the film and/or unwritten presentations.

The report goes on to say:

When two representatives of the committee's staff made the trip to EWSC and KNX radio stations, they largely indicated complete willing- ness to turn their operations over to a committee. They were served with subpoenas as so that they would be covered legally.

As you can see, they were served with subpoenas as to why they were not asked to appear before the committee. They were served with subpoenas as so that they would be covered legally.

Can you say then that you are not guilty of the accusation which the members are willing to serve subpoenas on you? I do not rive your letter to mean that you are not guilty of anything. I do not agree with you, or any of your arguments. Add, to correct any impression you may have that these people are being tried by the board of directors and the president of the University. I believe that no matter how good the unwritten presentations are, they must be in full use of the writers own experience, and not in full use of the writers own personal experience.

This is not a retracement, as I feel I have a substantial right to what I am writing, and not in my editorial, and since I am not the sole author of this letter, do you not agree with the reader are here.

Deepest sympathy to my old friend, Mr. Rapp, whose life was cut short in its full use of the writers own experience, and not in full use of the writers own personal experience.

The most popular shape is the "watchtower" look, which is moving forward with high fashion acceptance.

The first thought for sport shirts is double-duty—on the beach or fun hat as bright and dynamic as past "hot" shades having cooled down a bit. Color, according to Robert L. Green, Fashion Editor of Harper's Bazaar, for "the tan look." Suits, jackets and shoes—a clean fresh, cool look for summertime. The dusky blues are running strong.

Mister of ceremonies for the season is the French suit, which is roseate pink, running from pastel pinks to bittersweet red, but the suit pants and sleeves will be taken more of a white.
Ex-Red Journalist Speaks Here

By Mike Lehman
Douglas Hyde, former editor of the London Communist, and a writer on the London Spectator, spoke last Thursday to Eastern students. His talk, "Students, Thieves and Traitors," got the attention of the campus, according to Dean Hagie. "We are trying to appeal to the youth of today through their idealism," he said.

Hyde, who joined the party in 1936, was 17 and was a member for 20 years. Youth is the "true believer" to Communists attract the youth of today through this idealism, he said. Very little of a youth who is thought of as a rebel is under supplies of being a Communist. The Communists then try to mold youth and turn them into dedicated Communists, according to Hyde.

Hyde said that for Communism to succeed in a new country, the old form of government must be wiped out completely and destroyed. Even the name of God must be obliterated before Communism prevails, according to Hyde. Hyde spoke of the extreme dedication of the Communists, and how he dedicated himself with his own experiences. He took of world history; from an Asian priest, after a Communist government; from defeated, in order to be in contact, in the face of the Red cloud, he was arrested (deliberately) for a minor political violation, thrown into a cell near the lead, and was able to communicate with the Communists. Truth was stricken with tuberculosis.

The doctor told him that he had tuberculosis and was under the poor conditions, and he said that Marx had an alternative: he could betray it by not being active or by making a secret repudiation.

When the London Daily Worker, the Communist's newspaper, World War II, Hyde's entire staff was forced to go into the army. They went as is educated men and almost all of them came out as officers. "And that," said Hyde, "is typical of the Communist's approach to war. He takes his Communists with him into his work, and he tries to use his work for his Communism."

The Communists are trying to mold the young minds of today, explaining that Hyde said. He explained that the Communists are more dedicated with a younger person than an older person.

This is happening all over the world, not just in Asia and America, Hyde said. Hyde was arrested (deliberately) for a minor political violation.

Eastern Couple Escape Near Death In Spokane Blast

Two Eastern students will certainly not resign to a horror filled spring vacation, Rich Ells and Janet Kroll barely escaped injury when the car in which they were riding was caught in the explosion which ripped through two blocks of Spokane's north side on March 17.

The Eastern pair were traveling down Monroe street in Rich's small black car when the building opposite them erupted into flames and flying debris. The car was blown completely across the street by the blast.

Rich said he wasn't too sure just what happened when the explosion hit. At first he thought he had been hit from behind, but then the clop top ripped off and began to burn. Although over $250 in damage was done to the car, neither of the two was injured.

Authorities are still seeking the cause of the blast which completely demolished several buildings on Monroe street, injured 31 people, and shattered with windows as far as 12 blocks away.

"My car is nearly fixed," Rich said, "but until they decide who is negligents I will have to pay for my insurance.

