Inspection of ROTC Tomorrow

The annual general inspection of Eastern's ROTC department and corps of cadets will be held tomorrow, Col. Erwin G. Nilsson, head of Eastern's reserve officer training corps unit, said.

The inspection will be conducted by officers of the 10th U. S. army corps under the supervision of Col. H. E. Werner. Other members of the inspecting team are Lt. Col. H. A. Kennedy a Maj. Schmidt and Capt. R. W. Juilfs from the advocate general section.

The inspection will consist of a formal briefing by selected cadet brigade officers and a formal review by the corps of cadets at 10:20 a. m.

Following the inspection there will be a luncheon at Louise Anderson hall for the inspecting dignitaries, selected guests from the college faculty and the ROTC staff.

The remainder of the day will be spent in the inspection of the ROTC facilities.

All faculty and students are cordially invited to attend the review, Col. Nilsson said.

$100,000 Available To EWC Students

An additional $13,500 in national defense student loan funds has been received by Eastern. Dr. Daryl Hagie, EWCE dean of students, said this amount is in addition to $61,995 already received and dispersed.

The additional loan fund is for the spring and summer quarters, Dr. Hagie said, and brings to $75,495 the amount of national defense loans available for EWCE students.

Student loans are also available from the college's student loan fund, which totals almost $30,000, Dr. Hagie said. This brings to well over $100,000 the amount available for loans to students.

Vets Club Plans Friday 13th Mixer

The EWCE Veterans club will have a DJ mixer in the Bali lounge of the student union building, Friday the 13th.

Ollie Schell, KNEW disc jockey, will spin the records. Tickets for the mixer will be on sale at the door for 25 cents per person or 35 cents per couple. The dance will be from 8 p. m. to midnight.

5 Grads Named Eastern Assistants

Five graduates of Eastern have been named graduate assistants for the 1960-61 academic year, the college announced recently.

They include Barbara Bush, Belgrade, Mont., who has been assigned to work in the graduate program; David Chilson, Olympia, in physical education; Frank W. Grahman, Silverdale, Wash., in elementary education reading; Dennis Reynolds, Bremerton, in music, and Ruth A. West, Cheney, in political science.

