Expulsion Of Foreign Rule
Goal Of United Arabs

"Arab foreign policy has as its minimum aim the desire to keep Arab land from foreign rule," So spoke Mohammed T. Mehdi, director of the Arab Information office in San Francisco to Eastern's Circulation staff last week.

Talking to political science, history, and social studies classes as "The Arab and the Middle East," Mehdi, told of the Arab awakening to the possibility that has been taking place since the end of World War I.

"With 75 to 80 percent of the world's oil coming from the Middle East, this area is more important than Western Europe. Fifty to a hundred years ago, the world's commerce and trade will be such cities as Cairo and New Delhi," he said.

Mehdi went on to criticize the U.S. for its hot and cold run reliability of the Russians in the Middle East and gain control of the region. Using this argument, Mehdi said, the Russians, who could claim the Arabs were under Jewish domination in their own land 2000 years ago.

As for Israel and the Arabs, Mehdi said, "Today the Arabs are the most important people in the Middle East. They have a right to gain Arab friendship because of their own land and their own people.

The solution to the Jewish problem for Israel is to give the Arabs the right to return to their homeland, he said. - G.S.

Debaters To Discuss Penal Rehabilitation

Members of Dr. Carl Wilson's debate class are taking sides on the proposition that the penal codes in the U. S. should emphasize rehabilitation. The class members are Carl Jones, Peter Liska, Stan Rizzuti, and Davey Simons.

The newly organized class on debate meets every Tuesday evening at 7 in the Taft room where they will debate the issue. All interested in the issue or debating are invited to attend, Dr. Wilson said.

Blue Key Picks 6

Six Eastern students, Dave Acree, Gary Albestrand, Charles Borg, David Coe, Ray Raschke and Jim Tierney will be initiated into the Blue Key tonight.

The formal initiation will be held in the Isle-land Capri at 6:30, Don Williams, adviser, said.

Drum Major Sought

Eastern's Reserve Officers Training Corps band supervisor, M/Sgt. C. B. Fleming has announced the need for a band drum major, preferably an MS-2.

There is also a general demand for drummers and anyone else who is interested in playing in the band, Sgt. Fleming said.

Holy Week Program Set

A schedule for special Holy Week observances may be picked up in the Cheney Catholic Church vestibule, Fr. Arthur Mertens, adviser of Eastern's Newman club, announced.

The bulletin will contain the schedule of masses, confessions, and evening services for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Allen's Slides Set

Second in a new series sponsored by the Isle-land, color slides taken by Mrs. Celia Allen in Europe will be shown today at noon in Isle-land Capri by EWCE co-ed Roberta Beck.

A niece of Mrs. Allen, Miss Beck will conduct participants in a 40-minute tour of Germany, Italy, and Ireland. Free coffee will be served.

Spring Enrollment Hits New High

Registration for Eastern's spring quarter has reached 1845, Registrar C. W. Quinley Jr., said.

This is the largest number of students ever enrolled in the college for spring quarter, Quinley said, and exceeds last year's enrollment of 1754 by 109.

“Flavor, Ho!” The Admiral Shouted As He Sighted

From the Captain's Log...

One Day Out. Weighed anchor and set sail in search of a filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette. Crew thinks this is a wild goose chase.

One Week Out. Have sighted many filter cigarettes and smoked same. Crew still thinks the world is flat.

One Month Out. Discovered New World of smoking pleasure: Winston! It is the only cigarette with a modern filter plus Filter-Blend—rich, golden tobaccos not only specially selected but also specially processed for filter smoking. Crew now thinks this is a pleasure cruise.

One Year Out. Crew has matted. Refuses to go back to the Old World (non-Winston Hemisphere), I agree. Therefore I am founding a colony called Filter-Blend. Colony's motto will be:

Winston tastes good...like a cigarette should!

Are these gold bars worth two more years of study?

As a college sophomore, you’re nearing the mid-point. Halfway through Army ROTC.

Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weight the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer.

1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles stressed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience. That's why employers say “yes” to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.

2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities go hand in hand with greater rewards. In the Army, responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $3,000 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Want more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered “yes” to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.

Transfers Boost Grid Outlook

Three junior college transfers, one freshman transfer and the return of a 1958 second-team all-Evergreen conference guard for Eastern's football prospects a boost this week.

Tom Halvorsen, 5-foot-9-inch freshman transfer from the University of Washington, attended Rogers high school in Spokane. While at Rogers he was an all-city and all-state basketball player. Halvorsen was starting quarterback in his senior year. Garnes, at 6-feet, is expected to be one of the year letterman tackle here, wearing a crazy hat.

Mike Koford, 6-foot-4-inch Eastern business major from Alsea, was one of the city's leading basketball players and the return of a 1958 second-team all-Evergreen guard.

Another is Jerry Schilling, former John Rogers guard. Schilling came to EW from Columbia Basin junior college. He is also 6 feet tall and weighs 190.

Two of the other grid prospects are former Eastern players.

One is Bill Garnes, a two-year letterman tackle here, who returned from Olympic junior college. Garnes, at 6-feet, 4-inches and 240 pounds is expected to be one of the biggest men-in the Savage lineup in the fall.

The other is Roger Brawner, named on the second all-Evergreen conference team as a guard in 1958. Brawner's name is expected to be one of the biggest men-in the Savage lineup in the fall.

"Crazy Hat" Dance Planned By Spurs

Eastern's Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, will hold a "Crazy Hat" dance Friday evening at the student union. Everyone is asked to come wearing a crazy hat.

Zags Take Meet By Narrow Margin

Concagua won first place in the bowling competition by a close margin at the game tournament held in the student union building last Saturday.

