Carnival Slated for Friday Night

Summer Placement Directory Available

A world-wide summer placement directory that stresses "earn learn and travel while you vacation," is currently in Dean Daryl Hagie's office for consultation by students interested in summer opportunities away from home.

Resorts, hotels, government, ranches, industry and national and state parks are some of the opportunities offered both in the U. S. and abroad.

Summer camp jobs numbering 190 are also offered by the Girl Scout Council.

For more information on these jobs, see Dean Daryl Hagie.

Friday's the night to try your luck! A carnival sponsored jointly by the Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students will be in the Fieldhouse Friday night, according to Marilyn Jordan and Don Riggs, co-chairmen.

Basketball throws, bingo, crazy hats, a penny toss, shooting gallery, dunking tank and many other booths will be featured at the carnival. Each school organization and dormitory is sponsoring its own booth. Tickets for 10 cents will be sold at a central booth and will be used at each booth.

Clock-Radio Prize

A clock-radio will be given as a door prize during the entertainment at which Danny Miller will be master of ceremonies.

The carnival will be held in the dirt area of the Fieldhouse immediately following the game Friday. It will last until 12 p. m. Prizes will be given at each booth.

The Ugly Man contest will continue throughout the carnival. Each dormitory has nominated one candidate and his picture, in which he is made up to be as ugly as possible, will be displayed. By each picture will be a jar in which to drop pennies. The picture collecting the most pennies will be named winner of the contest. Money is to be donated to the March of Dimes.

An Annual Affair

"We are trying to reestablish this as an annual affair," emphasized Miss Jordan. "So we hope we can have a lot of people there. Everyone is invited."

Chairmen for the carnival are: Bernice Schmelling, publicity; Betty Van Woert and Elaine Emery, decorations; Karen Wheeler and Grenda Gay, tickets; Bruce Eggleston, booth construction, and Bill Leinweber, public address system.

9 Nominated For Queen

Nominations for Junior Prom Queen were made by the Junior class at their meeting last Thursday, according to publicity chairman, Dorothy DeMers.

Candidates for this very-first EWC Junior prom, which will take place March 8, are Joanne Cochrane, Deanna Davis, Margie Koziuk, Nancy Ludolph, Carol Manfred, Janet Ohland, Garnett Royce, Patty Jean Shinbo, and Ann Torrance.

Three co-eds will be selected from this group, Tuesday, Feb. 25, by the juniors to be presented to the prom for those attending to choose their Queen and her court.

Four Will Be Eliminated

Primary elections for officers of the Associated student body of Eastern Washington college will be held tomorrow beginning at 8 a. m.

Nominees for the presidential office are Graham Johnson and Joe Turner.

Johnson was nominated by the election committee and Turner was nominated from the floor by Sutton hall.

A total of 17 candidates will vie for the five student body offices and the positions of homecoming co-chairmen.

Nominated for vice president by the election committee was Bruce Kaiser. Nominees from the floor were Jeanie Turner, Fred Elkins and Stan Johnson.

Two Vie For Secretary

Two candidates are aspiring for the position of secretary. They are Betty Muraoka and Ann Torrance.

Thomas Ennis is unopposed for the office of treasurer. Fred Elkins was nominated for this position by the election committee; however, Elkins declined the nomination so that he could run for the vice presidential office.

Don Duncan, Gerald Ray and George Sanders are the three candidates in the contest for the position of Activities Coordinator.

Largest group of candidates is for that of Homecoming Co-chairman. Two persons will be chosen for these positions. Candidates are Beverly Zier, Clarice Bannister, Arlene Viche, Ron Campbell and Paul Hooper.

Primary Tomorrow

Winners in the primary election tomorrow will be on the ballot for the general elections to be held February 27. At that time there will be no more than two candidates on the ballot for any one office with the exception of homecoming co-chairmen which will be narrowed to a field of four.

All candidates for offices were nominated either by the election committee or from the floor. No candidates were nominated by petition.

Deadline for nomination of candidates by petition was last Tuesday at 8 a. m. No petitions were received as of 10 a. m. Monday morning.

