EWU's Ronald E. McNair Post-Baccalaureate Achievement Program

Fostering Excellence and Inspiring Awesome

interns work closely with a faculty mentor to produce a scholarly research project and present their findings at a conference.

This research expectation has created an ongoing partnership between McNair and EWU's Symposium, which was first organized in 1997 by EWU chemistry professor Dr. Jeanne Small. The 1997 Undergraduate Research and Creative Works Symposium consisted of 16 total oral presentations (9 were McNair scholars); 12 poster presentations (4 were McNair Scholars) and two musical performances. In 2001, McNair Director Dr. Karen McKinney (now retired) took over coordination with the support of Dr. Ron Dalla (now retired) and the help of a graduate assistant. Dr. McKinney coordinated the event through 2005 in Monroe Hall, by which time the Symposium had grown to 145 presenters. The Symposium was moved to Senior Hall in 2006, and since then the event has grown to become a marquee event on campus.

After the near-death experience of COVID, the Symposium returned last year thanks to the work of Dr. Julia Smith and many supporters. We're happy to welcome you back in 2023 as the Symposium grows again.

Since the first EWU McNair grant was funded in 1995, McNair has worked closely with Eastern faculty to build a research center community where students thrive. Our quest is to continue this partnership with EWU McNair Faculty Mentors, staff, and administrators and continue the transformation of our students.

Since its inception, over 50 EWU McNair Scholars have earned doctorates, over 200 have earned master's degrees, and 62 are currently enrolled in graduate school. Of those enrolled, 38 are in PhD programs.

As one of eight federally-funded TRiO outreach and student services programs, the goal of the TRiO Ronald E. McNair Post-baccalaureate Achievement Program is to increase the attainment of PhD degrees by students from first generation and underrepresented segments of society. Eastern's McNair Scholars Program prepares eligible participants for successful doctoral studies by providing opportunities for research or other scholarly activities including summer research internships, tutoring, academic counseling, seminars, and other educational activities designed to assist participants in securing admission to and financial assistance for doctoral enrollment.