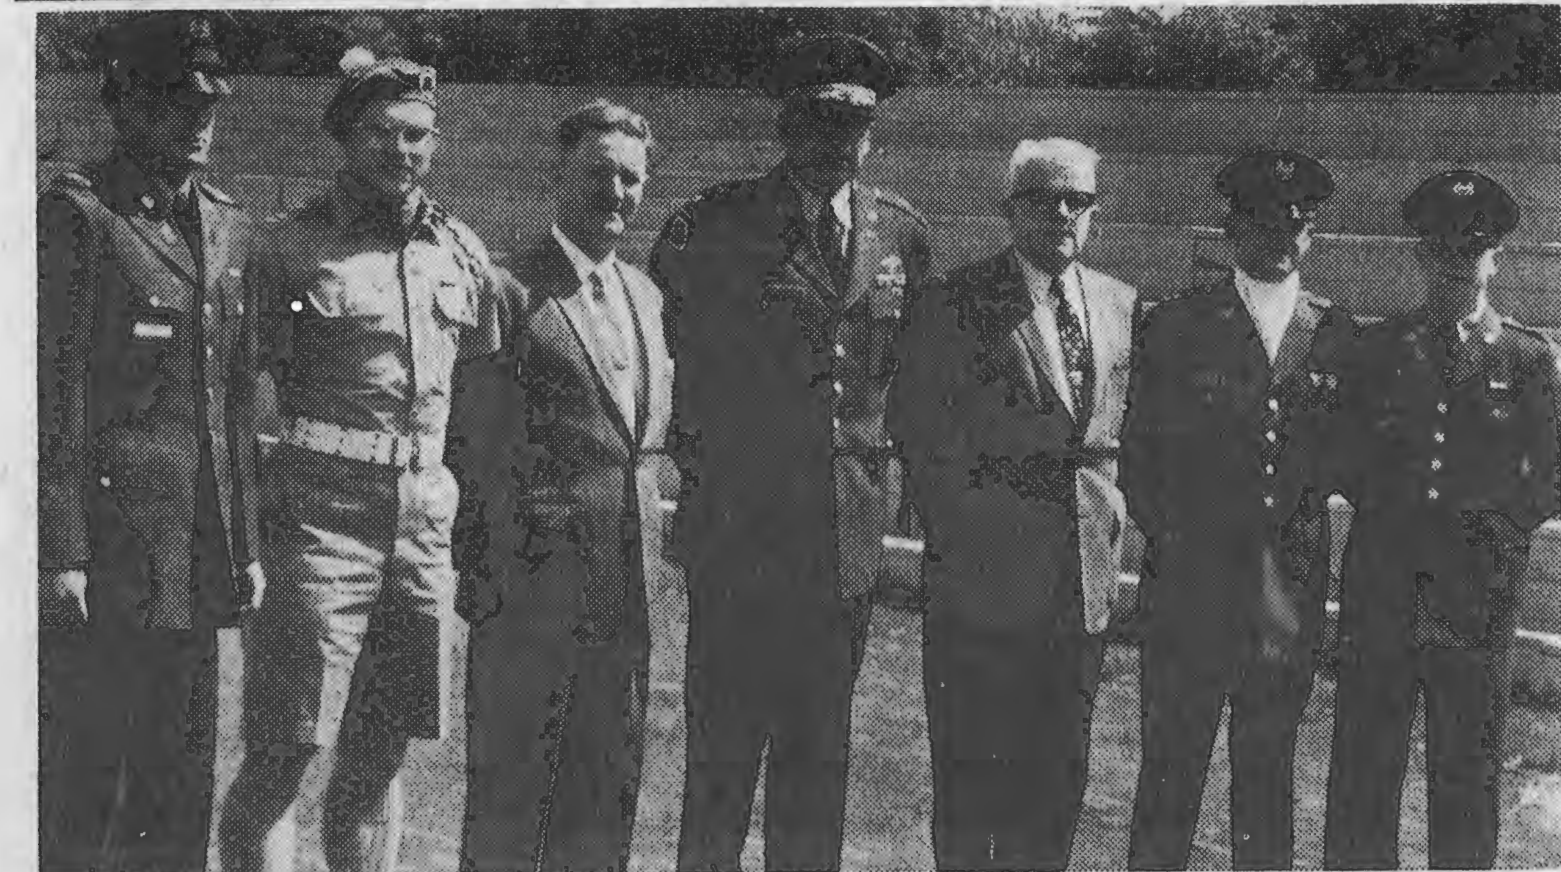

All hold bachelor of education degrees from EWCE.

Senior Recital Set By Coe And Borg For Showalter Aud

Two senior music majors at Eastern will present a joint piano-clarinet recital under the direction of the college's music division on May 15 at 4 p. m. in Showalter auditorium.

David Coe will present piano selections, and Charles T. Borg will be heard on the clarinet.

Two other EWCE seniors will assist as accompanists on the piano. They are Nancy Ulrich and Armand Boatman.

First event of Eastern Washington College of Education's week-long fourth annual Arts Festival which opens Sunday (May 15) on the EWCE campus will be a showing of "The Emperor's Nightingale."

The Czech film is in color, and uses animated dolls and toys to create realms of fancy in the Hans Christian Anderson story which is narrated by Boris Karloff. It will be shown in Martin hall at 7:15 p. m.

An exhibition of the art works of Eastern, Whitworth college and Washington State university Art Center students will open Monday in the EWCE student union building. The display will continue throughout the week. The exhibit will include paintings in all media as well as ceramics.

Another week-long event will be the display of works by EWCE industrial arts students. Some of the projects to be displayed include a decorative modernistic ceramic fish, a dining table and chairs, Danish modern chairs and davenport and other projects. They will be shown in Showalter hall.

Two Matinees

The first of two matinees of a three-act comedy, "Be Your Age," will be presented Monday afternoon at 3 p. m. in the Bali lounge of the student union building. A second matinee is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, and evening performances at 8:15 p. m. Monday and Wednesday will also be presented.

Proceeds from the play will go for scholarships for foreign students. On campus, IK's and Spurs are in charge of ticket sales. Many community groups in Cheney are also taking an active part in the sale of tickets.

These community groups include Beta sorority, with Mrs. Richard Miller in charge of ticket sales; P. E. O., Mrs. Virginia Dressler directing the sales; the Tilicum club, whose sales are in charge of Evelyn Full, and the Cheney Chamber of Commerce, with C. A. Jehle directing sales.

Admission to the play is $1 for adults, 75 cents for high school students and 50 cents for children.