Six Nominated From Floor

Approximately 175 persons attended the nominations convocation in which 6 persons were nominated from the floor as opposed to 11 nominated by the elections committee.

Charles Pope, chairman of Eastern's National Student Association committee, presided over the nominations convocation. Showalter auditorium was sectioned off according to living groups. After all candidates were nominated for each office Pope allowed five minutes for demonstrations by candidate supporters.

Votes will be cast by written ballot.

Convocation To Feature Music Talk

Dr. Stanley Chapple, dean of the University of Washington school of music, will give a lecture - demonstration tomorrow morning on music appreciation. The convocation will be in Showalter auditorium at 10 a. m.

Dr. Chapple has headed the university music department for the past 10 years. His talk will be similar to a "Making Music Series" which he did for Seattle audiences in which he discusses musical subjects for musicians and the general public alike.

Dr. Chapple has been active as conductor of the Seattle Symphony for Children concerts. An accomplished pianist, he has performed for Northwest audiences and is a seasoned accompanist.

Before coming to Seattle he was conductor of the St. Louis symphony and was active in the production of opera. The musician is noted for his wit.

Pierce Speaks On Racial Problems

The race problem of South Africa is a "local problem and should be settled by those nations concerned," Dr. Donald F. Pierce told members of the International Relations club last week.

Dr. Pierce, assistant professor of history, identified the problem and outlined its "political, military, social and economic aspects." He said nationalism was playing an important part in the racial issues involved but that religious factors were minor.

Fees May Be Paid At Pre-Registration

Students who wish, may pay their enrollment fees during pre-registration according to Mrs. Mildred King, bursar in the business office.

According to Mrs. King, apparently many students do not realize that they can pay their fees at this time.

"It would be a great help, not only to the students, but also to our office if those who can afford it would take advantage of this time saver," said Mrs. King.

Band Ends Winter Tour With Concert On Sunday

The Eastern Washington college band concert will present the annual winter concert in Showalter auditorium Sunday at 7 p. m. W. W. Thomas will direct.

The band is currently on a tour of 13 Washington and Idaho high schools. Editorial Comment

Student Elections— Or Did You Know?

When this editorial first came to mind it was not to be a sequel to the one that appeared in this same spot last week, but in view of the nominations convocation Thursday, it certainly seems appropriate.

One very interested observer took it upon himself to count the participating audience. Out of a student body of more than 1800 he counted 176, which is less than 10 per cent. Last year the auditorium was filled for the nominations con. This year three-fourths of the seats were empty.

Orland Killin, ASB adviser, had prepared his short address to the audience as a supposedly intercepted message from Outer-Space college. The report regarded the suppression of interest in student government in that school. There is no such problem here, but one just as bad; and here is where the word "apathy" again comes to mind.

Student government is an organization established to aid in the education of the students, according to Jean DeNio, ASB president. If such is the case, you have a hand in your own education in that you have a hand in the election of the student government officials. But there appears to be a great deal of interest deficiency.

Tomorrow the primary election will take place. It would be totally inconceivable that a mere 10 per cent would participate, when it would take only a few minutes of your time to step into the voting booth. Then too, according to the student government constitution, 40 per cent of the student body must vote for the election to be valid.

I do not think it necessary to say it is your duty to vote, for it has been said so many times with every election.

As one student council member said to me the other day, "They come to me and complain about how we are spending the student's money but they never come to any of the meetings where they can voice their opinions properly." Then why not do something about it now and vote for someone who you would consider responsible.

Last year there were 29 candidates for the seven ASB posts. At the end of the convocation 17 had been nominated, and there was no opposition for the one treasurer candidate. I would certainly say this in itself shows indifference does exist.

Don't wait until the middle of next year to form an opinion. Now is the time for all students to join the parade of the voters.

ASB Council Overcomes Bottle Losses

The "battle of the lost bottles of Hudson" took a turn in ASB council which, if not in all ways satisfactory, is at least agreeable to all concerned.

For some time the pop bottle loss in Hudson dormitory has been an expensive headache to the ASB council and to Bruce Kaiser who earns his board and room money handling the beverage accounts in EWC dormitories.

