A new policy that requires all students to complete a form indicating they have taken an English course by the end of their sophomore year will be considered by the state legislature, reports the Washington Post. The new policy, which is intended to improve student writing skills, could be debated in the House and Senate as early as next week.

The policy, which was implemented in 1959 by the Washington State University Board of Regents, requires all students to take a course in English composition before they can graduate. This requirement is intended to ensure that all students are proficient in written communication.

The policy has been met with mixed reactions from students and parents. Some argue that the policy is unnecessary and that it places an undue burden on students, while others support it as a way to improve the quality of education.

The policy could become law if it is approved by both the House and Senate and signed by the governor. If it is vetoed, it could be reintroduced in future legislative sessions.

The policy is expected to be debated in the Washington State House of Representatives and the Senate in the coming weeks.
Korean Students Cross World To Study

By Zoke Livingston

Don Kwon, 23, Han Bong, 22, and Nan Si, 21, three students from the University of Seoul, made their way to San Francisco this week to study at the University of California at Berkeley. This is the first time young people from the Far East have been able to study at the university.

The students are part of a group of 10 Korean students who are studying at the University of California at Berkeley on a Fulbright Scholarship.

The students said they are excited to be studying at the university and hope to learn as much as possible.

The students are staying in a dormitory on the university campus and are taking classes in various subjects, including English, American history and culture, and science.

The students said they are looking forward to meeting other students and learning about American culture.

The students said they are grateful for the opportunity to study at the university and hope to return to Korea with a better understanding of American culture and society.

The students said they are also looking forward to exploring the city and visiting other places of interest.

Annual Carnival To Have "Disneyland" As Theme

"Disneyland" has been selected as the theme of the annual MAD-FUN carnival to be held February 23, according to General Chairman Paul Hooper and Chair Lynne Ford.

Carnival, sponsored by various groups as campus organizations associated with the "Disneyland" theme, is held each year, and prizes will be awarded to the best two booths and to the booth with the best barker.

Study Wins High Praise

"Impact of Frontier Air Force Base on the Spokane Area" a paper written by EWCE student Freda Hamblin, received honorable mention in the Northwest issue of the "Scientific American magazine published by the Northwestern University.

Hamblin's paper includes such influence on the environment as economic, potential, and the impact on health and the impact on the people, animals, and a normal Spokane.

In the paper Hamblin realised the importance and social impact of the issue as compared to that of a large scale industrial plant and offers that it is easily reviewed if not faced in importance in the Spokane area.

Members of the research group were Robert Beswick, Robert Bechst, Freda Hamblin, and Dr. H. E. Hagey, advisor.

A new policy is in effect this year where students are not to receive any money of their proceeds from the booths. Under this policy, the students are not to receive any money from the booth.

A special feature to the "Yogi Man" contest which will be held in conjunction with the carnival will be given in character.

Committee chairman for the contest is Carol Hurley and Yogi Robinson, general chairman, with the competition, taking place in the Yogi and Robinson's, and Tom Freeman will be in charge of selection.

Christmas Bazaar

Eastern Wins By 1

Eastern Washington almost captured the 51 points lead with a 53-point lead. The game was held at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 14. However, the team managed to gain 21 points and came within 13 points of each other. The team's lead was 43 points and came from a win over Wheelock College. The team would have to work hard to keep the lead, but they were able to maintain their lead and come within about an inch of the final. The team's lead was 50 points and they had a point lead over the Whitman team.

Cagers To Meet Whitman Again Sat. At Othello

With three cents under the eastern cagers' belt, I think it is apparent they have a considerable distance to go before they will be top power in the conference over 2500 men.

The coaches displayed some inspirational moments with taking little to be desired, but also in all three games there has been moments when looked like a mediocre college club.

These moments came from the Westminster State games. In the second half of the basketball game, play and flow was far more adequate. In the Westminster match they had another good first half but then began to fall apart. Of particular is the lack of team play but individual performances with the best play produced excellent offensive/defensive at times and left some perfect shots open, but Eastern could not seem to take advantage of the fumbles.

If the 55 shots attempted at least half were simple layups or tips but only five field goals were converted for a poor 10 percent.

The rebound department the opponents grabbed 101 while the Bobcats took 91. In only one game of the three have the Eastern Bobcats won. Against Whitman they got 20 in the Madison St. Mike. Max Johnson, in 60 seconds, doubled the lead Eastern attempt of twice.

Coach Tom Rose is still looking for the right fit, and being faced with an almost new coaching, deciding what is plenty of games begin the pre-season need for competition.

Whitman Sets At Orleans

Roy Matsumura seemed to be the height of his glory on the return trip from Willow Man, when he added for the missing line and turned Whitman county with 10 hours in his pocket.

About 7 miles out of Willow Man on the way to Arcata the bus developed engine trouble, at least when I looked from a very long, we had pulled to the side of the road and the driver was trying to start it. Failing, he bailed a car and started off in the opposite direction. Some minutes later, after being passed by the entire motorcade, Matsumura tried to start it, and start it did. With the interference of following the driver Matsumura found a wide spot in the road, only to discover there was a crack in the oil. Traveling from 45 to 50 mph Matsumura tried to start it and after two or three tries at the axis and starting he was able to get out of Willow Man.

The players, Matsumura, Campbell and Gary Roberts all standing outside the car were inside and were all reported safe.

Starting Questions

The starting lineup for Eastern has yet been determined and it is likely to be the same as last week, with Bob Mattison and Bob Nelson at the posts, and Shorty and Rick Kirk. Tom Danielson, one of the finest student-athletes, is in the starting lineup.

A DRW two-cylinder engine connected to a four-cylinder Volkswagen and has power for the little cars, but not so much, for speed is also important in racing.

This made it possible to carry a large piece of luggage, but still have enough room for the driver and co-driver.

In order to build the frame body, a pattern was taken from the car, and all parts were carefully cut out to fit the body. The body was then covered with sheet metal, and the frame work was made from light-gauge steel, which is lighter and stronger than the usual steel.
