Little Selected for Peace Corps Trainee

Larry Little, outgoing president of the EWSF Associated Student Body, has been selected for Peace Corps training in New Mexico, Albuquerque, J. Little received a bachelor of arts degree with a major in political science. He is a graduate of John Rogers High School and assistant director of the Washington State National Guard. Upon successful completion of training, little will be assigned to Peru.

He is the second EWSF student to graduate and work for Peace Corps training. His assignment is as a cooperative assistant for training.

Annual Geography Tour To Cover 3000 Miles

The 1963 Eastern Washington State College annual geography field tour will be a 3000 mile trip starting August 15 and continuing through August 27.

Francis J. Schade and chairman of the EWSC department of geography, said any interested, including family groups, may enter the tour. Persons who make the trip, College credit may be obtained, and persons on the trip may camp or stay in motels.

The group will be limited to 30 persons, Schade said, with reservations for those wishing to travel longer joining June 19. All travel will be by private automobile.

Starting from EWSC in Cheney, the group will drive to Missoula, Montana, and Salmon, Idaho, from where it will drive via Craters of the Moon, Yellowstone National Park, to Logan, Utah.

From Logan, the tour will go via Cedar City, Utah, and Bingham open pit copper mine, and the Flaming Gorge and Dinosaur National Monument.

Then from Vernal, the group will visit Zion Canyon, Glen Canyon and the Grand Canyon, from there to Page, Arizona, and return to Cheney via Salt Lake or Nevada.

Scholarships And Loans Plentiful For 1963-64 Students

Eastern Washington State College students may expect a good year as $40,000,000 in scholarships and loans for the 1963-64 academic year.

In addition, more than $30,000 in scholarships were awarded to students for the 1963-64 academic year.

Dr. Daryl Harg, EWSC dean of students, said the largest single source of scholarship cash comes from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for National Defense Student Loans.

Last year, EWSC granted $16,000 for such loans, he said, and the college asked for $150,000 for next year. But because of many requests for more, much was made, the federal agencies unable to meet the demands.

Eastern had been granted $50,000 for military defense loans, Dr. Harg said, and another $50,000 for the college, in August to bring the total amount to up at least $100,000, with the possibility that the full amount of the request, $150,000, would be allotted by the federal government.

In addition, $25,000 in loans is available through the United States Student loan program, and another $25,000 for emergency loans through the United States Student Funds.

The $30,000 in scholarships comes from Associated Student Body, the college, industrial, business, civic and service groups.

Luncheon Tomorrow

The Delta Chi chapter of Phi Delta Kappa will have a noon luncheon in the LA small dining room at 11:30 a.m.
EWSC Shows Award

With Grade School

Eastern Washington State College and Marcus Whitman Elementary School in Richland are the recipients of a grant to make the Atomic city school a demonstration center of an advanced library program for "schools of tomorrow."

The award was announced in a unique road-side press conference Monday morning by the American Library Asso­ciation. A telephone loud­speaker, arrangement was set up in Richland and in New York City, where the Central Park Road Elementary school of Plainview, N. Y., and Teachers College of Columbia University were announced as the other recipients.

The program is part of a five-year, $1,250,000 effort supported by a grant from the Knapp Foundation, Inc., New York City to the ALA. Each program will receive grants of $200,000 to start it, and make it each elementary school demonstration center for teams of school administrators, librarians, teachers, and interested laymen and college students to observe the effects of advanced school library programs, meeting the national standards, on improving a school's education program.

James E. Bryan, president of the ALA, and Curta Paul Bo­ma, president of the American Association of School Li­brarians, a division of the ALA and a department of the Na­tional Education Association, announced the selection of the schools from among the 119 throughout the nation which applied.

Each school which applied for the two year grants submit­ted an application jointly with a teacher-training institution. EWSC will supply a team of school librarians from its faculty to work with the Richland school district, said project funds would help to "build a fine instructional resource center which could serve as a learning laboratory for all elementary school children, teachers, and parents."

Dr. Roland E. Lewis, head of the EWSC division of educa­tion and psychology, said work on the Richland program will begin immediately.

On June 13, a court order brought to the attention of school librarians, restrained Idaho offi­cials from enforcing the state's loyalty oath statute against 45 officials on the grounds that it violates the First and Fourth Amendments of the Constitution. Public employees, Washington state Colege officials, Richland school superintend­ent, and the president of the University of Idaho, received a copy of the loyalty oath as a condition of employment for all public school teachers.