Finally, in desperation, Kaiser and the council considered the possibility of getting rid of the bottles altogether and having cup-machines instead. Representatives of the Squirt-Nesbitt and the Coca-Cola companies (present suppliers to the campus) were invited to present their ideas and offers on the matter to the ASB council and finance committee.

The Coca-Cola company desired to install cup-dispensing pre-mix type machines giving ten ounces of beverage for ten cents;

Ellen H. Richards Club Hears Kessler

Professor Clara Kessler, of the department of language and literature, spoke on differing customs of Japan at the Ellen H. Richards' club dinner meeting last Wednesday night.

The club will meet again for a dinner meeting Tuesday, Feb. 19 and make final plans on their 'cake walk' booth in the AWS-AMS carnival.

the Squirt-Nesbitt people preferred to retain the bottles in service, guaranteeing a full income on each case despite bottle loss.

Squirt-Nesbitt To Stay

Kaiser recommended to the council that the offer of the Squirt-Nesbitt company be accepted and that their bottle service be retained. A motion to that effect was made by Ike Cummings, seconded by Kent Matheson and was passed by the council.

Action on acceptance of the offer by the Coca-Cola company was tabled until more satisfactory service arrangements as an auxiliary to their cup-type machines can be worked out. In the meanwhile, their bottle service will be continued.

SOUNDING BOARD

Dear Sir:

In regard to "The Easterner" dated February 5, I have one firm objection to the statement which one Chinese girl mentioned.

It is as follows: "In the Orient most of the movies are completely true. It seems to my people if Americans have nothing to do but dance, sing and they also believe that everyone carries a gun in his pocket."

Concerning the first sentence, I wish to ask her how much she knows the Orient and how far she traveled in the Orient, did she go to Korea and the other parts of the Orient except China? I don't know how far she went, but I suppose she passed from the mainland of China to Formosa.

Representing China

Rather she should say the above statement is representing a whole China, not any other nation in the Orient. The statement will be very interesting to American students, but it gives them a misunderstanding about other nations of the Orient. The reason is that the movies in any nation are usually fiction, not true. If any person wants to act just as the movies do, it is not a normal life.

Maybe the whole Chinese people believe that Americans have nothing to do but dance, sing and they also carry guns in their pockets, but other Orientals except China don't believe that way. It seems to me that the student is out of common sense.

Any free world nation of the Orient and America must have a correct understanding of each other.

Hoping that all of the American students do not believe the mistaken statement of the foreign (Chinese) student, I express our common sense.

Yours sincerely,
 Han Sung Yang

Dear Editor:

Does he take roll?

It seems that this question is repeated many times daily as students debate going to class or "cutting". It is a question that can receive any one of many answers on this campus. For while one instructor may feel that students should be responsible for attending classes and getting what they pay for, other instructors seem to feel that a daily "nose-count" is necessary to insure a full classroom.

One reason that is advanced in support of daily roll-call is the fact that the veterans administration requires it for their records, if this is so, how does the veterans administration keep a record of students in larger colleges and universities where often the class is played on a tape-recorder with no instructor even present to attempt to count the several hundred noses in class that day. Apparently the only time these instructors can take roll is when tests are handed in.

Change Needed

Undoubtedly there was some reason for this regulation, but now that Eastern is growing up, it might also help the students grow up if they no longer were required to bring notes to class explaining why they were absent. This was fine in high school, but after all, not many employers require notes for absences anymore. Maybe they think that by now we have learned to write our own notes, after having grade school, high school, and college to practice.

Signed

Thomas J. Hogan

McFerrin's Voice Majestic As He Thrills Audience

by Don Daniels

The baritone voice of Metropolitan Opera singer Robert McFerrin, majestic in its power and beauty, affected Thursday night's Student-Community Artist Series' audience with inspired wonder and appreciation.

Certain and flexible, the dynamic voice, which seemingly had no focal point on the stage at all but rather pervaded Showalter auditorium like an independent living presence creating its own acoustic perfection, ranged without effort from the quietest, nearly hushed, intonation to a full and rich operatic thunder.

Not less inspiring to his audience was Robert McFerrin the man!

The young American Negro faced his audience with the warm, friendly confidence which is born only of that humility which accepts and successfully meets God's gift of great talent as a challenge and a responsibility.

