ROTC Study Is Changed

A plan for a revitalized course of studies for all reserve officer training corps programs was recently announced by Secretary of the Army Brucker, Lt. Col. Erwin G. Nilsson, head of Eastern's ROTC unit, said.

Beginning with the 1960-61 school year, advanced ROTC cadets will receive 20 percent of their military instruction in university taught courses, such as science, psychology, communications and political institutions.

To make this change feasible military subjects, such as crew-served weapons instruction, will be taught during the six-week summer camp program, attended during the junior and senior years.

U. S. army officials believe that the new program will stimulate increased intellectual attainment on the part of the ROTC students, lessen the training load on students, particularly those pursuing technical degrees, and make the overall program more attractive, Col. Nilsson said.

The ROTC is the major source of officers for the U. S. army. At present, the enrollment is over 155,000 cadets, situated in 248 colleges and universities throughout the U. S., Col. Nilsson said.

Heath And Fansler Tangle With Cheney Police Dept.

Two Eastern students became involved with the Cheney police department because of their rowdy behavior the night of February 12, according to Dr. Daryl Hagie, dean of students.

Charles Heath, a junior natural science major from Hope, Idaho, was creating a disturbance at the Isle-land mixer and was asked to leave by Bill Dick, the union night co-manager, Dr. Hagie said.

When Heath refused, Dick asked police officers Davis and Fifield, who were drinking coffee in the union, to escort Heath outside.

Heath took the officers' suggestion and left.

Dick, after closing the union, was about one block away when Heath confronted him, Dr. Hagie said.

After a brief exchange of words, Heath belted Dick in the mouth and departed from the scene, according to Dr. Hagie.

Dick's mouth required three stitches and several teeth were knocked loose.

A complaint, charging third degree assault, was filed by Dick. Heath was picked up on February 15 and was a guest of the city of Cheney in their jail until 4 p. m. that day.

Heath was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to 10 day in jail with all but two suspended by Justice of the Peace Merritt Johnson.

The other incident also had its beginning at the union. Glen Fansler, a junior business major from Spokane, began creating a disturbance and was asked to leave by Matt Finnigan, the other night manager, Dr. Hagie reported. When he refused, Finnigan asked the officers if they could get Fansler to leave.

But Fansler had already driven away. Officer Fifield ap-

AWS Slates Nominations

The Associated Women Students quarterly meeting has been set for Tuesday, March 1, President Janiece Tachibana said.

Women will nominate candidates for next year's AWS officers. A nominating committee will present a slate of officer-candidates, but nominations may be made from the floor, Miss Tachibana said.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be announcements of candidates for Coed-of-the-quarter. This is the same honor that formerly was called "Girl of the Quarter," Miss Tachibana said.

The three candidates are Shirley Beaudreau, Susan Keller and Esther Kunitake. All are sophomores.

Miss Beaudreau is president of Spurs, national women's service honorary; a member of the Sponsor corps and works 20 hours weekly in the college placement office. She is off-campus candidate.

Miss Keller, LA hall candidate, has been vice president of Savagettes, LA hall's AWS representative and on the student union activities and recreation committee.

Miss Kunitake, representing Senior hall, is also a member of the student union activities and recreation committee, was an orientation guide and was a member of the freshman executive council.

Announcement of the winner will be at the meeting and she will be presented with the traditional bracelet.

Also at the meeting, Miss Tachibana said, eight women will be tapped for membership in Golden Circle, women's honorary, whose members are selected on the basis of service, character, personality, leadership and scholarship.

LSA-USCF Set Joint Meet

The Lutheran Student association will hold its next meeting with the USCF in the student union, Gloria Perry, president, said. The meeting will start at 5:30 February 28. The topic of discussion will be the "World Day of Prayer" Miss Perry said.

The LSA will then discontinue its meetings until April because of "dead week" and finals.

Library Stack Restrictions Lifted

The restriction limiting free access to the library stacks to upper class students has been lifted.

Hugh M. Blair, librarian, stated that under the new policy, all students will have stack privileges. This includes special students, alumni, and students taking correspondence courses.

Grads Score High In Nationwide Exam

Graduates of Eastern tested in January compiled average scores that ranked them in the 84th percentile in the national scale in standardized tests of graduate students, Dr. Raymond P. Whitfield, EWC graduate study director, said.

The test results have just been received by EWCE from Education Testing Service, which scores the examination for all institutions using the examination as a graduate study requirement.

"Not only were the average scores high," Dr. Whitfield said, "but half of the Eastern graduates were in the upper one-sixth on the national scale."