Story Is Told

The story concerns the problem of a widower, Archibald K. Holly, and his three daughters. A crisis arises when Gwendolyn, the middle daughter, wires that she is jilting the boy next door for a new beau she has met at college, and that she is bringing him home for the family's inspection.

This potential groom turns out to be, not a young man as expected, but Eliot Spurgeon, a suave, sophisticated professor of female psychology as old as Holly himself, though looking 10 years younger.

The fun becomes fast and furious when Holly realizes, to his dismay, that Eliot is an old fraternity brother of his, famous in his younger days as the campus wolf.

Holly's determination to break up this May-December infatuation and get his stubborn daughter married off to the more suitable young man of her own age, leads to a crescendo of highly comic situations. Spurgeon gradually reveals his real stuffiness and narrow mindedness, and Gwen comes to realize it's the boy her own age whom she really loves.

Music Staff

Tuesday's highlight will be a British music concert in Showalter auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Presented by the college's division of music, the concert will feature the college's Collegiate Chorale, directed by Dr. Wallace B. Pefley; the college Sinfonietta, under the direction of James Rickey, and the college band, directed by William W. Thomas.

In addition, members of EWCE's music staff will present a series of selections. Participants include Rupert Thackray, English exchange music professor, and Miss Gwendoline Harper, pianists; (continued on page 6)

MUSICAL SITE—Pictured above is Eastern's music building which was used for the first time in the spring of 1948. This building is only one wing of a proposed three-wing structure which calls for a 300-seat auditorium and piano and vocal studios. Built at a cost of $113,000, the building has a large band rehearsal room, three ensemble rooms, 12 practice rooms, a music listening room, offices and an instrument storage room.

ASB President Writes

By Tom Ennis

Tomorrow evening the ASC will vote on the final adoption of the proposed ASB constitution. This will undoubtedly result in a general election for ratification by 40 per cent of the student body.

This will create some important new positions on campus for students to fill. Among them will be the Chief Justice of the Judicial Board as well as Associate Justices.

The proposed constitution calls for these persons to be appointed "for the duration of their college careers" during "good behavior."

This body will have the power of review of disciplinary cases to some degree and will be the body that will interpret the new constitution.

A great responsibility will evolve on these persons.

Another change in the present constitution will be in terms of representation on the associated student council.

Under the proposed constitution there will be one representative for each living group; the ASB officers, as well as four representatives-at-large to be elected along with the ASB officers in a general election.

This should do much to alleviate complaints by various groups that they do not have sufficient representation on council. Under this system those groups that are interested enough to support candidates for positions on council will have them, and those who just complain and never do anything about their complaints will have the representation they deserve.

Man, Do We Get Letters...

Coed Raps Series

Dear Editor,

The recent series of "Know Your Campus" in The Easterner has caused a considerable amount of attention—with reactions ranging from disbelief to utter disgust. I thought that after last week's "Big Question" showed a majority of adverse criticism, The Easterner would wise up and do a little intelligent thinking about this thing they are cluttering the pages with.

The choice of girls' pictures is commendable, and the captions beneath are informative, but they fit together like mustard and ice cream—very poor flavor or taste. The whole series reminds me of a comment in last week's paper, "What journalistic endeavor?" I think we should let men's magazines handle this kind of publicity and work on the intellectual level of our college paper.

What about wider distribution of The Easterner? There are many students who don't have classes in Shwaller and therefore don't receive, or even have an opportunity to read, a paper. I suggest putting some in the union and possibly in Martin hall and LA hall lunch line.

(Signed) Carol Ulery
(Ed. note: I like mustard and ice cream.)

Policy Is Defended

To the Editor:

In response to George Schee's letter to the editor of two weeks ago, I am writing this letter.

Before one can openly criticize and accuse a person, or an establishment, he must first be familiar with the facts about the said establishment or person.

To begin with, Schee classified Gonzaga university, a private institution, with EWCE without first knowing anything about the budgets of the two schools.

As far as saying that the EWCE student union food service have cut down on the quality of its food, and raised the cost of its merchandise, he couldn't be more off base if he tried. Here again, he didn't know the facts.

When Miss Johnston, manager of the food service, took it over last year, everyone who was here at Eastern at the time knows that it was never as good as it is now. After she had been operating the food service for a few months she wrote five other student union food services of state-owned schools and inquired about the prices of the food and the amounts served.