It was evident in his performance that a magnificent talent, such as McFerrin brought to fruition, is actually a multiplicity of talents, each indispensable, requiring an equally magnificent strength of character to weld them into an accomplished whole.

McFerrin opened his program with Handel's invocation "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves". The always charming English Purcell was represented, and then McFerrin's program centered on the 'romantic' tradition of Schubert, Verdi, and Schumann, ideally suited to the rich, emotional powers of his voice.

Like A Storm

After the incredible beauties of the laments and love strains and mystic dreamings of Schubert, Verdi's potent "Eri to" was like a sudden storm in the midst of summer calm, disturbing in its vaulted reachings, beyond our usual human comprehensions.

Folk "gambling songs", arranged by J. J. Niles, originating in the 'Reelfoot Lake' country of northern Tennessee and Kentucky, provided a delightfully raucous touch, then McFerrin concluded his program with Hall Johnson's arrangements of the Negro spirituals "Fix Me Jesus", "Everytime I Feel the Spirit", "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", and "Ain't Got Time to Die", especially arranged for him.

"Everytime I Feel the Spirit Moving in my Heart, I'll Pray" seemed to characterize the great singer's attitude toward all his program—but it was a prayer of joy and life, the spontaneous response of a man who has indeed felt the Spirit move in his life.

Donald K. Smith of the EWC music faculty accompanied McFerrin with a sure artistry that demonstrated the validity of Smith's own claim to musical distinction.

Though McFerrin is cutting the sound-track for MGM's production of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess", as reported last week, he is first flying to the capital cities of Iceland and Finland where he will sing in concert before returning to a Los Angeles engagement and his motion-picture recording schedule.

Education Admission Discussed By Faculty

Twenty members of the faculty attended a meeting Thursday to discuss how information might be gained from students at admission into Professional Education Sequence interviews.

According to Dr. L. E. Patmore, head chairman of the psychology department, one half of those in attendance were new members of the faculty.

Patmore stated that many good suggestions were made as to how the interviewing teams might obtain better information on the students before they are interviewed.

Suggestions Made

Some of the suggestions made, according to Patmore, were to make better use of high school records, entrance tests, work experience records of the students, and securing additional test information.

Other suggestions made were to get more information from counselors on the students, to have the counsellors on the interviewing team also to have members of the Washington Education Association on the team.

Patmore stated that the interviews last about 15 minutes and determined whether students should go into the teaching profession. The interviews also show what specified field the student should pursue.

Killin Wins In Primary; Dressler Out

Orland B. Killin, assistant professor of industrial arts at EWC, was second high vote getter in the Cheney primary elections, Tuesday, 11, with 301 to 304, first place, and 256, third.

Killin, chairman of the Cheney public school advisory board and student-elected adviser to the EWC Associated Student Body council and finance committee, is one of the six nominees competing for three four-year posts as city councilman.

The city election will be held at the city hall building on March 11, at which time Dr. Graham Dressler, head of the EWCE language arts department, will leave the council after several years of service.

Wayne Hall Investigates Insurance

Council members of Hudson dormitory were startled at their meeting last week when Wayne Hall, Hudson director, informed them that the total insurance coverage for all EWC dormitories was only $50,000.

In other words, according to Hall, if more than one dorm and its contents should be damaged or destroyed by fire, the $50,000 would thin out to the point that residents would receive very little for their damaged or destroyed effects.

The Hudson council proposed that Hall investigate the possibilities of a new cooperative insurance plan whereby each dorm would be assured a satisfactory minimum protection.

Republican Group Meets

The next meeting of the Young Republicans will be held February 24, with Dr. Wilfred Gabon as the guest speaker. The third meeting of the YR this quarter, was held last week in the Isle-Land game room.

The election of new officers was held after the meeting was called to order. Brooks Hanford was elected president; Laura Chinard, vice president, and Bernice Schmelling, secretary-tesaurer.

The majority of the meeting was used in discussing the drawing up of the constitution, and also discussing the possible uniting of the two political parties. If this was done, the YR would have a speaker one week, and the Young Democrats would have one the following week. President Hanford will look farther into this matter and discuss it some more next meeting.

