Legislators Discuss Budget

Plans for developing Eastern's campus were discussed by the visiting Legislative Interim committee July 13.

Every two years, the Legislative Interim committee, composed of five representatives and five senators from each state agency and discusses the amount of money requested by each agency concerning the next session. Eastern is one of these agencies.

Other fields of interest to this committee were improvements in programs and services and growth expectations, including such items as spending, curricula, and student and admission policies. Other items on the agenda dealt with the distant education programs of the committee.

The Finance administration presented a salary and operating budget, and also a six-page budget request.

As a sidelight, the committee found that the industrial arts building, Martin hall, the campus school, the music building, and the science building "had very high praise of the amount of spending for the amount of money spent," said Dr. Benjamin, president of Eastern.

In conclusion, this interim committee were represented by John Markin, chairman, J. E. Edwards, legislative clerk, Robert Goldworthy, August Marchese; and Robert Zoll, vice-chairman, Charles P. Morri- tty, Jr., secretary, Martin Durkan, Frank Poley, and Robert W. Leitart.

24 Workshops Offered During Post Session

Twenty-four workshops and courses will be offered during the two-week post session from August 6 through 17.

All students not pre-registered for the post session must do so at 8 a.m., August 6, in the registrar's office.

Students attending the regular seven-week session only need to pick up an "add class" slip and pay $1 in the registrar's office.

Students not attending the regular seven-week session must pay a fee of $17.50.

Room reservations should be made through the dean of men's office.

Most of the courses will be morning affairs, and all classes will be held daily. With the exception of three courses, all classes will be held in three credits. Students may take these courses, but not more.

Education in the kindergarten workshop will be one of the most popular courses offered. It will be conducted by Mrs. Margaret Allen, assistant professor of elementary education, EWSC.

Dr. Louis Grashoff professor of English and speech, EWSC, will direct a workshop for leaders of superior student programs. He will be assisted by visiting staff.

Workshop in new high school biology courses will be conducted by Dr. Harold Dunn, geologist, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colroado. An effort by all the vision of science will be source material for the SMU mathe- matics students in the junior high school—grades 7-9. This class will be conducted by Miss Dorothy Gahleen, associate professor of mathematics, EWS.

Possibly the most interesting class to be offered will be an advanced student trip under the super- vision of the geography department. This class will visit and study the physical geography, EWSC.

Dr. Benjamin, advisor on higher education in the state of New Jersey, is directing the study of Latin America in the workshop. Dr. Benjamin has degrees from Ore- gon State, Stanford and Drake universities. He has held various positions with Stanford and Drake, the Uni- versity of Minnesota, Colorado and George Pea- body College.

Dr. Benjamin will be editor of The Easterner during fall and winter quarters, as the paper will be the junior high school at their discretion which means they can expect a test one or both tests.

10-Act Plays Close Tonight

"A Phoenician Too Frequent" and "Hello Out There," one-act plays presented by Eastern's creative arts division, close after tonight's (Wednesday) performance which begins at 8:15 p.m.

The plays are being staged in the Blossom Theatre, and are directed by Dr. Harold St. Stevens and Mr. David L. Buzz, and are free of charge.

The cast of "A Phoenician Too Frequent" includes Paul Burton, Sally Laming and Carol Hill. "Hello Out There" has A. L. Lake, Herber' Norton, Jane Lof and Ann Burr in the cast.

Final Exams August 2, 3

Final examinations are to be given the last two class days of the quarter, which means, for most students, August 2 and 3.

The faculty may give the finals at their own discretion during the last two class days of the quarter, which means, for most students, August 2 and 3.

Sharon Williams will be editor of The Easterner during fall and winter quarter. Her selection as editor was announced by the ASC Commu- nications committee during spring quarter. A senior from Amherst, New York, Sharon served as news editor of The Easterner during the 1961-62 year.
A man's gold wedding band was found last week by children at the school. The owner may obtain the ring from Mrs. C. C. Everett, EWSC Alumni Association, Eastern Washington State University campus office, by identifying it.

Each summer more and more high school graduates begin their college careers with the summer quarter. Colleges and universities throughout the country are reporting the total number of new students registering for the fall semester is greater than in any previous years. Several factors have contributed to this trend. Many students take advantage of the summer between high school and college to avoid having to start school during the fall semester. The cost of college this year is higher than in any other year. The students are taking a year off from college in order to save money.
Planetarium Introduces World Of Stars To Eastern

A Picture Story By Chuck Plumb

A topsy-turvy world of stars and planets was introduced to Eastern recently with the installation of the Spitz Planetarium in the science building. The planetarium, built as instructional aid for the physics department, cost a total of $15,000. It is the second to be built in Eastern Washington colleges. The first is located at Washington State University.

Various things can be projected on the plaster dome, including a navigator's triangle, the sun, moon, globe of the earth and a satellite.

The stars are projected through small holes and lenses in this sphere and are displayed on the dome above.

Designers had comfort in mind when they thought of these comfortable seats. Installed at a cost of $5000, the seats provide a viewpoint for tired students. Insert shows student Tom Padoduk viewing the stars from the padded chairs.
Albert Kastl, whose work with law enforcement agencies has been a closely-guarded secret for two years, was the key witness in the convictions secured in Seattle last month, ending his services as secret investigator for the Department of Justice, the tragic death of Albert Kastl is unconnected with the investigation.

During the following 18 months, Kastl continued to gather evidence for the prosecution, adding two more victims this past week to extend his string of convictions.

The music department has added to its staff Mr. Robert Colness and Mr. James J. Edmonds. Mr. Colness, an assistant professor of physics, has been on leave for the past year, has returned to accept another position.

Dr. Horace Baumgartner was appointed to a staff position in the psychology department as assistant professor of psychology. He will continue to gather evidence that will assist the investigators in the conviction of other dope peddlers.

Five Straight For Eastern Softball Team

Eastern's summer softball team added two more victories this past week to extend their win streak to five straight.