The oath, signed by AF, retired: "I am aware that some people object to signing the oath, but they are completely loyal to one country and prefer­en­ce is superfluous and we don't feel the fact that Commit­tees sign such papers freely. If I, a member of a team, sign and will sign any loyalty pledge without hesitation and with pride, I am prepared to stand before our flag and do it many times. I feel that I am not brought along, but by signing a piece of paper and such a sign­ing does not signify any thing to me."

Wanda Swope: "I believe that it is our privilege to have as a matter of record that I am a loyal American citizen and to continue to sign loyalty oaths whenever asked." Dick Robinson: "I am not a member of this university, so it has nothing to do with me."

Ed Taylor: "I am in favor of the loyalty oath. I am ready to sign it for my country's sake."

Annette Counts: "I don't think that the oath proves anything about loyalty. If it is compulsory, then everyone will sign it for fear of losing their protection whether he or she believes in it."

Jan Hoed: "I believe in the Constitution. I don't regard it as a nuisance, and I feel that the institutions which are being under­taken to prevent Communism in our country are necessary. I believe that the oath is being objectionable only to those whose motives it might thwart."

NOTE: The opinions expressed in this column are not those of any officer or member of the student body as a whole. They are a random sampling taken without prior inquiry as to the particular views held by the signatories, and anonymous comments can be printed.

The Looking Glass

By Judith Huetson

Secrets of an Amateur Champ

There is a man in New York named Dick Miles who won his tenth United States championship. Throwing a 19-pound ball is a feat of the imagination that nobody appreciates his work. He, however, is not satisfied. He has his own objection, but he knows that the public has a right to know that his work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

There is a man in New York named Dick Miles who won his tenth United States championship. Throwing a 19-pound ball is a feat of the imagination that nobody appreciates his work. He, however, is not satisfied. He has his own objection, but he knows that the public has a right to know that his work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Table tennis is a fight with horrible instruments, the champ­ion said. Exactly what I've been trying to say. You ought to see the horrible instruments I've been stuck with, Miles. Ace amateurs must know how to shut the ball up before it runs under the piano, clawn on hands and knees and, "Hey, Miles, the ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

The story in "Newsweek" quoting Miles describes him in action, but it could easily be me they're talking about: "He was still smiling. He had just pointed a finger at the table, or at least one of the many tiny fingers of the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.

Amateur table tennis can be fun. In some respects, we make the professionals look pampered. The ball comes to a dead stop under the table, and go upstairs to meet the professional who has a right to know that its work is supporting the United States. I do not think that I am betraying a loyalty oath. I feel that, as an American, I should have the privilege to have as a matter of record the fact that I am supporting the country.
Parent-Teacher Officers Begin Summer Conference

Almost 100 Parent-Teacher Association officers and members from eastern Washington are expected at the annual three-day Summer Leadership Conference to be held at Eastern Washington State College starting Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Washington Congress of Parents and Teachers, and E. W. S. C., the conference theme will be "Guidelines for Developing Leadership.

Opening Wednesday afternoon, the first general session will have Mrs. G. E. Pierce of 2903 Stout, second vice president of the state association, as chairman.

Featured will be a talk on conference plans and identification of problems by Dr. John Amend, dean of the school of education of Pacific Lutheran University.

Following a salmon barbecue for which EWSC president Mrs. Delbert Tryon, 5522 Hemlock, first vice president of the Spokane council, will act as adviser to the national executive council and take part in public relations activities with members of women and Spurs adviser at member institutions.

Student Union Bowling Lanes
Go Bowling Any Time
A. M. F. Automatic Pin Setters
All Shoe Sizes
Bowl in the Weight You Want
Everything For Your Convenience.
Open from 8 to 10

Student Union Bowling Lanes
Go Bowling Any Time
A. M. F. Automatic Pin Setters
All Shoe Sizes
Bowl in the Weight You Want
Everything For Your Convenience.
Open from 8 to 10

Mrs. Hagle Elected National Officer

Mrs. Daryl Hagle, former advisor of the Eastern Washington State College chapter of Spurs, national women's service honorary, has been named executive secretary-treasurer of the national Spurs organization.

Dr. Amend, chairman of the national executive council meeting at Arapahoe Ranch, Colorado, will open with "Essentials of Leadership." Orville Widman, Colfax, Whitman county superintendent of schools, will be chairman.