"The Graduate Record Examination in Professional Education" sets up nationwide standards, Dr. Whitfield said, and establishes national norms based on test results of graduate students from liberal arts colleges, universities and teachers colleges. The tests are standardized against first year graduate students from these schools.

Over the past five years that the examination has been given at Eastern, more than 500 EWCE graduates have taken the test, Dr. Whitfield said, and their scores have averaged above the 75th percentile.

Williams Sets Talk

Don Williams, assistant in student services, will speak to the Grand Coulee PTA on "Why the percentage of failures in college?" March 14, 8 p. m. at the Central elementary school in Grand Coulee.

Paul Hooper was elected Associated Student Body president in final balloting last Thursday, defeating Creed Morgan by a vote of 497 to 472, a difference of only 25 votes.

Ray Raschko defeated Ed Fisher for ASB vice president. The vote was 678 to 292.

Both Hooper and Raschko are from Walla Walla.

Irene Sherwood was the winner in the race for secretary. She defeated Phyl Sierra, 519 to 440.

Dick Burger was elected ASB treasurer with 489 votes to Mick Soss' 446.

Garth Wheeler won the race for activities coordinator, getting 755 votes to 217 for Janet Morrow.

Only 969 students cast votes for the top office, while the largest total vote, 972, was for activities coordinator.

Total vote for the other offices were: vice president, 960; secretary, 959, and treasurer, 935.

Vets Plan Show For 'Sac' Fund

To swell the Sacajawea fund, the Vets club has decided to sponsor a variety show, President Creed Morgan announced.

A meeting will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the Capri room of the union during which a definite date will be set for the show, Morgan said. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

The Associated Men Students have also agreed to make a contribution to the Sacajawea fund, Morgan said.

Teacher Shortage Problem Discussed

Why aren't there more students interested in the field of teaching?

This is a question asked many times and too often answered in round-about terms. Some examples of the "pat" answers to this question might be, "insufficient funds," "too many extra duties" or "better offers in industry."

True, these are sometimes legitimate answers to the query, but all too many times the true reasons are less acceptable and therefore discounted.

"Insufficient pay"—It seems that the argument that teachers receive 12 months pay for 9 months work is legitimate. Even considering those who must attend summer school for additional certification, the working year is no more than 10 and one-half months.

"Too many extra duties."—Just what is meant by this term; where do educational duties leave off and "extra duties" begin?

"Better offers in industry."—But how secure are many of these positions in industry, and how many graduates actually do receive these "better offers"?

Take a look at many teachers now in the field—many teaching because any other type of work is too competitive, and driven by the idea of security as if obsessed; those teachers who keep a day ahead of their students and are not themselves prepared to help the gifted students; many doing just those bare minimum "extra duties" that they are pressured into doing, rarely trying to better the profession.

And the students who become teachers merely because they do not know what else to do—the small percentage of teachers who realize their grave responsibilities to society and are dedicated to improving standards, and the larger group that merely pays lip service to "devotion," "dedication" and "responsibility."

It might be asked—Who has the right to say such things? The objective reporter who observes the facts as evidenced in discussions with both education and non-education majors as well as administrators, faculty and alumni has this right.

And what about those persons who criticize and themselves do not do anything about improving the situation? These should remain silent unless they are prepared to use whatever abilities they have to work toward improvement.

Everyone is not suited to the teaching profession, and if they are not, then they are doing a disservice to themselves and society if they enter the teaching field. Too often this happens.

Something must be done to cure the insidious disease of perpetuating mechanical "teaching procedures," when these procedures are used with no thought being given by the participants in this process concerning any underlying constructive philosophy. This can only be done by those who care about working towards curing the disease, whoever they may be.

Letters To The Editor

Easterner Gets Constructive Ideas

To The Editor:

No doubt this letter can be called critical of our newspaper, but I hope it will be received as an attempt to offer some constructive suggestions.

In my opinion an important function of the paper has been omitted. Every day, in this region and in other part of the country, events of importance are taking place. Many of these events will have a direct effect on the lives of all the students here.

Yet, in the paper, there has been little or no mention of these happenings. This omission is especially evident in this election year. Few events of this year will have a more profound effect on the lives of all of us during the next few years than the presidential election. This is especially true when you consider that many of the undergraduates will come of age during the next few years.

What are the views of The Easterner on such national topics as: compulsory ROTC, payola, international disarmament, Latin American relations, the problems of urban and rural societies, congressional investigations, and many of the other, almost countless, questions of our day?

