$10,000 Danforth Grant Made For Faculty Study

A $10,000 Danforth Foundation grant for faculty in-service summer study has been made to Eastern, Kenneth I. Brown, executive director of the foundation, announced in St. Louis.

The Danforth grant is to be used for summer study in humanities and liberal arts, particularly in those subject matter fields outside the faculty member's own specialization in professional education and methodology.

Eastern is one of only 20 colleges of education named for the Danforth grant

Community-College Blood Drive Slated

A joint community-college blood drive has been scheduled for May 26 in the student union building on campus. Hours will be from 8 a. m. to 3:15 p. m.

The college has agreed that for every pint of blood donated by a Cheney citizen, the college will make another pint available for use by residents of the community.

To advertise the blood drive a short parade will be held at 10 a. m. the day of the drive. The ROTC band and drill team will march through the down-

Sponsoring the drive are the Evergreen company of the Association of the United States army, a military fraternity, and the Women's Sponsor corps. The Chamber of Commerce has donated a plaque to be given the college dormitory with the largest percentage of members donating.

Materie Elected

Mike Materie was elected president at the last meeting of the Bachelors club.

Other officers elected were Homer Hedington, vice president; Jim O'Connell, secretary; Ken Dolan, treasurer; Mike Dahy, activities coordinator, and John Redinger, historian.

Awards to outstanding cadets and units in Eastern's reserve officer training corps were made Friday in the annual achievement and awards day ceremonies.

Because of rain, competitions were held in the huge EWCE fieldhouse, followed by presentation of awards.

Lt. Col. Ted R. Schultz, won the highest award given to a cadet at EWCE when he was named the outstanding cadet. He was awarded a trophy by F. L. Ratcliffe Jr., Cheney. The trophy is donated by the C. A. Ratcliffe company.

The outstanding senior award, a pewter tray, given by the Reserve Officers association, Department of Washington, State chapter, went to Col. William H. Bumgardner. The presentation was made by Lt. Col. T. T. Wall.

The Reserve Officers association, Spokane chapter, medal for the senior cadet who displayed outstanding leadership and superior military competence was awarded to Lt. Col. Donald L. State by Lt. Col. Alva S. Neighbors, Spokane.

Cpl. David P. Smith won the Spokane Chamber of Commerce armed forces committee medal for the highest academic grades and strong leadership by a first year military science student. Col. Cecil G. Remington made the presentation.

Delores Jackson was named the outstanding member of the EWCE Sponsor corps. The award is donated by Owl Pharmacy, Cheney.

The medal given by the Military Order of World Wars, Spokane chapter, to the outstanding second year military science cadet who enrolls in advanced military science went to Sfc. William H. Dick. Major Richard Hagelin made the presentation.

Fourth Annual Arts Festival Acclaimed Success

Jazz Concert Boatman Is Hit

Relaxed, enjoyable, and entertaining are three words which certainly could describe the Armand Boatman Jazz concert and workshop, performed in Showalter auditorium last Thursday evening, as part of Eastern's Arts Festival.

The program started off with "Shortstop" by Shorty Rogers and brought the audience under a spell of attentiveness which was to last the rest of the evening. The quartet regulars, Armand Boatman at the piano; Phil McClintock, sax; Bill Watson, drums; Kyle (Mike) Pugh, bass, were joined by Willis Sander, alto sax and flute. All were at their best and Tom Hill, Jerry Burroughs and Melvin Hotchkiss joined in to give a big jazz festival effect to the show.

John Graas gave out with sounds that tickled the funny bones of all those familiar with the once simple song of grade school days. Another feature of the first half was Boatman's original composition, "Beat Generation," a sassy melodious tune displaying more of the ensemble's finesse.

During the second half, "Piouotette," another arrangement by Shorty Rogers, was one of the most enjoyable tunes of the evening. A triangle of tuba, bass sax, and bass gave an enjoyable effect to the arrangement.

A Dave Burger original, "Hero," was heartily enjoyed. It featured tremendous fanfares at the beginning and end, with a fire which balanced the composition.

The concert was Boatman's final performance to be played at Eastern this year, unless sometime in the future Eastern is again fortunate enough to have him scheduled for a performance.-P. B.

"Be Your Age"

Comedy Well-Liked

Anyone who missed one of the performance of "Be Your Age" which was presented during the Arts Festival here, missed one of the finest productions of the year.

The three-act comedy, by Mary Orr and Reginald Denham, played to five audiences who seemed to enjoy the play in spite of, or because of, the unique form of presentation.