Thursday morning's session will open with a talk on "Principles of Leadership." Dr. Amend, followed by discussion groups, Mrs. Leltoy Pennyson, Covalle, PTA district 7, president, will be chairman. Dr. Amend will lead a discussion on handling difficult problems in the afternoon session, of which Mrs. Delbert Tryon, 5522 Hemlock, Thirty-sixth, president of district 4, Spokane council, will be chairman.

Mrs. Leltoy Popsis, E 0402 Valley Way, president of district 8, will direct group discussions on PTA shop talk following the evening dinner.

Dr. Chester Babcock, Washington State University, will speak on "Rumors or Reality?" following the evening dinner.

Dr. Leighton is the author of many articles and of the book "Progressive Weight Training."

14 FLAVORS
of Ice Cream
M-N-M Drive In

Graduation Announcements
18c each
PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW IN THE SUB Book Store
Open 7 to 4 Tues. & Thurs. to 8
and Saturday 9 to 1

13 Used Television
Your Choice
$35 Dollars
Holmes Hardware

The Siegl String Quartet
In Concert
Thursday Evening, June 27
Showalter Auditorium, 8:15 p.m.

Henry Siegl, Violin
William Bailey, Viola
Henry Simonson, Violin
Phyllis Allport, Cello

Presenting works by Haydn, Mendelssohn, Glazounow, Kodaly, Kroll, Skalkotts
Admission Free

Karl Klein Named "Trainer Of The Year";
To Teach Workshop In Sports Conditioning

Workshops In Gymnastics And Weight Training Also Offered During Summer

A workshop in conditioning at Eastern Washington State College during the summer quarter for sports will be offered by EWSC dean of students.

Bowl in the Weight Training Program which will start July 28. Louise Stratton, instructor of the EWSC women's gymnastic group, will teach the girls course starting August 8.

Dr. Leighton is the author of many articles and of the book "Progressive Weight Training."
EWSC Welcomes H. S. Students

Hosts 10th Annual Creative Art Series

Eastern opened its doors, last week, to high school students participating in the Summer Creative Arts Series. The summer series, directed by George Lotzenhisr, head of the division of creative arts, started on Sunday, June 16, and will continue through this Saturday. It is the 10th of these annual programs offered area high school students.

Students work with the college faculty to develop skills in various areas of the creative arts. Each student has his choice of courses in radio-television, drama, art and music.

A series of recitals, conversations, movies, receptions, and dances are planned for the students. They are also invited to participate in recreational programs and are offered the use of the many recreational facilities of the school.

On Saturday, June 29, the activities and projects of the programs will be displayed to the public in the student union building. Included will be an art exhibition, radio-television demonstrations, and a drama production. Students will be given their awards for the summer series at a final performance that afternoon in Dal Lounge at 2 p.m.

The sounds coming out of the Music building are almost unbelievable when the Summer Series orchestra plays.

Patty Edamatsu and Kathy Carter learn the fine art of puppet making in Puppetry.

Ruth Burke, social director for the Summer Series, brandishes a knife at the watermelon feed.

“...and now, more good stuff from KEWC, blanketing the Savage Empire.” In the radio-TV class, Carol Morris runs the board.

Warran A. Vaughn Joins ROTC Dept.

Sfc. Warren A. Vaughn has reported for duty with the Eastern Washington State College Reserve Officers Training Corps.

A veteran of 17 years of Army service, Sfc. Vaughn is a native of St. Paul, Minn. He served in Germany during World War II and later in Korea, and came to EWSC from U. S. Army garrison, Fort Greely, Alaska.

He will be assigned as sergeant major, replacing Sfc. Robert McCall, who will retire at the end of August.

Sfc. Vaughn and Mrs. Vaughn live at 117 Erie.

How’s Your Listening Coefficient?

Says Ruth Parker in her Western Girl Bulletin that most adults think at least four times as fast as they talk, and I’ve been hearing it all along that most people have their tongues doing 125 per minute without using their brains in gear.

Anyway, this bulletin says that the average American speaks at a rate of 125 wpm. among his family and friends, and slows down to 100 wpm in front of an audience.

Now, this is bad, because most people think at a cruising speed of 400 wpm. which explains why speakers have difficulty holding audience attention since most audiences think circles around them.