Eastern’s ‘Sad Sac’

Stewart F. Udall (D. Ariz.)

President To Attend Education Meeting

Dr. Ed R. Patterson, president of Eastern, will attend a Liberal Arts Conference on Education in Seattle on October 12. He is a member of the commission on education.

Dr. Jack B. Leighton, head of Eastern’s division of health, education, and recreation, will also attend, as will Governor Rothschild, as a speclist in his field.

The governor also quoted Tom Ellis, president of the Associated Students Body, to attend the meeting.

Play Tourneys Today

Dr. Harold G. Stevens will hold a series of tournaments in October in Stewart Hall to raise funds for the purchase of a new statue. One which will be constructed of a stronger material and one that will be all the president’s.

John Andrew, former editor of The Easterner and the Charity Free Press and current news editor of KGTV, said that he will match the $1000 raised by the students.

Tom Ellis, student body president, said that a new statue will be purchased for as little as $5000, up to $3000.

The present statue may contribute to the ‘Sad Sac’ office at The Easterner office, 303 in Showalter.

In Student Union Cafeteria Operation

The operation of the student union cafeteria is a subject of vital concern to all of us at Eastern. Complaining about it has become a general campus activity.

There are a great many problems involved in the operation of this facility which students do not understand. This misunderstanding can be cleared up if students do a bit of reading.

One of these concerns the labor cost involved in serving the large number of students who frequent the cafeteria. Those who demand better service than is now rendered could do a bit to improve the situation by cooperating with the management and staff.

If we were all effective as the free labor utilized in our conduct in the union, it would be a much more pleasant place for everybody.

By党员我们的毕业生, our spirits may be somewhat reduced, but the cost of combatting the cafeteria is

When we have eaten our share of the better conditions and with a full stomach, we will naturally reduce the cost of consuming the cafeteria.

If we have ever done our best to improve the conditions in the union, then only then will we have a right to gripe about the shortcomings of others. After that is necessary is that we take some of our own students as we would our own

Congratulations Due Whitman College

Last week Whitman college at Walla Walla celebrated its 100th year of operation.

We at Eastern wish to extend our sincere congratulations and best wishes on this historic milestone of one of our sister colleges.

The faculty and administration of Whitman college can be justly proud of the fine record and excellent academic reputation secured through 100 years of educating American youth.

Bury Of War In Steel Industry Must Be Stopped

By Bill Brophy

The scope of the American economy will continue.

This is the most significant of the court order restraining the Tri-state injunction in the current steel strife.

Nearly half a million workers throughout the country will now have to be patient. Thousands of steelworkers, powerless in the face of intransigent management of the steel plants they own, will have to be patient. Hundreds of companies, forced to suspend operations for lack of steel, will have to be patient.

And we, the people who must pay the bill for both the unions and the companies, will have to be patient.

How long will our patience last?

There are signs that it is not as an end. Congressmen speak of a special session to end the strike by direct legislation. This doesn't seem to eliminate the deplorable administration which has finally been stirred into action—with the usual

New EW Trio Receives Variety of Names From Students

Bill Nordmark, Don Jones and Gary Overly, three freshmen who have formed a new trio to perform at Eastern, have been looking for a name for their group. Here are a few suggestions submitted by our readers: "The Six String Trio," "Saxa Singers," "The Mormon Tabernacle Choir," "Bastianoff," "The Gospel Chorale" and "The Madisonites." These

See you name in print! Anyone who contributes to the "Bad Sack Fund" will be mentioned in the Easterner.

Prof. Stahl, a graduate of this college, and beginning graduate student of George Washington university, wrote Dr. Davenport a letter telling about his study. The following is an excerpt from that letter:

"Since I arrived at this university and have seen the diversity that so many graduate students are facing in the way of course titles and other requirements, I am certain that your graduate students must have been interested in the topic I am studying. If you have prepared a paper on this subject, I would appreciate it if you would send it to me."

The Easterner has been endorsed by the national music educators of Ohio state. It's just the right time. A talent forming program got underway this year.