It was found that our food service offered comparable food at lower prices and I am sure that the service given to the patrons was as good, or better in most cases. This comparison was made with colleges that run on the same type budget as ours.

For anyone who is interested, Miss Johnston has these statistics in her office and is willing to let students inspect them.

As far as criticizing the food that is served and the way it tastes, everyone has his own opinion. Of course some people wouldn't be satisfied at the Waldorf Astoria.

Granted there are improvements to be made at our college food service, but here again every organization has room for improvement. These improvements won't be made by people making wild accusations.

If anyone has helpful ideas or plans for improvement, Miss

Johaston will be more than happy to listen to them and if they are of any value or significance they will be put into effect.

(Signed) Ben Glassley
(Ed. note: Where do you work, Ben?)

'4 Stags' Defended

Dear Editor:

Since so few of us are really competent critics on anything, it pains me to see a person with an admitted lack of musical background pass such condemning judgment on the "Four Stags."

I refer to last week's article in "Letters To The Editor," which by the way had no signature to pin any guilt to.

I am not a music major or minor myself, but I resent the rash, and unnecessarily harsh critical analysis of the "Four Stags" by the writer of last week's letter.

In my estimation the college criterion for entertainment is not whether every instrument is in perfect tune, or every singer is "flawless," but of personal likes and dislikes providing for individual enjoyment. For one person to say that the "Four Stags" were a mistake to have in the "Sac" show is usurping a right belonging to the majority.

With these things in mind I would like to offer a contrary opinion on the appearance of the "Four Stags." I thought their blending of chords, showmanship, and choice of music was excellent. Happily, I fall in with the majority who liked them, and hope to see them back real soon.

(Signed) James E. Barrett
(Ed. note: Glad to see that the majority is always right.)

Educators Knocked

Recently, a prominent educator spoke at EWC to a SRO crowd. Granted, much of the crowd was made up of future teachers there because of the wishes of Eastern's "educators."

A week ago Friday, an equally prominent speaker, however, not an educator, talked to a pitifully small crowd. He had perhaps a stronger message (or at least of equal importance) to deliver than the educator.

Should not future teachers be allowed to, or better yet, required to, hear a man with a look into the future and the things that must be done to keep up with the impending changes?

It probably never occurred to EWC's "educators" to send future teachers to hear a non-educator talk on vital issues concerning the future of the world. One of the aims of education should be to prepare people's minds for a varied background—call it a liberal education if you wish.

It is just such an "Education Uber Alles" feeling, a tradition maintaining ((status quo clique) non-education be damned attitude that is holding back progress in our country's education.

The feeling sometimes is that the first grader has a better background than the teacher.

(Name withheld by request)

Owsley 'Real Talent'

Dear Editor,

The letter to you in last week's Easterner concerning the "Sac" show moved me deeply. Fortunately, I had some aspirin on hand and managed a short nap, after which I felt somewhat better.

I feel sure that if the "Four Stags" could read the "Critic's Review" of their performance they would cry all the way to the bank.

Who are you Mr. "Critic" to condemn these boys who are probably making a great deal of money on their recent record? At the moment they can hardly be classed with "The Four Aces" or "The Ames Brothers," but they do have a style and showmanship personalities. Give them time, Mr. "Critic."

I feel that I must condemn you, Sir, for missing the boat in picking the real talent on that show in the person of Gary Owsley. Here is a boy with a real gift. I have followed the musical world for several years. I have attended concerts by Harry Belafonte, Carl Sandberg and others and this Gary Owsley has a great deal to offer.

My only criticism of Gary is that his manner is too apologetic. Believe me, that boy has nothing to apologize for. Note to Gary—give your audience the background for your song and let them decide whether or not you have a "deaf ear." Never, never think or speak derogatorily about the God given gift of real talent such as you possess.

The criticism of the show should go to the students of Eastern. This was on the whole a good show and certainly for a good cause. The audience was made up of about 75 per cent Spokane people. Where were the good students of E. W. C.? Who knows—probably off in a corner griping because there is nothing to do on this campus.

Open your eyes and ears, people; there is good and wholesome entertainment for you here. Just get off your—chairs—and go.

Sincerely, A Music Lover
(Ed. note: In other words if you make lots of money, you are an artistic success. I wonder if you would class Conway Twitty and Jerry Lee Lewis as talented musicians too; their records sell even better than the Four Stags' discs.)