Co-eds Fete EW Faculty

Senior Hall entertained the faculty with their annual reception Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 8 p. m.

President Darlene Hulsizer gave the welcoming speech, and introduced Betty Jo Van Woert and Sharon Henning co-chairmen. The program included the Senior hall Trio, a pantomime, a reading, song and dance number, piano solo, soloist, and a western skit.

Spring flowers were used for decorations and refreshments were served.

A Valentine party, ended the heart sister week, Thursday.

Prospectors Wanted!

A gold panning expedition into the mountains of northern Idaho is again being planned this year for would-be geologists on campus, according to Francis D. Schadegg, geography professor.

The trip, which has not as yet been scheduled for a specific date, will be a one-day affair starting at five in the morning and returning at ten in the evening.

Watch for further announcements or contact Schadegg for further information.

Smashers, Rum Runners Clash Today for Top Spot

Coach Calls Track Team

Track Coach W. B. Red Reese has called for a turnout for cinder hopefuls for 4 p. m. tomorrow in the Fieldhouse.

The Savages, who tied with Whitworth last year for the conference championship, are expected to be stronger in the distance and field events this year.

Reese urged all interested track athletes to attend the meeting.

Smashers and the Rum Runners meet tonight to decide who will hold top spot in the Warrior league of intramural basketball.

Both are undefeated with Smashers having a 6 and 0 record and Rum Runners with five wins and no losses.

In the Savage league, Montanans are holding down the top rung with six consecutive wins against no losses and not far behind are Palousers and Eager Beavers with identical records of four wins and one loss.

Action tonight in the intramural basketball loops will practically bring competition to a close with only one game remaining in each league.

Intramural Standings

There were four performances that netted individuals 20 points. In the Savage league, Don

Savages In Third After Pair Of Wins

Eastern Washington college jumped back into third place in the Evergreen conference on the strength of a satisfying double win week end.

The Savages dumped UBC 59 to 47 Friday and then whipped Western 80 to 66 Saturday night.

Junior Kent Matheson was the big scorer Friday, garnering a nifty 24 points, and Saturday's scoring honors went to freshman Gary Roberts who hit another 24 on 10 field goals and 4 free throws.

The UBC Thunderbirds stayed with the Savages throughout the first half, and at one time had a 21 to 14 margin before the Easterners began to hit. Matheson was the difference in the second half as the Savages kept the pressure on with a consistent six point lead and then stretched that out in the closing minutes.

Team Effort

Saturday night's win was pretty much of a team effort, even though freshman Roberts contributed in a big way by himself. Playing one of their finest games of the season, the Savages scored 43 points in the first half against a tough Western team—and that in spite of the fact that at one time they went without hitting for 5½ minutes.

Bill Wright, a flashy freshman forward from Bellingham, tied Roberts for high point honors and played a tremendous floor game in the coast team's losing effort.

Schlitz had the best performance, scoring 29 as the Montanans defeated the Metelers 57-46.

Not far behind Jim Scott of the Ball Hawks who poured through 22 against the Palousers and Richard Hilty of the Palousers who canned 24 against the Bachelors.

Eastern Washington college's basketball team brings its Evergreen conference slate to a close this week with a pair of home games against College of Puget Sound Loggers and the Pacific Lutheran Gladiators.

On Friday night the Savages tangle with the CPS Loggers who are currently holding down fourth place, one game behind third place EWC.

Action Saturday night will find league-leading PLC here for a visit. The Gladiators are undefeated in conference play with a perfect record of ten wins and no losses, and are ranked eighth in national small college rankings.

CPS Attack

Coach John P. Heinrick of the College of Puget Sound builds his attack around Don Mosier and Tom Names.

Moseir, senior guard, was leading scorer of the Loggers last year, averaging 14.7 per game. He connected for 33 against the Whitworth Pirates last Friday.

In an earlier meeting between Eastern and the Loggers, CPS won 76-66 on their home court after leading at halftime 36-31.

Hands Changed

The game had been close for most of the first half with the lead changing hands seven times before the Loggers went 24-22 to stay. Names led CPS with 23 while Gary Roberts was tops for the Savages with 22.

