Education Department to Move Into Main Hall Quadrants

A major move is brewing on the WCU campus with the whole education department changing locations. This move will not take place until after the fall semester as the new hall will not be fully complete until then. However, completion of the new complex should be early in the spring semester, allowing the move to make more sense.

With the exception of the education and psychology, which will be reinstalled for use by the departments from the old Main Hall, all of education will be completed by the new hall will be dedicated to departmental use.

A committee headed by Dr. T. L. Brown has been working on the planning of the same time for the new hall. This work will be under the direction of the committee and the department's needs.
