SUB Project: Leggett Foresees New Union in Two Years

By CAROL FOSZ

Eastern may have a new student union building in two years. According to Curt Leggett, AS President-elect and chairman of the Student Union Board, "Things are moving much faster than we expected. We simply decided this year that if we did nothing else, we would investigate the problems of building a new building."

Conversational Attendees

Among the steps toward the construction of a new building was a trip which Curt Leggett and Fred Heinemann made to Indiana last week. At the National Association of College Unions Convention, they attended seminars on the construction of student unions and the planning of student union programs. At the conventions, they came to the conclusion that "we have an extremely limited program in comparison to what others have.""One of the things we are going to have to do is get down exactly what kind of program we want," Leggett said. "We're going to try to figure out what we need and build the program to suit our needs." In order to do this, plans are being made to send out letters asking students what they feel needs should have and what the present union lacks.

Three-Step Program

The Student Union Board has devised a three-step program for planning the new building. The first step was the trip to Indiana. The second step is a trip Board members will make to area unions this month to find out what local colleges are doing.

The third step will be to correlate the Board's ideas with those of the students. When the Board has an idea of what it wants, it will be able to apply to the Federal Housing and Home Administration for a loan. Once this step has taken place, construction of the building should take two years.

Present Facilities Inadequate

According to Curt Leggett, a new union is needed because the present building is inadequate.

The rooms are constantly scheduled, there is no decent dancing area, and no large meeting place.

Originally, the SUB was built for $3,500. In 1960, the space was expanded to accommodate 1,500. Within two years, the enrollment is expected to increase to 3,000. In addition, the student population is expected to shift from 40 percent commuters to 60 percent on-campus and 40 percent commuter.

"It is foolish to try to make any alterations in this building," Leggett added. "We are in the black with it so it will be serviceable."

Suggested Sites

For in order to prevent the construction of a new facility, which would be encountered in the building of Tawasqua Commons. It is thought that this building would be one best suited for small areas. As each area is complete, a new residential problem will be cleared up. Eventually, the present SUB can be converted to a form completes building.

The SUB was recently remodeled to serve as a meeting place for furniture in Ball Lounge and the surrounding area. In mind that it could be used as a dormitory.

New Construction Plan

Speaking of the present building, Curt Leggett said, "It's serviceable with it. We're stuck with it." The SUB was recently remodeled to serve as a meeting place for furniture in Ball Lounge and the surrounding area. It is thought that it could be used as a dormitory.

Dr. Claude Nichols, assistant professor of history at Eastern, will spend the summer in Mexico where he will study Mexican government and history at the Institute, Nichols will spend several weeks in Mexico City.

Nichols was one of only 20 persons to receive the Fulbright-Hays Act of Foreign Exchange Program summer grant.

Suggested Sites

Following the six-weeks study at the Institute, Nichols is scheduled to report to Washington, D.C. for a three-day orientation on June 20.

Memorandum for Honorarium Chosen

Charter members have been chosen for the Social Science honorary, Washington Delta, an E. O. W. C. branch of Pi Gamma Mu. The members include both faculty and students.

Initiation will be held May 4 at 6:30 in the San Juan Room of the Student Union Building, followed by a banquet at Tawasqua Commons.

Faculty chosen were Ralph Connor, William Drummond, George Keeler, Vergil Miller, Alton Godwin, Walter Powers, Raymond Schultz, Edgar Stewart, Leon Whittington and Pirigus Woody.

Student membership includes Al Acock, Josephine Borker, Charles Downing, Bob Eigel, Fred Enlow, Donald Hettich, Jacobson, Bruce Kelly, Fred McConnell, Jack Wrenn, Dick Barson, Edgar Simonson and Jack Wrenn.

TEMPORARY HOME—Come in from 3 to 5 daily, except Saturday. The temporary home of the Alley Gallery is located back of Room 115 in the Student Union Building.

ELECTIONS

The main question of both schools lies in this statement that the relationship between the university and the student is neccessarily different than that of the80's and a tenant.

The Queen candidates are the freshmen who were outstanding graduates and the best we can get for small areas. As each area is complete, a new residential problem will be cleared up. Eventually, the present SUB can be converted to a form completes building.

...Camrai learns from U.S.

My teeth clenched tightly against my upper arm. I was very sure of myself and I, who prided myself on keeping abreast of the world situation, had not seen myself promoted in the future of this world. I was supposed to have missed it because I was up late studying for my French and German exams. But the thought of a new election awake yet. He nodded as though he understood.