What a wonderful opportunity exists right here, in our own college, for some thoughtful opinions, views and facts to be advanced. I am sure that you have heard, just as I have that there seems to be a lack of news in The Easterner.

We all realize that no college weekly is going to give news coverage on the same basis as the commercial wire services, newspapers or radio and TV stations.

There is, however, a specific field that you have exclusive rights to. You have the opportunity to cover the news that affects the students here, and to give your opinions on its importance.

Don't be afraid of controversy! If you can excite the interest of your readers; if you can cause your readers to think about some of the questions of today, you will be doing your job and doing it well.
 (Signed) James H. Flynn

Support Of ASB Prexy Is Urged

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Paul Hooper on his victory in the recent ASB election. I'm sure that he will do a very good job.

He will need the help and cooperation of the entire student body, so I strongly urge this cooperation from not only the 969 students who voted, but also from the near 1000 who failed to vote.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"OH, ALL THE FOREIGN GIRLS ARE POPULAR UNTIL THEY LEARN TO SAY 'NO'."

ASB President Says

By Tom Ennis

Jobs Urged For Unsuccessful Candidates

Well, it's all over but the work and there will be enough to go around for the newly elected slate of officers.

This year's race was close for the presidency and the treasurer positions, just as last year's was.

Paul Hooper is a good man and a hard worker, and I am sure that he will be able to do much to better the status of students at the college. He has had considerable experience in student activities on the local, state and national levels.

Ray Raschko has proven himself a capable leader on campus and from having talked to him prior to, and during the campaigning preceding the election, I am sure that the vote of confidence expressed in him by the electorate will prove well-founded.

Last year I had occasion to come in contact with Irene Sherwood when she was an employee of the college business office, and there are no doubts in my mind as to her capability in performing the duties of ASB secretary.

While I have been acquainted with Dick Burger for the past two years, it has not been in any official capacity. Dick is a personable guy who will, I am sure, be able to add much to student government in terms of new, fresh ideas.

Garth Wheeler won by possibly the greatest landslide in recent years in an ASB election. Last year Garth was appointed freshman orientation chairman, and the excellent job that he did in this position was evidenced by the overwhelming testimony to his ability at the polls last Thursday.

The above statements are in no way meant to detract from the abilities of any of the unsuccessful candidates for any of the ASB offices. In my opinion there were no "bad" candidates, and had any of the others been elected student government would be better in the spring of 1961 as a result of their work.

It is my hope that the successful candidates will do all in their power to place the unsuccessful candidates in positions where they can exercise a part of the trust placed in them by those students who did vote for them. This is only common sense.

Northeastern Solves Placement Problem

Getting a job is somewhat discouraging to many young college graduates who have had little or no experience in their chosen fields. They find, regardless of their bachelor's degree, that they have to start at the bottom.

Not so with graduates of Northeastern university in Boston. As in many other schools throughout the country that follow the cooperative plan of education, most Northeastern students gain work experience throughout their years at college. The college year for upperclassman is 51 weeks long with alternating sessions of work and study.