There is much to be said for the theater-in-the-round, a modern version of the old Greek amphitheatres. Perhaps the intimate relationship created between the actors and the audience is its greatest asset.

Stan Rizzuti provoked the fine cast.—M. O.

audience to many a chuckle and even downright guffaws with a sparkling portrayal of Archibald K. Holly, a meaty part, just made for Rizzuti.

Bertha Glenn, in her role as the teenage daughter of Archibald, not only looked the part but gave a convincing performance of a teenage girl, Hollywood type.

Alice Reihl, Matt Finnigan, Jerry Neyland, Jean McWhirter, Elmer Kralman, Gaye Wood, Jeanne Prigmore, Shan Eggers, and Dr. Harold K. Stevens, filling in the minor but mirth-provoking role of Binky Butterworth, rounded out the Eastern's fourth annual Arts in Showalter along with paintings in all media. This display was popular with students and faculty.

> A display of works from the industrial arts department drew enthusiastic praise from all that saw the work displayed in the student union.

The three-act comedy "Be Your Age" played before good crowds and earned more than $100 for foreign student scholarships.

Armand Boatman's last concert before leaving for the army did not draw a full house but was quite an improvement over the 33 people who attended last year's Arts Festival concert. Boatman's performance was, as usual, superb, as was that of his sidemen.

Another featured attraction of the festival was the display of paintings, sculpture and ceramics on the second floor of Showalter hall, all the work of art students at Eastern, Whitworth and the WSU Art Cen-

Speech Class Sets Mock Senate Session

A mock session of the senate sub-committee on unfair labor practices will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the Bali room of the student union.

Students in Miss Alice Moe's advanced speech class make up the committee which is a group project designed to give the students practice in speaking and group planning.

The group of students will stage a public demonstration of the session based on the recent McClellan senate committee's investigations of James Hoffa and the teamsters union. Each of the senators will ask Hoffa a series of questions about his union.

Members of the committee are Ed Roland, Charles Mantello, Bill Zeeben, Bill Rufener, Robert Wolz, Eugene Corrigan, George Hanke, Jack Owens, Guy Moen, Richard Totten, Don Kartevold, Miles Kinzer, Ken Schmidt and chairman Wayne Spence.

SPEAKING OF KNIGHTS—Terry Doupe, Ben Glassley and Bob Ulrich, Eastern's knights in shining armor, have gone modern. Instead of using the old fashioned penetrating oil, the knights have purchased the new large economy size roll-on deodorent. They claimed this made it easier for them to drill in the ROTC achievement day. This was the last leg in their initiation into the Tomahawk chapter of Intercollegiate Knights.

Thackray Honored

A distinctive concert featuring British music of the twentieth century was presented last week by the college division of music as part of Eastern's Art Festival.

The program was designed as a fitting tribute to the fine services rendered the college this year by exchange professor Rupert Thackray from Bedford, England.

An exceptionally varied list of numbers called for and received expressive and sensitive treatment by the college Sinfonietta directed by James Rickey, the collegiate chorale directed by Dr. Wallace B. Pefley, a piano duo, a violin and piano duo, a piano-string trio and three soloists. From the opening 'Capriol Suite' of Warlock played by the Sinfonietta to the closing piano and string trio a high degree of excellence was maintained and the audience gave ample evidence of their enjoyment of the performances by their spirited applause.

In the "Five Bagatelles" by Finzi, Melvin Hotchkiss, a sophomore student clarinetist, showed a rich tonal palette and a fine interpretive sense.

Four vocal solos by Mrs. Barbara Rickey, soprano, were done with charm and lovely tone quality. The third song in the group was the composition of Mr. Thackray, who was also accompanist for the songs. Entitled "Neglectful Edward," it had a witty and novel character that caught on immediately with the audience.

The first half of the program was concluded with a group of piano numbers effectively handled by Miss Gwendoline Har-

The Collegiate Chorale opened the second half with one song each by Geoffrey Shaw and William Walton, and two by R. Vaughan Williams. Shaw's "Worship" was an impressive number clone with organ accompaniment, with Mrs. Jean Stevens at the conSmith On All-Star Evergreen Nine Ernie Smith, 20-year-old first sacker for the Savages, was selected by the coaches of the Evergreen conference to the all-star baseball team.

Smith, a graduate of North Central high school in Spokane and a physical education major here at Eastern, led the Savage nine in batting this year. Smith, during the season, batted .333, stole six bases, scored 13 runs and drove in 18.

Alksnis Art Exhibit Shown In Union

Janis Alksnis, a senior majoring in art, is presenting a one-man exhibit in the student union.