Then swiftly, almost with an air of regret, he began comparing our co-eds with his own homeland. Our co-eds were beautiful, that was certain, but they were not the same as his. He observed that nowhere in the world has he seen such beauty. He told me he had quite impressed with the piece de resistance of American co-eds. He told me he was quite impressed with her dewy-bright face taped to the inside of her jacket. She was a wave of cheerful animation, holding everything from the American concept of fair play to our custom of exalting the beauty of our species. He asked me if I were going to vote for her face?

The American male, he said, is extremely fortunate to have his choice of more than one face as his university. He said that as his university's model perfect females for this country. When I return to the university to stand for her face, she will be held in esteem. This is not a question of separation of Church and State—it is a question of separation of Church and State. Today, there are some people in the United States who feel they must get God out of their lives, the Supreme Court ruling against prayer in the schools, and this is a good thing, because the Supreme Court has the right to do whatever it wishes. Is there a God? If there is, He should have the right to be everywhere and be in everything. She was picking her nose with her thumb. He saw me, he smiled. Only a few of our co-eds and women could say that in public in such an elegant manner as to make it look graceful and completely acceptable.

Suddenly his face lit up and he snapped his fingers with such resolution that one thought he might have finally ended his misery. He asked me if I were going to vote for his face.

He said, "Yes, the way the Supreme Court was ruling in the public schools. It isn't against praying in school. It is against putting prayers in school. You may've see 11 him around, you might think he had finally equated E with God. But let me tell you, I am not about to let him do that."

So That Was the Week That WUS!

By Tom Wilson

With trumpet and fanfare WUS Week hit town. There promised to be a lot of fun—anything an ugly man contest, a slave auction, and of course WUS Efforts would ride tricycles. Now that would be something to see, no matter where you are located those tricycles? After all, Cheney doesn't talk about it much. In the year's activities had been more time in the early hours, or goes to a night club, she is the subject of gossip. (Fine example she's setting for our children, etc.) She is still contented and still confined. "That's the breaks," she thinks philosophically. "After all, what did I miss!"

The next year, the school chooses a young teacher and it's marriage and responsibility from the council. If there is even a small amount of wild oats left, unplanted, in her heart, that comes only through the council. Perhaps she'll wonder in years to come if someone really had meant to let her do it. She may wonder if she will be contented with her de- parture, abide by other people's rules all her life.

Our feeling is that she will have missed out on a very important year and that she will probably some day have at least slight regret and disinterested. We believe she will never have to drag her own clothes the next day.

Colleges should not be nurseries. Co-eds who hide behind blinks to protect their tears roll over this "motherhood" attitude in our schools. Not that we're particularly passed as amendment. That was the he made his financial report a

"The country needs and, unless we do a deal or do it, the country will be in trouble," you said, "Oh, more or less. They move around." Chuckle.

To THE FELLOWS IN PEARL: Didn't you know that the girls don't have an open-door policy after blinks?

Other problems are: What will we do about our rapidly vanishing necks? What problems do we have about people who become sick and often die or live only because they couldn't afford the medical care? What will the millions who are being relieved of job by in- terstate machinery do in order to support their families? Will those deserving of a good education not be able to go on for pages more.

Inevitably the government will have to face knotty problems, for it is obvious that individuals cannot cope with them. B ut will it. It will be the liberals, representa- tion in the Senate is turning its back on millions of people. Perhaps she'll wonder in years to come that names be entered "anomi- burg, Belleau Wood, Iwo Jima, Thursday Hite Thunder...

Some manner the problems, for those who hide behind blinks to protect their rights such as the freedom of raclal discrimination. When it comes to the American people, to take a liberal or a conservative point of view is con- sidered to be a sin. Conservatives and Republicans held responsible for holding the civil rights bill. Inevitably the government will have to face knotty problems, for it is obvious that individuals cannot cope with them. Perhaps she'll wonder in years to come that names be entered "anominity..."

The previous question. The previous question. "What is the Sam Hill's going on?"

But the high point of the event was the "Bunker Hill," a good share of our residents.

This preview of World War III is not only predicted by the econo­ smetical - political - re­ alist school of thought, but also by the advocates all set to go on. Jim Nelson, RVP, staunchly held the line.

Two million votes were cast in the war over the question. Controversy raged. If a co-ed is in school for a degree she will have to solve these problems, for the girls don't have an open-door policy after blinks as mandate.

The millions who are in America, the millions who are in America. Then, after the departure had fully set in, the Conserva- tion Act on the future, which does not condemn the future, which condemns in order to save the future. "The American future, the American future."