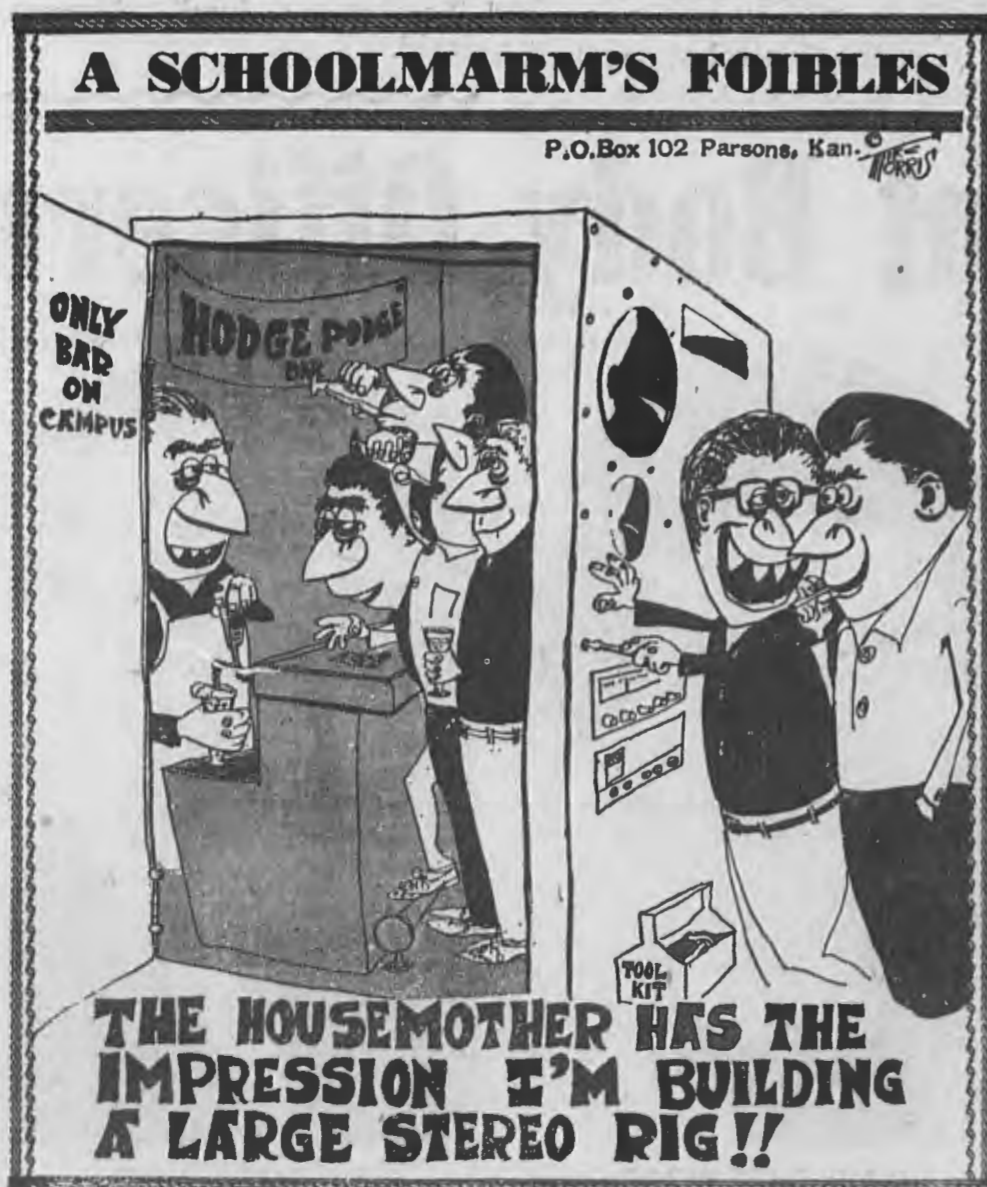

This means that a student will attend classes for an average of nearly 12 weeks, then work for an equivalent amount of time with some industry or business at a job tied in with his major. By working in teams of two, one at work while the other is in school, the company is assured a full-time employee.

Some 800 companies are employing 3,600 Northeastern cooperative students. Job opportunities include high-level research positions, drafting, accounting jobs, work on newspapers, in the schools, Red Feather agencies, banks, and insurance agencies. Those most difficult to place are majors in history, government and modern language.

"The educational advantages of the coop program are to get experience, to get a professional education and get a start in a career. The pay is an incidental advantage."

And what are the advantages to the company?
 "These are eager young people who see these jobs as stepping stones in their careers," the director said. "Cooperative students look good in a job." In addition, "The student signs an agreement to assure mutual understanding that he is not free to leave that job unless by permission of the university."

What better way could an education be obtained? It has long been an established fact that experience is the best teacher.

Registrar Gives Rules For Pre-Registration

Pre-registration for the spring quarter began yesterday and will continue through Friday, Registrar C. W. Quinley Jr., said.

The following steps for pre-registration have been established for the convenience of the student. These instructions should be followed carefully in order to eliminate confusion and waste of time in enrolling for classes, Quinley said.

After obtaining a registration booklet from the registrar's office, all men students must go to cadet hall to obtain military clearance. This will be stamped on the registrar's office card.

Proceed next to the health and physical education office in the field house. If you must enroll in a gym class, or if you are excused from gym, the registrar's office card will be stamped accordingly.

Report to the college nurse in the infirmary and arrange for a health examination. If you are excused from this examination, your health card will be stamped accordingly.

After you have carefully filled out the registrar's and the counselor's cards, consult with your counselor and obtain his signature on these two cards. If you do not know who your counselor is, check in the dean's office, room S210. Obtain the signatures of each instructor on the registrar's card.

Completely fill out the remaining registration cards, i. e., class cards, business, etc.

If you are a veteran, report to the Veteran's Affairs clerk, room S214, and obtain your veteran's clearance.