Alksnis' show opened Monday and will continue through June 3. It consistse of a display of his work in ceramics, and also oil paintings by this versatile artist.

Alksnis said that he will go to California for his masters degree after he graduates from Eastern this summer. He will go to Europe for further study, and return to Washington to open a ceramics factory.

rule as the Evergreen conference track champions. The cindermen lifted the crown from the defending Whitworth Pirates with a strong team victory over the other Evergreen schools at the annual conference meet last Saturday in Tacoma.

Senior hurdler Gary Fuller led the Savages with victories in both the high and low hurdles and tied for fifth in the high jump for a total of 161/4 points. This ran his point total for the year to a team--leading 663/4 points.

Eastern's only other blue ribbon came in the high jump when Don Cresswell and Leroy Seth were tied with Dick events and finished in fourth Knight of CWC at 6'2".

A pair of juniors, Clyde Carpenter and Seth, each scored in the double figures for the Savages with Carpenter getting 1034 points and Seth 10 1/3.

Seth accounted for a second in the broad jump and tied for first in the high jump. Carpenter came home second in the mile and second in the 880.

Recapping Eastern's showing in the meet: The mile saw Carpenter and Paul Frederick place second and third respectively, Stapleton was third in the 100-yard dash, and the high hurdles saw Fuller first and Mike Clark fifth.

Carpenter was second in the 880, Stapleton third in the 220 and the low hurdles saw Fuller first and Clark fifth.

Fredericks was second in the two-mile run and EWC's relay

Tennis Team Finished 3rd

Eastern netmen finished in a tie for third in a six team field in the annual Evergreen conference championships in Tacoma last weekend.

Eastern looked great in the opening round as they won both singles matches and the number one doubles. In that opening round, Mickey Soss, Eastern's number one player and number four seed in the tournament, drew a bye, and Roger Kromer, Eastern's number two singles player looked great in disposing of College of Puget Sound's number two singles player.

In the doubles, Soss and John Grosshans defeated Western's number two doubles team 6-1, 6-1 and Kromer and Tom Windsor lost a tough match to PLC's number two doubles, 6-4, 6-4.

Soss advanced to the semifinals by beating Central's Har-old Dobler, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 in the second round but he lost to Whitworth's Bobby Quall, 6-2, 6-3 in the semi's in a well played match. Kromer played well in losing his second round singles match to Marshall Reynolds of Whitworth, 6-1, 6-2. Roger aced Reynolds several times and displayed several fine cross-court volleys, but he failed to pull out the close games.

Eastern's number one doubles was also eliminated in the second round as they lost to Bill Nearents and Dick Marshall of Central, 6-2, 6-3.

Whitworth won the meet by winning both the number one and two singles and they were leading second place Central 2-0 in the final doubles before it was postponed because of rain.

The Savages once again team of Jim Krofcheck, Carpenter, Stapleton and Clark placed third.

The meet was run in wind, rain and hail which caused most of the times to be a little slow and thus prevented any new conference records.

The Savages, who scored 76-2/3 points to second place Central's 70 2/3, did not produce as many winners as was expected, but found they had to depend upon the consistency of their performers in getting second and third place points to amass the winning total.

Defending champion Whitworth picked up three firsts in the field events, but picked up only 16 points in all the track place, 10 points behind third place Western Washington.

The victory was Coach Red Reese's 20th conference championship plus a share in three others in his career as head coach for the Savages.

Eastern's next track event will be the NAIA district meet to be held at Whitworth college in Spokane Friday and Saturday.

Yesterday, Reese said there was a good possibility the whole EWC track team might be entered in the district meet.

A completely new approach to the young man's insurance problems has been announced by the Central Life Assurance Company, Des Moines, Iowa.

Jack Crabb, agent for Central Life, said the company's new "Estate Builder" is designed especially for young men between the ages of 20 and 34 who need a substantial amount of life insurance for family protection and for a hedge against the loss of insurability.

The Estate Builder solves both of these problems," Crabb said.

"A young man's ability to work and earn money usually makes his future earnings his largest asset. He must live to collect these future earnings, otherwise is family tends to lose tremendously. "However, few young men have the financial capacity to buy the life insurance they need from their relatively modeste earnings. The failure to own an adequate life insurance program subjects the man to the risk of uninsurability, and his family carries the risk of his premature death.

"While we agree that a young man needs protection against the possibility of becoming uninsurable later so that he can purchase additional insurance as his ability to save increases, we also believe that insuring insurability only leaves un-solved another more important problem — that is of having the needed protection today against the risk of pre-