Monologist Performs Tomorrow

Geographers Attend 2-Day Meeting Here

A program of original character sketches will be presented at Eastern Thursday at 10 a. m. by Dorothy Crawford, monologist, who has earned wide recognition as an outstanding exponent of the "one-woman theater."

Miss Crawford was originally scheduled to perform at Eastern on November 19, but cancelled her engagement because of airplane difficulties at San Francisco.

Many of Miss Crawford's characters are taken directly from life, such as "Rosa of San Francisco's Fishermen's Wharf," and her typical American family, the Carter Wilsons, based on her own large family of nieces and nephews.

New Sketches

New sketches this year include "House for Sale," a monodrama in which the owner, showing her house to a prospective buyer, flashes back to a full dramatic life for both herself and the house.

A French hotel maid comes to life in "Jeanne," and "Solitaire" presents an American woman going from one European hotel to another trailing remnants of her former elegance with her.

Geography professors and students from four colleges met at Eastern last Friday and Saturday for a two-day conference.

Francis J. Schadegg, chairman of the EWCE geography department, said 60 persons attended, including staff members and students from Central Washington and Western Washington Colleges of Education, the University of Idaho as well as Eastern professors and students.

This is the eighth year of such intercollegiate geography staff-student conferences, Schadegg said, and this conference was the largest one ever held.

College staff members discussed the joint publication of a new atlas of Washington for junior high schools, a joint college undergraduate field program for training geographers and exchanged information and ideas on various phases of geography education.

A field trip to Turnbull Wildlife refuge in Cheney was conducted by members of the EWCE Geography-Geology club for visiting students, Schadegg said, and a tour of geological formations in the Cheney-Spokane area was taken by both groups.

AAUW To Honor Senior Women

Graduating senior women of EWCE will be guests of honor at a tea given by the Spokane branch of the American Association of University Women Tuesday, May 17, from 3 to 5 p. m. in Louise Anderson lounge.

A free membership in the association will be given to one outstanding senior girl. Last year the award, presented by Mrs. Zelma Morrison, chairman of the board of trustees of EWCE, was given to Garnett Royce of Spokane.

Mrs. Gardner Johnson, branch president, and other Spokane members will be hostesses. Mrs. Johnson and Dean Mary Robinson will pour. Miss Jean Taylor and Mrs. Edgar I. Stewart are co-chairmen of arrangements. Mrs. Earle Stewart and Mrs. Clark Frasier will assist.

AWS Sponsors 'Bridal Shower'

A "bridal shower" sponsored by the AWS will be presented in the Bali lounge in the union this evening at 7:30.

Several guest speakers from Spokane will give tips on making preparations for a wedding.

Mrs. H. Claire Carpenter, traveling bridal consultant from Authur's in Spokane will speak on arrangements for the wedding. A representative from Flower Fair Florists, Spokane, will speak on wedding ethics and a representative from Burchett Studios will speak.

Both men and women students are invited to attend this event, Kay Newland, AWS program chairman, said.

After the talks refreshments will be served during a period of questions and answers. Sunday dress will be appropriate.

US Missile Defense Is Profs' Seminar

"Is missile defense possible?" "What are the basic sources of east-west tension?"

These are but a small part of a soon-to-be offered United States defense policy seminar, Dr. H. Kenneth Hosson, professor of political science and Thomas Bonsor, assistant professor of history and economics, jointly announced.

The course, designated political science 495, 496, and 497, will survey the problems of United States defense policy and its administration. Class meetings will be held two hours weekly throughout the year.

Prerequisites will be senior standing and permission of the instructor.

Registration for the class will open May 15 and close June 1, 1960.

Netmen Split 2 On Road

Eastern netmen had to settle for an even split on their first road trip of the season, defeating the University of Idaho 6-1 on Friday and bowing to Washington State 4-1 in a rain-filled match on Saturday.

Eastern seemed to have little trouble with the Vandals as only the loss of the number three singles kept them from a clean sweep.

Saturday's match was a different story, however, as only one Savage player could muster up a victory. That came in the number one singles when Mickey Soss defeated Dave Ringler 6-1, 6-2.

Both doubles matches were postponed because of rain.

Eastern will play three matches this week, all of them on the road. The Savages will play Central Thursday, Western Friday and Pacific Lutheran Saturday.