Scores computed for the bowling on the Peterson point this Friday at m.m. 71, Eastern 70, and Whitworth in third with 49.

GU Squad Wins Match

Eastern opened its Evergreen conference tennis season on a sour note last Saturday, bowing to the Gonzaga Bulldogs, 4-2, in a hard-fought match played in Spokane.

Eastern netmen played better than average tennis, but Gonzaga couldn't be denied as they won three of the five singles matches and swept the doubles, 2-0.

Coach John Woods was employed in a new lineup made necessary because of the loss of team-captain and number one player, Mickey Hou who was declared ineligible because of a credit mix-up.

Eastern's next two matches will be at some time they take on Washington State university and Central Washington college next Friday and Saturday on the Cheney courts.

Track Team Wins First, Defeats SP

Eastern won 10 out of 13 firsts and had three double winners in defeating Seattle Pacific college 78% to 51% here last Saturday.

Sherm Stapleton won both sprints, running the 100-yard dash in 9.9 and the 220 in 21.9. Jim Koford took second in that event and also got a sec

Baritone Kemalyan Closes Artist Series Here Tuesday

Stephen Kemalyan, Australian tenor, will be the final artist to be heard this season in the Eastern Washington College Community artist series.

The season's trial program will be presented in Showalter auditorium, the Eastern campus at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, at 8:15 p.m.

Kemalyan's program will open with songs appropriate to the Easter season. He will be directed by Norton Martin, followed by the favorites "Bouquet, Solitude" by Delibes, "Thou Art Like a Flower" by Last, "Pilgrim Song" by Tchaikowsky, and a group of the contemporary composers Barry, Britten, Mac-

Ginley and Malotte.

Born in Fresno, California of Armenian descent, the last permanent resident of Los Angeles, Kemalyan studied with the Norman Wright and Joseph Klein.

One of the West's most popular actors, his many appearances on the Standard Hour, on which he was the first voice to impersonate on the television the character of Carmen, have brought him many new friends.

First appearance took place March 9, 1950, when he was inducted into the army in World War II. There he served with the special services unit entertaining troops in the European theater of operations.

Kemalyan made his movie debut in MGM's "Strictly Dishonorable" starring Ringo Pizzazz. His part, as "EverydayDoes It" was the ghost voice for Paul Douglas who played the part of an open shot. Many motion pictures have used the Kemalyan voice -- MGM's "Young Idea" was a special starring Van Johnson and Esther Williams, "Three Coins in a Fountain."

The New York City Opera engaged Kemalyan as the role of Escamillo in their presentation of "Carmen."

He appeared six times this year in the Hollywood bowl, three times in the drive-in picture theater of operations.

Skin Diving Offers Excitement

By George Scher

Some people like the sport flavored with a bit of danger. Skin and scuba diving seem to answer this need for an ever-increasing number of hardy souls. Eastern student Lem Hutchings, an 18-year-old freshman from Spokane, is a diver. Lem, who has been diving for several years now, will give anyone willing to listen a long list of reasons why the sport you should take up.

Lem is a member of the Spokane Skin Divers Club and is active in its program. Lem was a member of the spear fishing team that won first place in the Inland Empire AAU spear fishing meet last fall. Serving as a safety diver during the running of the Diamond cup unlimited hydro races in Coeur d'Alene each year has been one of Lem's more exciting experiences. Safety divers are spotted around the race course in the event a hydro sinks. The divers rush to the scene to rescue the drivers of the big boats should they become entangled in the wreckage.

Not New

While skin diving is not a new discovery (ancient civilizations dove for sponges and fish), its development into a sport has been recent. The growth of skin diving began in the 1950s when men started to explore the ocean depths with only a mask for the face and a snorkel. World war II brought new developments in equipment and the use of frogmen in underwater warfare. The stories of these daring underwater soldiers spurred "the tremendous growth in skin diving that followed."

Free To Move

One of the most important equipment developments was the self-contained underwater breathing apparatus (called SCUBA by divers) such as the aqua-lung which could be worn on the back of the diver. It freed him from surface air lines and cumbersome diving suits. The diver wearing an aqua-lung "bubbles" on his feet and a rubber suit to keep warm. Now is free to move like the fish, whose world he invaded. Diving offers an experience to the adventurer paralleling that of the first men into space. Because freedom of movement and equalization of gravity while swimming underwater, diving is one of the skills being taught to the Mercury astronauts, one of whom will be the first American into space where gravity is lacking.

As skippers must wear clothing to survive in the water, diving must wear clothing to survive under water. The rubber suit is needed for warmth—even in the summer. The rubber suit makes him buoyant, the diver must wear a lead weight belt to submerge below the surface. The pressure of the water increases one atmosphere (about 14.7 pounds per square inch) approximately every 33 feet one goes down. At 100 feet the pressure coming from the air tank is increased to 563 pounds per square inch to give the same pressure inside the diver's lungs as is pressing on him from outside. The average body has a surface area of 2500 square inches, making the total pressure on the body at 100 feet more than 147,000 pounds. Through the regulator this pressure is reduced; a diver can survive in the water under water realm of the fish.

A young businessman, in love with a night club interior that had a bevy of "exotic" dancers, hired a detective agency to check up on her. He received the following report: "The young lady has an excellent reputation, her past is without stain. Her present is as an entertainer, and has a good social standing. The only scandal associated with her is that she has often been seen with a business man whose name is nonexistent."

Diving—Lem Hutchings, EW freshman, sits in a diving tank playing checkers, top. Center, Hutchings enters the cold water of Pend Oreille Lake at the start of a dive. Bottom, following the dive, Hutchings climbs out of the water into a snowstorm.