From there go to the registrar's office, room S216, and have your booklet stamped "approved for payment."

From there go to the cashier's office, S218, and pay your fees.

From the cashier's office go directly to the registrar's office and deposit your cards at the counter.

Your class cards will be given to you when you turn in your registration booklet to the registrar's office.

ROTC Receives Superior Ratings

Eastern's reserve officers training unit received two superior ratings in reports of a command maintenance inspection by the sixth army.

The superior ratings were in the unit's engineer and ordnance equipment, Lt. Col. Erwin G. Nilsson, unit commander, said.

Ordnance equipment accounts for 90 per cent of the items inspected, both in dollar value and number of items, Col Nilsson said.

"General appearance of facilities and maintenance of equipment is outstanding," the report said. "Display of cooperation and attitude of personnel toward their duties and responsibilities is outstanding."

Letter To The Editor

Gurr Hits Voting; Proposes Change

To The Editor:

Here we go again, fact not fiction. There seems to be an unequal representation of the student voting power in the associated student council.

The following is a tabulation of the number of students represented by living groups:

Senior, 110; Louise Anderson, 202; Hudson, 131; Garry, 98; Sutton, 84; Monroe, 93; Student court, 20; Off-campus students, 394; Commuters, 771.

There may be an error of 50 students either way, but the facts speak for themselves. Each of these living groups is entitled to one vote on the council, with one exception. The off-campus and commuter representation is only one vote for 1165 students.

Does it seem fair that one vote of 20 students, living in the student court, can cancel out the vote of 1165 students?

I propose that the constitution be amended to allow one vote for each 300 commuters. Secondly, to combine the one vote of the student court with another hall. For example, Garry, which also houses married students.

This would definitely make the representation of vote more equitable.

This inequity in present voting powers is the major reason that the commuters could not receive the appropriation of 25 cents per commuter, from the ASB fund. This was an effort to acquire some benefit from the $20 that the commuters spend for the benefit of the campus living groups. This appropriated sum of money would be placed in the commuter fund.

To some, this may seem to be a radical innovation, and if there are any questions, criticism, or comments, they will be much appreciated.

Minister In Home Ec

FAMILY HARMONY IS GOAL

"Divorce is the greatest problem of the American family," says Henry J. Copeland, minister of the Cheney mission of the Northtown Baptist church of Spokane.

And that is why there is one lone man enrolled amidst a score of young women in a home management class at Eastern.

Copeland is that man. A senior sociology major at EWCE, Copeland is not only a minister but is also a full-time meat cutter at a large Spokane super market.

It was when his wife, Mrs. Lucille E. Copeland, decided to come to Eastern that Copeland decided to attend the college, too.

Mrs. Copeland, now an EWCE sophomore, is studying business education.

The Copelands, who live at E41 Longfellow, Spokane, have four children. Two girls, 15 and 17-years-old, attend Rogers high school; one boy, 11, attends Hamilton school and another boy, 5-years-old, is in Hamilton kindergarten.

Not all aspects of home management are new to Copeland. As a former air force mess sergeant, he is well versed in meal planning, and as a meat cutter, he certainly knows meat costs.

But other facets of the home management course are new to him. They include such things as planning the use of family resources to achieve family goals, practical application in work simplification and recreational interests to enrich family life.

"I certainly feel that these subjects are helpful to a minister," Copeland said.

He is also studying sociology, psychology and philosophy, all subjects he believes will help him in the ministry.

Copeland admits he wasn't accepted at first by the girls in the class, but when they learned of his air force and other work experience, they came to depend upon him for the male point of view in subjects under class discussion.

"It's unusual to have a man in home economics class," Mrs. Sara Steensland, EWCE home economics instructor, said. "But now we can get a man's reaction to our ideas, and that is interesting because it does not always agree with the feminine viewpoint."

Copeland's church membership is small, only five families totaling 18 members, but five other families attend regularly, he said. The group hopes to build the first unit of a new church this summer, using EWCE student labor.

Before Copeland completes the course, he must plan and serve a dinner at the college's practice management house. This he has planned to do in March, with members of his congregation as guests.

REESE GETS 500th HOOP WIN

The Easterner SPORTS

Gym Team Loses Pair

Eastern's gym team lost two meets here last weekend when they met the University of British Columbia Friday night and the University of Washington Saturday afternoon in the fieldhouse.