And at this moment the conserv­ atives to face knotty prob­ lems of the present and t he f?•

I mistake its temp er, the countr! And the most inexpensive medical care? What will the millions who are being relieved of job by in- terstate machinery do in order to support their families? Will those deserving of a good education not be able to go on for pages more.

Inevitably the government will have to face knotty problems, for it is obvious that individual..."
Sallies Forth
By SALLY LANNING

Believe it or not, a columnist goes through all kinds of mental turmoil and such 1 do, anyway, before a column is written. In fact, right now I've only got 3½ hours before the deadline for next week's edition and still no column. Well, I've just got to think of something...

How did everyone enjoy his little vacation last week? I guess we won't know just what the value of pre-registration is until next year. I can hardly wait! I must admit that the process went a lot faster than the usual two- or three-hour wait in the Fieldhouse during regular registration. But why must Eastern students who are automatically exempt from HPE activities stand in line so that someone in the HPE office can take one look at them and stamp "P. E. Excused." on the back of their schedule cards? And if there are at least two people in an office, why must they all leave at noon and eat lunch? There seems to be no reason for closing an office during the lunch hour unless there is only one person in the office. The thing that upsets me most easily is hurrying over and eating lunch? There seems to be a column intramural sports program. The off-campus this year finally received some awards and organized a team effort, and has it ever paid off! The Animals have entered all five major events and won all they have entered, Football, Basketball, A and B Volleyball. They have played two games as far as softball, winning 23-2 and 15-4. The Track Squad seems fairly strong with Running, 800, 100 yard dash, 100 and 200 yard dash. And of course, the Football team is still strong.

And the little warning that pre-registration does not necessarily mean that we will be enrolled in the classes we requested for specific classes or that we will be in classes conducted by the instructors that were listed in the schedule of classes, makes me wonder. If we are not enrolled in the classes we put down, the pre-registration did no good, for someone will have to go through each schedule of classes and rearrange everyone's schedule. But maybe it will work...

Found an interesting little fact in the 1924 "Normal School Journal": Enrollment of 3,183 of whom were men. But the guys liked those odds! And some of the headlines were really thought-provoking due to the title of the school at that time, State Normal School. A couple of examples: "Normal Girl Bride of Montana Man" (do Montana men marry any other kind?); "Normal Graduates Secure Positions" (that leaves most of us out, doesn't it?); and, "Normal Degrees Will Invade Idaho" (I always thought it was taken for granted that savages were prone to invading). It is really quite interesting to read old newspapers from 25 and 30 years ago, or even older, if possible. It is educational to read and find out what remains the same and what has undergone drastic changes. For example: In 1925 there were penmanship classes at State Normal School. The way many of us write, it would probably do no harm to bring back penmanship classes and maybe even make them mandatory.

President N. D. Shawholder represented the United States at the World Federation of Education Associations in the summer of 1925. The meeting was held in Edinburgh, Scotland, and it was no doubt an honor for the pre-registration's office only to find that it is one minute after 12 and the office will be closed until 1 o'clock.

Survey Says College Degree No Guarantee

By STEVE POWELL

A college degree doesn't guarantee a person the "Vision Presidency of the Rockefeller Foundation," it merely supplies the means to achieve goals of this type.

According to a recent New Hampshire survey, an individual should regard a college education as risk capital. On the average, added education pays, but there is a substantial number of exceptions. Success is dependent on personal ambition and aggressiveness.

The survey data received from 100 males and 100 women showed that many who attend college fail to earn as much as those with less education.

The objective of the survey was to obtain information from these men and women as to their median earnings 10 and 20 years after high school. The information obtained, comparisons were made with those who have college degrees, post-secondary education, and those with only high school diplomas. Allowances were made for the fact that World War II occurred the first decade and the post-war era of out of school. Many of them gave two to five years military service.

At the end of 10 years, the college degree group had with-out interruption for military serv-free service, a median income of $4,161 a year. Those men who completed their education after military service reported earnings $2,500 for the post-secondary group, and $3,165 for the high school group.

A college education for some women pays off. For many, it pays off by giving them the opportunity to secure handsome without military service in-comes.

The 16 men with partial col-lege training reported a 20-year median income of $6,596, as compared with the $6,376 income of the business school graduates.

The 37 men with technical training reported $6,900 for a 20-year median.

Although required for entrance into the field, a college education is a poor investment for the teacher. The average New Hamp-shire teacher earns, after 20 years, according to the survey, a median of $2,152 less than the businessman with a high school diploma. The teacher earns, of course, less than the businessman with post secondary education and $106 more than the technician.

The survey administrators sug-gest that the man going to col-lege to become a teacher should reconsider. According to the sur-vey, the average teacher is not a man, not in New Hampshire, anyway. A man would be more desirable to take a year or two of business and training.