ASB President Says

ASB Officer Welcomes Complaints

Really, I think that this could be said of the ASB. You'd be surpised to know how many complaints the student center is always open, and I assume it's the same in my office most of the days and Thursdays.

The ASB is where your suggestions and complaints will be most needed now.

Only through the voice of the students can your student government learn what problems should be made in problem areas of the school you.

Everyone in the school is represented by an appropriate student council representative. If you don't know who that person is, you're not far from one of your officers and are you wonder.

ABSTRACT

By Tom Emmis

Unnecessary is a necessary evil, however, if it is hidden from the public. The laws are so misleading and the laws of the public sector are so unenlightened that it is not surprising that the courts have been forced to make these decisions. A new law must be enacted if the public interest is to be served.

The function of a steel industry, both of composition and union, is to produce steel. Profits and wages must be secondary to this responsibility. The steel industry is a great national asset, and the time is ripe when the people will demand it.

SPORTS LOOKING UP

With Al Rudy

Saturday's game with the Whitworth Pioneers will mark the coming of another Northwest conference contest for Eastern Washington, and in terms of season it hardly can be considered significant, at least up to this point. The Swagges go into this game with a 1-2 record.

Last year the Swaggers finished the season with a 4-4 record, and with a 2-3 record for conference play. Not much more concern exists.

Luckily when a club finishes rather than in the standings, it's attributed to green time and last year's squad could be defined as that, for only six men were left off the squaral graduation.

There were several expected to return that had seen plenty of action last year, and some who had made the starting team. Half of all these players been back, the season might have turned out dif-frent.

However, new academic regulations were established that proved to be a much better way to get rid of half of them than fiinction. By the time the season began, had lished, the 1959

Of course this is nothing new here at Eastern, but it has been even finer noticeable in the basketball team than in football. Assuming it's been on W. B. "Black" Stone, this is the first time it has been that only those that had graduated were the

This year there are some fewer seniors on the Eastern gridiron than past years, leaving next year's squad a little far ahead, providing more chance for a new back.

Some predecessors on the squad have displayed potential that caught more than most Eastern football hitting players.

Names of Mike Merchand, Jay Starks, Dave Cassell and many others have been known off the field as skilled Eastern competitors. I join with the coaching staff in wishing each at least 80 percent of the squad will be all

With the coming Whitworth contest only three days away, at least four more can be considered contesting.

I had been on the right end of that wrathfulness for the last two years, I might have done some extensive research in finishing this article.

It is probably evident at this point that my confidence is at rather a new low. However, I understand that I am not alone in this I have heard that Mr. Smith has been on the lookout for misunderstood whatchamacallit. May his search be not in vain.

For reference, your football hosts, this is not to forget you must encounter. Go out there and let them have it.

Deadline Near

Dr. L. E. Patmore, director of the professional education program, said any students who wish to have an interview for admission to the professional education program Thursday evening November 12, must have his application on file in the admissions office Martin Hall 106 by October 30. This is a prerequisite for registration in curriculum and procedures for winter quarter, he added.

'Rags To Riches' Please Audience

The Virginia City Players' presentation of the nineteenth century melodrama, 'Rags To Riches' played a large audience last Thursday evening in the Student Auditorium.

First impressions were mixed. The operetta's controversial setting of the Revival in 1890 impressed authority. But the dialogue, characterization, action and style of acting captured the audience during the opening scenes. These features ofrevival were not duplicated until the scene of a melodrama, treatment of melodrama establihed itself.

For many, the play was a sudden surprise and probably should be continued to make friends, and if the play had a fault it was in the matter of treatment.

Western Dance Set

The senior class is preparing for its annual Western Dance to be held in the student union lounge October 31, Saturday, 9 to 12 p.m.

Larry Earl and his group will provide the music.

The audience Monday night, however, found all characters acted with integrity. The ensemble acting was well-balanced, smooth, and of rapid tempo. The interaction of the audience was consistent with that of the innocent portrayals of Romeo and Juliette. All in all, the audience could not ask for more. The evening and the rapport between audience and performers was complete. As it said in the program: "Good will rule!"—INS