UBC beat the Savages, 78-66, by taking five of nine first places. Jack Benson, Eastern's little mighty mite, took three firsts and Bob Caruso took one. Benson won the highbar and the still and flying rings, Caruso won his first in the trampoline. Benson is considered one of the Pacific Northwest's top men in the ring events.

Saturday the U of W beat the Savages, 87½ to 56½, with Eastern getting two out of a possible nine first places. Eastern's firsts were taken by Jack Benson in the high bar and flying rings.

The Savages will have a two-week lay off, after which they will travel to the coast for the collegiate championships.

Baseballers Begin Rigid Program

With the basketball season completed, coach Ed Chissus has his baseballers in a rigid training program for the upcoming season. Although Chissus has only called organized practice for the pitchers and catchers, most of the other players are turning out on their own.

"This should be Eastern's best team in several years," Chissus optimistically said. "We have most of last year's players back, plus some junior college transfers and some promising frosh," Chissus said.

Returning veteran glove men are Ernie Smith, first base; Darwin Springer, second base; Dick Blair, shortstop; Duane Meyers, third base; Rich Hilty, catchers; Vic Roberts, outfield, and Stan Rhodes, outfield, if his leg responds to treatment of an injury incurred in football season.

Returning veteran pitchers are Bill Palmer, Gary Roberts and Dean Owens.

Ron Briskey, an infielder from Yakima junior college heads the list of transfer players. Lanny Anderson, a transfer from Central Washington where he was one of the top outfielders in the league, seems to have one of these positions fairly well in hand.

Of the freshmen, Fred Neuman of Hunters and Lanny Wilman of Naches appear to have the inside track of the new men who may break into the lineup. Neuman is a pitcher and Wilman an infielder.

Official practice for the entire team is to start March 7, according to Chissus.

Eastern Washington cagers, whose performance throughout the season have been something less than inspirational, gave their head mentor one of the most gratifying moments of his 35-year coaching career.

The Savages, down 12 points in the first half, took a 70-65 decision from the Whitworth Pirates last Friday, giving Reese his 500th basketball victory.

In the dressing room following the game, where the beaming athletic director was being congratulated by the members of his team and fans who had followed the procession, with Reese atop his players' shoulders, he said, "You did it for me, fellas. Thanks a lot."

The Redmen found winning to their liking, and followed with a repeat performance by downing the Bucs 68-65 Saturday night at Graves gym on the Whitworth campus.

"RED" REESE

Sweeping the two-game series put the Savages in a tie for fourth place with Central in the Evergreen conference standings. It was the first time they had been out of the cellar in several weeks of action.

The Pirates closed the season that night in the cellar with a record of four wins and 10 losses. The Redmen had 5 and 8 in league play with the final game to be played last night against the Central Washington Wildcats.

In Friday's action Dick Koford, who was high man for the evening with 27 points, opened the scoring for Eastern.

Jay Jackson and Ray Washburn took over the offensive duties for the Bucs and tied the score at five and seven all.

Bob Quall, the Whitworth speedy first year guard, threw in a two pointer to put the Pirates into a lead that was to last for the duration of the first half. The halftime score favored the Pirates, 43-35.

Ted Paterson, who got the points for the Savages when they were needed, tied the score at 43 each with a jumper at the top of the key where most of his 16 points were earned.

Gary Roberts took the Redmen into the lead, after the Country Homes quintet had taken another five point margin. Doug Cresswell fired to Roberts breaking underneath for the needed two.

Then it was Dave Danielson who made the difference. With the Savages in the lead by three, he intercepted a Whitworth pass under his own basket and layed it gently between the twine.

Jackson and Washburn answered with field goals to cut the margin to one. But Danielson would not be denied and finished by getting the Savages' last four points. The last three came on a field goal and a foul, when the clock had ticked down to just two seconds.

In the Saturday contest the Savages, with Koford, Danielson and Paterson leading the attack, advanced to an early lead. They were tied at 24 all, but the score favored the Cheney five at halftime 40-28.

Jackson, along with Washburn, who was held scoreless in the first half, caught fire and brought the Bucs within seven points.

A full court press almost cost the Redmen the contest, as the pressing Pirates closed the gap that had been built again to 13 points. But the clock ran out in Eastern's favor, as Washburn threw in the last two with four seconds remaining.

EW Tankers Lose Two; Central Next

Eastern swimmers take to the road again this week in an effort to avenge a pair of last-week losses to the University of Idaho and Montana State university at Missoula.

Thursday they travel to Elensburg for action against Central Washington college. Then on Saturday they will meet the Cougars of Washington State university for their last dual meet competition of the season.