Professional Schools OK 3 From EW

Three EWCE science students have been accepted for further study at Washington dental or veterinary medicine schools, Dr. Dana E. Harter, head of the Eastern science division, announced.

Senior Charles A. Feske has been accepted at both Marquette university and the University of Washington dental schools. He received a bachelor of arts degree with a biology major at EWCE winter quarter, and will receive a second degree with a chemistry major in June. Feske expects to enter the University of Washington in September.

Robert D. Leuthy, who has completed a three-year pre-dentistry course, has been accepted by both Northwestern university and the University of Washington schools of dentistry, and plans, too, to attend the University of Washington.

John S. Pryor, a winter quarter graduate of EWCE, has been accepted at Washington State university school of veterinary medicine. Pryor received a bachelor of arts degree with a major in biology in March, and expects to enter WSU in September.

WEA Presidency Goes To Grafious

Dr. Louis V. Grafious, professor of English and speech, was recently elected president of Eastern's unit of the Washington Education association.

Robert E. Lehto, instructor in natural science, was elected vice president; Dr. Loretta Fretwell, assistant professor of psychology, secretary, and William D. Thomas, acting assistant professor of English, treasurer.

Mrs. Celia Allen, assistant professor of education and psychology, was named to represent the EWCE unit at the department of classroom teachers convention in Hawaii, July 5-15.

Lehto was named to represent the EWCE organization at the convention of the National Education association in Los Angeles, June 23-July 1.

Savages Split Two Games; Beat 'Zags, Lose To CW

Relays Rained Out; Whits Tomorrow

The Bill Martin relays, scheduled in Walla Walla last Saturday, were cancelled because of rain and a soggy track.

The EWC Savages and Whitman had an informal practice meet, but no scores were kept.

Gary Fuller, EWC veteran hurdler, posted a good time of :23.7 in the 220-foot hurdles and Sherman Stapleton ran the 220-yard dash in :21.4.

These times are not official because the meet was not considered official.

The Savages will meet Whitworth college of Spokane here at 1:30 tomorrow.

Zags Top EWC, 4-3

Eastern's nine lost to Gonzaga, 4-3, in a Monday afternoon game at Eastern.

Rich Hilty, batting two-for-four for the day, drove in two of the Savages' runs, to lead the home team's batting. The Savages played errorless ball, while the 'Zags were charged with five misplays.

Eastern meets the 'Zags again on Friday in Spokane before going to Moscow for a doubleheader against the University of Idaho May 17 to close the baseball season.

Eastern's baseball team split two games in diamond action last week.

The Savages came from behind to squelch Gonzaga University 7-6 Wednesday and lost a slugfest to Central Washington college, 10-9, Saturday.

Gonzaga got to starter Gary Roberts in the third inning when Norb Trauba bashed a three-run homer. Eastern got one run in the bottom of the third and three more in the eighth to go ahead 4-3.

Neumann Hit

The Zags came back in the top of the ninth for three more big runs off pitcher Fred Neumann. In the last of the ninth, a walk, a double by Duane Myers and an intentional pass to catcher Rich Hilty loaded the bases. Pitcher Trauba then served up a pitch to Lanny Willman which he socked for a triple and won the game for the Savages.

Saturday against Central, the EW squad got off to a poor start as Central hit starter Don Kolb in the first inning for three runs. The Wildcats had built up a 10-3 lead going into the ninth.

Savage Rally Short

The Savages exploded for a six run rally but fell one short of tying the score.

Ernie Smith and Frank Nelson each went five for five in the Central game.

The second game was rained out.

Army Exhibit Slated Here May 12-13

How the army is helping to solve the complex problem of providing an effective atom age national defense will be displayed at Eastern May 12-13.

Sponsored by the EWCE reserve officers training corps, the exhibit is on a nationwide tour of colleges and universities. It was prepared by the army's chief of information, Washington, D. C.

Entitled "This Is the Army," the exhibit was designed to inform college students and the public on the speed and immensity of modern warfare. The exhibit emphasizes the caliber and character of personnel required to man the modern army.

Among weapons on display will be the army's new tank killer, the SS-10, a highly versatile, low-altitude, rocket-propelled anti-tank missile; the army's new M-14 rifle and the new M-60 machine gun.

"The Mechanical Mule," the army's newest tactical vehicle will also be shown. Primarily designed as a cargo carrier, the "Mule" has a rear-mounted air-cooled engine with four wheel drive and four wheel steering from three different positions.