The couple started as an ordinary evening, but ended in a near disaster for the very lucky pair.

CRAM COURSE NO. 1: MODERN EUROPEAN HISTORY

The school your draw rapidly to a close, and it's been a fun year, what with learning the violin, attending public functions, and walking our cheetahs—but are we ready for finals yet? Some of us, I fear, are not. Therefore, in those few remaining columns of the newspaper we've foreseen opportunity for cram courses so that we may all be prepared at exam time. We'll present with Modern European History, a course which seems to be providing employment for more teachers, the course has been moved back to the Age of Pericles, or the Renaissance, as it is popularly called.

The single most important fact to remember about Modern European History is the emergence of Prussia. A whole continent was not made up of one nation: France, Prussia, Austria and Russia. This later became known as the "Dual Monarchy." Austria was consider to be the dominant element of this Dual Monarchy. However, Austria was not the only European power that was significant--England and France were also major players in European affairs. England was involved in many wars, both at home and abroad. France, on the other hand, was involved in many battles, both at sea and on land. However, the most important fact to remember about Modern European History is the emergence of Prussia.

1959 she became a member of the Indian National Congress, India's leading political group. Through her practical approach to economic and political problems, she has become one of the leading figures in India's struggle for democracy.

India's view on Communism

Madame Gandhi attributed this criticism to the slanted views presented by the American press. She had this to say, "He is not a communist. He stands for the brand of socialism which we are trying to promote through.

In a private interview following her lecture, Madame Gandhi commented on several subjects.

When asked for her opinion of Mrs. Kennedy's recent tour of India and Pakistan, she said she felt that the visit had been profitable in terms of American foreign policy. She was particularly impressed with the First Lady's ability to meet people on all levels.

When asked if India was in favor of England entering the Common Market, she said "It will be harmful to India, and we shouldn't support it in any way because of it."

Communism

Madame Gandhi made it quite clear that there was no internal threat from Communism in her country. Although the Communists are the second strongest party in India, the Congress party constitutes 80 per cent of the population, leaving the remaining 20 per cent to several smaller parties with the Communists among them.

Madame Gandhi was asked what she thought about stronger opposition policy in India, considering the 80 per cent swept away by the Congress party in recent months. In regard to any benefits such a party might offer, she had this to say; "I am not against it. Where there is a need for it, it will come. There are many basic things which we must do at this time for India. Besides, we have much opposition within the one party itself. Even in Parliament, the party members will debate among themselves."

After a brief reception which followed her talk, Madame Gandhi went to Swayne Rental to continue her lecture tour.

MADAM GANDHI

Madame Gandhi quoted the late Mahatma Gandhi's famous statement, "If not the most controversial, points of her lecture came when she explained India's stand on the earthshaking activities in Goa, she described India's military action against the Portuguese as a form of "self-defense."

About 5000 people who made up the Goa Nationalists committee in India were planning to march into Goa in a demonstration in 1955. Representatives of the group asked Madame Gandhi, then president of the Congress party, to head the march. She replied, knowing that such a venture would be a failure, since the Portuguese had stopped an evident demonstration by killing or wounding over 200 people.

Realizing that the Goa sympathizers were going ahead with the march, the Indian government decided that military action was necessary to save the demonstrators. Regarding the Goa incident Madame Gandhi quoted the late Mahatma Gandhi's (no relation) saying, "Violence is bad but slavery is worse."

Kashmir Situation

Later in her lecture Madame Gandhi outlined the situation existing between India and Pakistan over Kashmir, stressing the fact that the occupation of Kashmir by Indian forces was necessary in terms of preserving order in the troubled state.

With the consent of the Indian, British, and other governments, 117,000 Indians were removed from Kashmir at the last moment to quell mercenary violence which was threatening the country. It was later discovered that Pakistan supported forces would have taken the small community in 20 minutes had the Indians not intervened.

"We could have taken the land previously taken by Pakistan, but we did not. We did not feel that it was right, so we left it up to the UN." Madame Gandhi commented on several subjects.

"Kashmir is continually voting for the National Congress party. However, if only the religious point of view were presented, the whole issue would not go in favor of India. The people of Kashmir are predominantly Muslim, but are apparently in favor of India's form of freedom. It should be pointed out that over 15 million Moslems stayed behind in India after the Indian-Pakistan break."