The tankers fell to the Idaho Vandals last Friday 60-34.

Only two first places went to the Redmen, as Grayson Hand managed a blue ribbon in the 50 yard free style and the 400 yard relay team of Hand, Clair McKie, Chisato Kawabori and Bob Short took one.

In Missoula the Eastern watermen met one of the best individual teams in the nation. The meet was a double triangular contest including Eastern, Montana and the University of Idaho.

The Grizzlies won handily, defeating the Vandals 63-29 and Eastern 63-26.

Hand repeated his earlier performance in the 50, but in the free style, Hand's other strong event, the Montanans took the first four places.

Eastern's tank crew are now preparing for the Evergreen conference meet scheduled for March 4 and 5.

According to coach Dr. Richard Hagelin, the squad should turn in one of its best performances ever, especially with the 400 relay team.

Forensics Classes Open For Credit Or Non-Credit

Men and women students interested in participating yet this year or in preparing for next year's intercollegiate competition and public performances in forensics may start on a non-credit basis any time, Dr. Carl Wilson, assistant professor of speech, said.

Students who want academic credit may register in one or more of the four areas any quarter and may repeat each area three times, Dr. Wilson said. Sixteen activity credit hours are available.

Next year several three-credit regular courses will be offered: Argumentation and debate, discussion, public speaking, speech for the profession and business, parliamentary procedure, oral interpretation of literature, and choral interpretation of literature.

Any undergraduate student in good academic standing is eligible for forensics, Dr. Wilson said.

"The program may be especially rewarding to students majoring or minoring in any social science area, law, or language arts. Previous experience, although not necessary, is welcomed," he said.

The forensics team plans to enter an invitational tournament at Montana State university April 28-30. Next year, if enough students are prepared, the team plans to enter about one tournament a month, starting in October, and to solicit performances before school assemblies and service clubs and other adult groups, Dr. Wilson said.

The four activity-credit areas offered are:

Speech 315. Forensics: Debate. Oxford, direct clash, and cross-examination team debate, Lincoln-Douglas one-man debate, and parliamentary debate.

Speech 316. Forensics: Public Speaking. Oratory, extempore, impromptu, visual aids, and after-dinner speaking.

Speech 317. Forensics: Discussion. Roundtable, problem-solving, and public discussion.

Speech 318. Forensics: Oral Interpretation. Oral reading of prose and poetry.

Each registration is for one credit-hour. Separate groups meetings are arranged for each area of registration.

Ladies To Get Orchids At Dance

Members of Garry hall have displayed considerable talent for the soft sell by offering free orchids to the ladies attending the second annual costume dance, scheduled for Saturday at 9 p. m. in the student union Bali lounge.

The Rockers, a four piece band from Spokane, will present the music theme, "Enchanted Island," according to Bob Langdon, dorm social director.

Langdon also said that prizes will be presented for the most "daring" costume.

"We're hoping for as good a turnout as we had last year," Langdon added. "There were remarks later that it was the best dance put on in several years."

Couples will be admitted for 50 cents, while stag attenders will get through for 35.

Deadline Is Today

The deadline for senior pictures to be in the Kinnickinick office has been extended to 5 p. m. this afternoon, Ron Wolfe, editor, said.

If no one is in the office the pictures should be slid under the door with the seniors' name, hometown and degree.

Demos To Hear Two EW Profs

Dr. Aretas A. Dayton, head of the social studies division and James Zeigler, assistant professor of history, will be the panelists at tomorrow's meeting of the college Young Democrats at 7:30 p. m. in the Capri room, Mike Green, club vice president, said.

This will be the second in a series of panel discussions sponsored by the YDs, during which the backgrounds, qualifications and prospects of the leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination will be presented.

Dr. Dayton will discuss the candidacy of Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Zeigler will report on Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri.

All faculty and students, regardless of party affiliations, are invited to attend, Greene said.

New members may join the club at any meeting and all members are reminded that at the conclusion of Thursday evening's meeting club pictures will be taken for the Kinnickinick, Green said.

45 Faculty On Bulletin

Forty-five faculty members of EWCE are listed for speeches in a new bulletin issued by the college's speakers' coordination committee.

Prepared by Wayne Hall, chairman of the committee, the bulletin lists more than 150 topics on such diverse subjects as education, school, family, home, community, literature and the arts, the nation and the world affairs, science and geography, state history and resources and travel and foreign countries.

A listing of student speakers is also contained in the bulletin.