A unique electronic question and answer section will present little known facts about the army.

Weapons predictions of the 1970's will be shown in one area of the exhibit, and a color motion picture will show strategic army corps forces with new weapons and equipment in action during field exercises.

Army information specialists will be on hand to answer questions.

Senior Class Meet Set For Monday

The next senior class meeting will be Monday, May 16 at 3 p. m. in the Bali lounge of the Isle-land.

This is being held especially for commuters, Max Purser, senior class president, said. Graduation plans, senior breakfast and senior picnic will be on the agenda, Purser said.

Plans are being made for a senior picnic on Thursday, June 2 at 1 p. m. at Williams lake. All seniors are invited, admission free, with guests at 75 cents per person.

All seniors who plan to attend must sign up by Friday, May 13 at the information booth in the Isle-land, Purser said.

Interviews Slated For Ed Program

The next session of interviews for admission into the professional education program will have something new. Spokane public school teachers, members of the Teacher Education and Professional Standards committee, will assist Eastern faculty members on May 12, with the interviewing of students for admission to the program, Dr. L. E. Patmore, director of admissions, said.

Eastern was one of the first colleges to initiate an admissions program for the professional education sequence and this will be the first time that professional teachers in the field will participate directly in the program.

Staff Vacancies Open To Students

All writers, photographers, and researchers interested in working on next year's Kinnickinick are invited to attend an introductory and organizational meeting tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the Kinnickinick office in the student union building, Pat McMannus, annual adviser, said.

Most of the positions will be vacant next year, including several that receive salaries.

Snow, Gregory Smith and Ray Shiflett.

Last week the pledges worked on the President's ball and at present they are working toward Hell week which will be held the second week before finals.

President's Ball Called 'Success'

The fifth annual President's ball held in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Don S. Patterson and sponsored by the Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs, was a real success. A crowd of 250 people filled Martin gym to hear the sounds of "Jerry Gray and his Band of Today."

A special trellis opening was set aside for the refreshment area where Betty Biehl and Janet Morrow, members of the Spurs, poured punch.

The intermission featured the EWC college quartet. The members, Dave Acree, Dave Burger, Dennis Koch and Gary Thomas, presented several special numbers.

Ed Harvill, newly-elected IK Duke, presented a gift of honor to Dr. Patterson and a dozen long-stemmed roses were presented to Mrs. Patterson in her honor.

Chorale Concert Singers Praised

Under the direction of Dr. Wallace B. Pefley, Eastern's Collegiate Chorale presented its annual home concert last Wednesday evening in Showalter auditorium.

A high degree of finish was clearly evident to the listener in both tone-quality and interpretation as the group sang the ever-beautiful "Crucifixus" from the famous "Mass in B Minor" by Bach, a group of Jewish numbers from Weiner's "Shiro Chadosho" with Ron Jones, baritone, as cantor soloist, and the dramatically gripping old Scottish ballad, "Edward" arranged by Loewe with Laural Marsh as soprano soloist and Fred Boutz, bass.

For sheer rhythmic delight and unusualness, Toch's "Geographical Fugue" based on the use of a speaking chorus, gave an excellent example of four parts intermingling in the manner of the fugue and proved to be one of the audience's favorites.

The women's trio composed of Judy Thaut, first soprano; Bonnie Palmer, second soprano and Sherryl Sielaff, alto, with Karen Frederickson as accompanist, sang the selections from the popular Rodgers and Hammerstein "Flower Drum Song" and concluded with an American folk song, "Done Caught a Rabbit."

Piano soloists Janice Morris, Chorale accompanist, and David Coe, a member of the Chorale, played with assurance and clarity "Song of the Hunter," "The Shepherd," "Grovez," and "Introduction" from Schumann's "Carnival Suite."

Ending on the famous "Chorus of Joy" from Beethoven's ninth symphony, the Chorale concluded its 20th public appearance for the current season.

They will make two more appearances, one on May 17 in an all-British composers' concert and at commencement, June 5.

Marines To Land At SUB Tomorrow

A marine corps selection officer from Seattle will be at Eastern today and tomorrow in the student union to interview prospective candidates for the marine corps officer candidate program.

Most recent Eastern student to be commissioned under the marine corps program was Gary L. Gillespie, winter quarter graduate. Gillespie was a member of the marine corps reserve while attending Eastern, and was commissioned upon graduation and completion of the corps' platoon leaders course program.