Last year coach Harshman's Lutes won their third straight Evergreen conference title, their second straight NAIA Region One championship and finished third in the NAIA national tourney in Kansas City.

They compiled a record of 28 wins and one loss, their lone defeat coming in the semi-final bracket of the NAIA to Texas Southern.

Harshman is rated as one of the top hoop mentors in the Pacific Northwest. He is being considered as a prime candidate to replace Jack Friel as coach at Washington State college.

During his tenure at PLC, the Lutes have recorded 222 wins and 115 losses and have never finished lower than fourth place.

Three starters, Chuck Curtis, Roger Iverson and Jim Van Beek, from last year's squad furnish the nucleus of the team.

High Posts

Curtis, only a junior, plays the high post and the PLC offense is built around him.

He was on the AP's Little All America second team last year, was all-conference for the second consecutive year, led his team in rebounding and scoring and was picked to the first five of the all-star team in the NAIA tourney.

Iverson, playmaker of the club, has been the second leading scorer during the last two years, and like Curtis, is only a junior.

He also made the Evergreen conference squad for the second straight year and the first five of the all-star team in the NAIA tourney.

Sharpshooter of the team is Van Beek. He connected on 48 percent of his shots last season. Tom Sahli, a good rebounder, and Bob Roiko round out the starting quintet.

In an earlier meeting, PLC had no trouble in defeating the Savages 87-68. Kent Matheson led Eastern with 24 and Curtis had as many for the Gladiators.

This Is Week For Foreign Language

This week has been designated Foreign Language week by the Modern Language Association, according to Miss Virginia Dickinson, associate professor of languages.

The purpose of this designation is to bring to the attention of the people of the United States the importance of learning to speak and understand languages other than our own, emphasized Miss Dickinson. "Never before have we been so conscious of the need for building good public relations with peoples of other countries.

"One of the best ways of accomplishing this is to keep their friendship by learning to speak their languages. This is the time for us to think about catching up with our students from overseas, most of whom are at least bilingual."

Plans are being made to use these committees to formulate and draft resolutions on matters of national policy.

Resolutions framed will cover all pertinent areas, but priority will be given to federal health insurance, farm policy, labor legislation and foreign policy. If adopted by the membership, the resolutions will be forwarded to other Democratic clubs and to the State Central Committee for their consideration.

Savage YD's are also publishing a bimonthly newsletter; the second issue is to be distributed this week.

"Purpose of the news letter," said Bill Brophy, YD president, "is to present a picture of the activities of the club and to promote a more active citizenship through participation in club's programs.

EWCE Co-ed Gets Scare In Holdup

An Eastern Washington college co-ed received a scare last Thursday when she was held up at a soft drink stand in Spokane by a young gunman.

Darlene Hamlin, freshman student, told detectives Irvin E. Neubauer and Jerome A. Potts of the Spokane police force that she was alone in the soft drink stand when the robber entered.

She said he ordered a drink, chatted a while and finally pulled a small pistol.

"You see this?" she said he asked her. "Put all the money in a paper bag".

Then, she said, he ordered her into the back room, and told her to wait there five minutes.

The young man got about $30 in the stickup and was later arrested by police as a suspect in it and six other robberies.

Miss Hamlin told the officers she remembered the youth from school three years ago but he told police he didn't know her.

Children's Playday Planned By Saphers

All physical education majors and minors are going to have an opportunity to gain first-hand experience in teaching children how to play and enjoy physical activities if the Sapher's proposed play day program goes as planned. President Bruce McQueen stated that the playdays would last about a month and include grades 1-12. The groups will be divided into elementary, intermediate, and high school levels.

Dr. Jack R. Leighton, professor of physical education, has recommended this program because of the instructional possibilities that it offers.

A committee has been chosen to start action on the program as soon as possible. The committee consists of Bob Cowan, Randy Auvil, Bev Zier, Bill Leinweber, Warren Schibner, Chuck Wood, Kaye Basler and Margie Koziuk. All interested P.E. majors and minors are invited to attend the next Sapher meeting so that they may be included in the program.