"Each year, numerous requests come to EWCE for faculty and student speakers," Hall said. "This booklet has been prepared to present in convenient form information about faculty and student speakers who are available for speaking engagements, and to explain how arrangements for such may be made."

Many died of gas last year. Some inhaled it; some touched a match to it—but most just stepped on it.

Senior Hall Women Set Faculty Reception

On Thursday, February 25, from 7:30 to 9:00 p. m., the women of Senior hall will hold their annual faculty reception in the dormitory, Genelle Gardner, dorm social chairman, reported.

All faculty members have been invited to the function, Miss Gardner said, and refreshments will be served by the dorm residents.

Entertainment will include a vocal duet by Sally Lu and Teresa Wong, a double trio presentation, a solo by Judy Smith and a novelty number by Laurie Marsh. Members of Senior hall's double trio are Marilu Marson, Sharron Eaton, Karen Pratt, Jeanne Merritt, Kathleen Morris, Miss Smith and Miss Gardner.

Frosh Coed Handbook Considered

Possibility of publishing a handbook for entering freshmen women will be considered by Eastern's Associated Women Students, Carol Ulery, vice president, said.

A display of such handbooks was seen at the AWS dual-state convention at the University of Idaho at Moscow recently, Miss Ulery said.

"We are enthused and will see what we can do about such a booklet for Eastern," Miss Ulery said.

Ten Eastern women were candidates at the convention. Karen Wheeler led a discussion group on the effect of the National Intercollegiate Association of Women Students on local organizations.

Other problems discussed by the women delegates from colleges and universities in Washington and Idaho included how to maintain appropriate college level dress standards when most women students are just out of high school.

"Most large colleges have little trouble with this," Miss Ulery said. "They have and maintain traditions in campus dress."

Dance To Be Hop

The sophomore class tolo which was scheduled for next Friday night was changed to a sock-hop, Ernest Shaffer, president of the sophomore class, said.

The sock-hop will be held in the Bali lounge in the student union beginning at 9 p. m. Friday night. The Stompers will be providing the music.

707 WEST SPRAGUE

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards... as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant... and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Cadets Complete Advanced Tests

Eastern reserve officer training corps cadets, 140 strong, have completed the 30-minute reserve qualification test, needed for admission into Eastern's ROTC advanced program, Lt. Col. Erwin G. Nilsson, unit commander, said. All cadets of sophomore standing were required to take the test. A score of 115 was needed to obtain eligibility for admission into the advanced program. Cadets are also selected according to their cumulative grade point average, their class standing among other cadets and their instructors' opinion of them, Col. Nilsson said. After considering qualifications, the top 40 will be selected for entrance into the advanced program.

Thursday, March 3, representatives from the Olympia public schools and the Oak Harbor public schools will be on campus to interview prospective teachers.

Anyone interested in any of the above should make appointments with the placement office, Giles said.

Profs, Students Attend Seminar

Four faculty members of Eastern's geology-geography department and six students majoring in geology or geography at EWCE attended a graduate seminar at Oregon State college, Corvallis, Ore., last Friday and Saturday, Francis J. Schadegg, department head, said.

In addition to attending the seminar, the trip enabled Eastern students to become familiar with the OSC graduate school in geology and geography, Schadegg said.

One member of the EWCE staff, Clifford A. Rajala, presented an illustrated lecture on Iran at the seminar. Two other Eastern faculty members, Kenneth A. Hammond and William L. Wilkerson, also attended.

Students making the trip included Cecil L. Dupey, Ron O. Bailey, Earl D. Bense, Tommy M. Gay, Claude E. Lakewold and Henry P. Nelson.

Union Board Asks Larger Profit Share

A larger percentage of the student union's food service gross income and 50 per cent of the profits was proposed at a meeting of the student union board of control last Thursday, Dean Owen, chairman, said.

Under the proposed new contract between the union and the college food service, the union would get six per cent of the gross sales, Owen said.

The old contract provided for five per cent of the gross, and returned $1819 to the union in eight months of operation.

Under the old contract, the college food service netted $4217. The new contract provides that this profit be split 50-50, Owen said.

The contract still must be accepted by the college food service, Owen said.

ROTC Sets Party

The ROTC Officers' club will hold its quarterly party and dance Saturday, February 27 at 8 p. m. The party will be held at the Officer's club, Fairchild AFB. Cadet officers and their dates will attend.

Dr. Don S. Patterson, EWCE president; Dr. Daryl Hagie, dean of students; Dr. William W. Force, comptroller, and Dr. George Kabat, dean of instruction, will be among the special guests.