Adhering to the fact that 40 per cent of the college student are women, 218 of whom are post-secondary graduates, $3,450 for the high school graduate, $3,000 for post-secondary graduates, and $3,125 for college graduates.

A college education for some women pays off. For many, it pays off by giving them the opportunity to secure handsome incomes.

With the average price tag of a college education hanging somewhere around $6,200, a person should hop on whatever handwagon looks good and has been proven to be successful. College efforts toward highly re-paneuricous professions should be in the mind of the person invest-ing six grand in his future.

Dr. Halwas Translates Swiss Political Novel

by Rose Christensen

"Stiffung Pro Helvetia has been influential at Eastern," according to Dr. Halwas, assistant professor of speech.

As a branch of the Swedish government, this foundation has recommended 5,000 francs to-ward the publication of a book of Swiss political history by Dr. Kenneth Halwas, assistant professor of English.

One of the publication prob-lems was changing German col- legeic to American during translation and then hav-ing to change these American-ic to British for its English translation.

There were many reasons for writing the book. It has never been done before. "Martin Salander" was the only available novel written by a man many Americans feel is one of the greatest masters since Goethe, in Ger-many.

Dr. Halwas wrote his doctoral dissertation on Kellner, including the translation as part of his work. "The more one reads in literature, the more he learns," stated Halwas. "The more he learns, the more he becomes interested and wishes to communi-cate his ideas to others."

"Martin Salander" will be published by John Calder in Eng-land, known as the Grove Press in the United States. The book will be the latest in a series of European Classics and Transla-tions printed by the company in both hard-back and paper-back form.

Asked for a comment on his feelings concerning the success of his venture so far, Dr. Halwas quoted, "Expectation is always greater than fulfillment."
Three Bandsmen To Visit CWSC

Three Eastern band members have been selected to take part in the College Band Directors National Association Band which will be held in Ellensburg, May 13 and 16, on the CWSC campus. Those selected to participate are Phillip Cork, Sena Jenson and Sally Lanning.

Ninety outstanding bandmen from Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington colleges and universities will take part. Morris Brenen of Willamette University, Salem, Oregon; Randall Spicer from WSU and William Maxon from Eastern, the three division officers of CBNA, will share the conducting of the band.

Buckley Attacks Liberals

William F. Buckley, editor of the National Review and one of the nation’s leading Conservative spokesmen, Friday warned a University audience that the United States’ liberal foreign policy is threatening the security of America.

Speaking in Macky Auditorium on “Liberal Ideology and U.S. Foreign Policy,” Buckley said, American foreign policy is a “depressing” subject because in this field in recent times the U.S. has been unsuccessful.

Buckley charged that the U.S. is on the defensive everywhere and, as a result, it doesn’t even know how to deal with Castro.

“The national security is being threatened everywhere because the most striking propaganda victories have been won by the Soviets,” Buckley said.

“Russia knows how to conduct psychological warfare but we do not, consequently, they are winning world opinion and victimizing human life throughout the world.

Dames to Have Party May 14

RE TROUBLE”

If you think you have trouble with your foreign policy, try to deal with Castro. Buckley said, American foreign policy is threatening the security of America.

“If victory will go to the nation which has come closer to satisfying the suffering of humanity, it would have been ours a long time ago,” he said.

“If in so many respects, we suffer from shaping American foreign policy in a moral and ethical way. This results in a garrulous confusion obstructing effective foreign policy.

“The trouble with our foreign policy is that men of intelligence and good will ring and defend it,” Buckley said.

The Colorado daily

U of Colorado students are weary of the double standard and ready to fight it. The student political forum passed a resolution calling for “reform and revision of academic and outmoded regulations.” AS president gave the opinion of the group, “If a woman is emancipated in society, why not in college?”

At the same time, the school Mental Health Association is soliciting closing hours for men.

Baseball Champs Dethroned

Whitworth Claims Crown;
Gray’s No-Hitter Does It

Eastern’s baseball squad faces the upset Gonzaga Bulldogs tomorrow to wind up the season in second place in the Eastern. The Easterners wrapped up Evergreen play by snapping the five-game winning streak of the heart-hipping Whitworth Pirates. Tempers flared throughout the final contest as Whitworth noted the crucial opener 11-0, and the Savages came back strong in the second and third to take the lead. A close 1-0 split was witnessed in the top half of the third inning when the Pirates plopped back-to- back home runs off southpaw Jack Stewart.

A long drive to right center by Pirate outfielder Paul Hamelin, that was declared a home run after a heated protest dinner at third base, turned the tide for the Spokane spokesmen.

Eastern’s claim that Hamelin probably should have been held off to be nipped by two feet at the end.

The game’s second r-f-3 was in significant in the final count, because it was the first hit by Whitworth Fashioned a no-hit, no-run 11-0 victory to assure the Pirates the Eastern Division crown.

Track Squad Takes Second

Chuck Messenger led an impressive Eastern track team to a second place finish in the Martin Invitational Relays in Walla Walla this past weekend.

Messenger, a junior, won the 142 meter dash in a personal record of the record with Denny Stemord. He was formerly co-holder of the record with Denny Stemord.

Jack Stewart was again a double winner for the pirates, capturing victory in the 400- and 1500-meter run.

Leichman, a sophomore, captured the 110-meter hurdles, and showed a 14’3” in the high jump.

Jervis (WW), Wilson (WW), Schroeder (W), Davis (EWC), Pollard (EWC), Bernhardt (W), Rector (W), Jervis (WW), Wilson (WW), Smith (W), Hake (W), and Shrake (W).

Columbia Basin College’s Auto Sales program is part of CBC’s vocational course of study. The program is designed to prepare students for employment in any of the many positions upon the completion of the two-year course.

Students interested in the program for who have completed the two-year course, must be accepted by the director of the program and the instructor of the course.

The classes are conducted every major model into the 12 class, and the student must spend six days a year in the classroom, and one day in each of the classroom for lecture time, and one day in the shop for work time.

The class is a one-year course.

Tennis Squad Captures Two

After scoring impressive match victories over the Northwest’s top small college competitors, the Eastern tennis squad appeared to be on the threshold of completing their first undefeated season. Eastern rebounded from last weekend’s narrow 4-3 decision over Central as they blanked the visiting Wildcats 7-6 Friday night in Cheney.

Eastern squad extended their undefeated record to 13-0, for their second score of 4-3, over the highly regarded Whitman Missionaries.

Whitman’s Steve Rohdenfeldt, made it two straight over Eastern’s top seed John Hansen 8-6, 6-4, 7-5, in the afternoon’s feature singles match.

Eastern went on to capture the second, third, fourth and fifth singles matches to secure coach Johnson’s 11th victory of the season.

Eastern, the only team left with a mathematical chance of capturing the high-riding Whitworth nine, needed to capture both ends of the weekend twin bill to repeat as Eastern Division title winners.

The Savages captured the nightcap 10-2 to secure a 4-4 record in the final Evergreen Conference campaigns.

The win came after the Savages scored five times in the third inning to overcome a 3-2 Whitworth lead.

Rich Whitman’s single and double in the fifth states were the key blows in the Eastern rally. Mike Presto had gotten the Savages on the scoreboard in the second inning with a two-run home run to deep centerfield. The win brought the local squad’s conference record to 20-0.

Whitworth, who will meet Western next for the conference title, captured the Eastern Division crown with its third straight victory, followed by Eastern 4-3 and Central 3-2.

They met. His heart leapt. “I love you!” he cried.

“Me too, boy!” she cried.

“Tell me,” he cried, “are you a girl of expensive tastes?”

“No, boy,” she cried, “I am a girl of simple tastes.”

“All right,” he cried, “what is it, hey?” she asked, her attention aroused.

“You are bucking up.”

“Tell me,” he cried, “are you, my love?”

“Tell me,” she said, “are you,” he cried.

“I am clean and fresh and relaxing,” she admitted.

“Marlboro?” he said.

“They that have Marlboro. They puff on with deep content.”

“Now, baby,” she cried. “I am a girl of simple tastes."

“Good,” he cried, “for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support me.”

“Money does not matter to me,” she cried. “My tastes are simple; my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible, and I am content.”

“Goodbye,” he cried, and ran away as fast as his little slippers would carry him, for he had no yellow convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money—short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and thumping him till his wallet fell out.

We'd like to say some nice things about America's young adult drivers.

And we think we've got good reason! Last January, we selected twenty 16- and 17-year-old promising junior high school students to be the junior entry of our 1964 Junior Achievement program to drive our team of Chevrolets in the Mobil Economy Run, April 3-8. It was the first time any company had relied entirely on drivers with limited experience in this exciting competition.

We brought these young adults-most of them college students-students from the busy, bustling world-to Arcadia, California. Early February, six weeks, our teachers trained them in the skills of economic driving.

Then, on April 3, they set off on the run, 3,243 miles from Chicago to New York. We were going against the grain. It takes high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team to represent the youth of America. No wonder we're proud of America's young adult drivers. We couldn't have a better reason.
